State's New Stand on Water Fluoridation May Help City

Health Department Says No Evidence Present to Show Harmful Effects

Fluoridation of municipal water supplies, including that of Kingston, delayed because of adverse reports, may be affected by a new stand of the state health department.

The department in a statement today, the Associated Press said, contended there was not "a single shred of evidence," to uphold claims that the addition of fluorides to drinking water was harmful. Tests have indicated it prevents dental caries.

Kingston, one of the control cities, in a state test which began seven years ago, abstained from the use of fluorides in water while Newburgh used it. On the basis of that experiment, the department has urged other communities to add the chemical to water supplies.

Still Under Study

Thomas M. Davitt, president of the local water board, said the question of fluoridation here is still under advisement, and will probably be discussed at the board's meeting next Thursday.

The local board has obtained information and data on the subject from several states, Davitt said.

Meanwhile, the town of Esopus was the first in the county to make application to the Ulster County Department of Health for fluoridation and a project is being considered by the town board there.

Dr. David B. Ast, chief of the State Health Department's Dental Health Bureau, discounted for possibility of harmful effects from fluorides after noting that three doctors recently had testified against fluoridation before a House committee in Washington.

Dr. Ast contended leading health authorities had agreed water fluoridation was a "safe and practical procedure."

Decay Retarded

He said reports compiled from the department's Newburgh-Kingston experiment showed dental decay had been retarded 39 per cent among a test group of children six to 12 years old.

In the state test, started seven years ago, fluoride was added to Newburgh's water supply, but none to that of Kingston. On the basis of that experiment, the department has urged other municipalities to add the chemical to their water supplies.

By the end of a 10-year period, Dr. Ast said, decay may be reduced as much as 60 per cent.

He reported that 140,000 New York state residents now were drinking fluoridated water. Communities now using the chemical include New Rochelle, Bronx Hill,

Paper Seller Finds He's Being 'Taken'

Chappaqua Man Learns Well-Dressed Tap His Change Box

Chappaqua, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—The honor system just doesn't work for commuters on the 7:43 from this fashionable Westchester community, and George Williams, the stationmaster who sells them their newspapers is a disillusioned man.

On Monday morning, suburbanites catching that train will toss their newspaper money into a trap-type coin box which gobbles the nickels and dimes, but doesn't let fingers inside. Hitherto the coin box was the shape of an open cigar box and paper-buyers made their own change.

A few weeks ago, after worrying because his weekly receipts were off almost exactly $12 a week, George bored a hole in the ceiling above the coin box and through it noted five well-dressed commuters—all riders of that one train — dropping in small coins and making "change" with dimes, quarters and fifty cent pieces. The next day he had a motion picture camera over the hole and filmed the depradations of the light-fingered five. A few days later he announced, on a sign in the station, that unless the petty stealing stopped, he planned to show the films. A great flurry of newspaper publicity greeted the announcement — and the pilfering halted abruptly. George, satisfied, burned the films without ever showing them.

"While the publicity was going on, everything was fine," he said sadly, "but the minute it stopped, people started dipping in again. I'm exactly $12.35 short again this week."

He knows that he is losing to passengers on only one train — the 7:43 out of Chappaqua—so the honor system, or open box sale, continues for the other three morning commuter trains.

Secret Scent Nets Hunter 305 Foxes

Former Airman Collects $915 With Formula Learned in India

Monticello, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—A former airman today collected $915 in bounties for trapping 305 foxes in the past two months with the aid of a secret scent he discovered in India.

Lewis V. Eckhart, 43, of Barryville, a stone mason, trapped 191 gray and 114 red foxes for what was believed to be a New York state record for one man in a two-month period.

Eckhart trapped 251 in January and February last year.

He said he discovered the scent while with two native hunters when he was in India with the United States Air Force during World War 2.

Like most trappers, he declines to reveal the formula for the scent, he uses. He claims it can attract a fox five miles distant.

Eckharrt did his trapping in the western part of Sullivan county, along the Delaware river. He said game officials had told him that the trapping of foxes would lead to an increase in small game and fowl, such as rabbit and partridge, which are prey to foxes.

Bureau Suspends Distribution of ApplicationBlanks

Action Is Taken Pending Development of Rules to Prevent Any Frauds

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—The State Bureau of Motor Vehicles has halted distribution of all application blanks for drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses pending development of anti-fraud safeguards.

In addition, Commissioner James R. MacDuff yesterday directed all county clerks and other issuing agencies not renew chauffeurs' licenses until further notice. Issuance of these renewals was to have begun Saturday.

Present chauffeurs' licenses—required of those who drive for hire—expire May 31.

Is Ordered Stopped

A bureau source said that distribution of all blanks, including those for drivers' licenses, had been ordered stopped. Operators' licences do not expire until Sept. 30, however.

The action stemmed from the discovery that bank robber Willie Sutton, recently captured in New York city, was carrying a fraudulently validated driver's license.

MacDuff, in a telegram to county clerks, directed them to suspend renewal of chauffeurs' licenses until "tighter procedures with regard to issuance of licenses will be made effective."

"Take necessary steps to safeguard all motor vehicle forms and make no distribution of license renewal applications," he said.

MacDuff gave no indication what safeguards were being considered.

Might Bring Revision

A department spokesman said studies might result in a complete revision of the method of issuing permits.

License blanks now are filled in by the applicant and machine-stamped in motor vehicle offices. Forgers use rubber stamps or small printing devices to counterfeit the department's validation.

A motor vehicles bureau spokesman said he doubted that license forgeries were widespread.

"There are 5,600,000 licensed drivers in the state and it would seem that the only persons interested in forgery would be hoodlums, criminals or drivers whose licenses have been revoked."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Feb. 27: Net budget receipts $279,357,548.53; budget expenditures $270,908,441.96; cash balance $5,175,598,881.83; customs receipts for month $39,324,785.11; budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $34,035,962,490.59; budget expenditures fiscal year $41,144,771,892.60; budget deficit $7,108,808,401.01; total debt $260,313,984,708.97; increase over previous day $17,606,873.75; gold assets $23,109,973,574.12.

Acheson Carries Appeal On Foreign Aid to Nation

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson carries to the country tonight his appeal for support of more billions for foreign aid. He is expected to emphasize that progress in European rearmament amply justifies American help.

The State Department arranged maximum radio and television presentation of Acheson's speech on short notice to get it to the largest number of people.

The department said the speech would be broadcast by CBS, NBC and Mutual and televised by Dumont at 9:30 p. m. (EST). In addition it will be telecast at 11:15 by NBC television network and rebroadcast by ABC radio network at 11:30. The speech will run about 30 minutes.

Acheson's immediate purpose is to report on decisions regarding German rearmament and the European defense buildup reached during his just-completed mission to London and Lisbon.

In so doing he will be launching a campaign for public support of the administration's foreign aid program which soon must stand the test of getting funds from Congress.

Yesterday Acheson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee a private report on his work abroad. Chairman Richards (D-S. C.) said later the committee had received complete details of Acheson's talks with British, French and German foreign ministers in London and with ministers of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council in Lisbon.

Richards said he thought Acheson and those with him had done a "fine job" and that Acheson

Survey Says Eisenhower Holds Edge

Margin, However, Over Taft Is Shaky One in New Hampshire Primary Contest

Taft Makes Gain

Editors Argue Senator Has Made Progress in Few Weeks

By RELMAN MORIN

Concord, N. H., Feb. 29 (AP)—A county-by-county newspaper estimate of popular sentiment in New Hampshire indicated today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is holding a narrow, and possibly a shaky, margin over Sen. Robert A. Taft in the battle for Republican votes in the state's presidential primary election, March 11.

The editors of eight Associated Press member newspapers have been conducting a continuing survey, each in his immediate area.

As of today, they gave these appraisals—

Eisenhower appears to have a 55-45 percentage edge over Taft in communities covered by the Nashua Telegram, the Dover Democrat and the Portsmouth Herald.

The editors of the Concord Monitor estimated a 52-48 lead for Eisenhower in Merrimack county.

Sentiment Divided

Political observers on the Claremont Eagle, the Keene Sentinel, and the Manchester Union-Leader said sentiment in their areas appeared to be evenly divided, with a possible small edge to Eisenhower.

The Laconia Citizen, in Belknap county, reported that soundings brought inconclusive results and that popular opinion has not crystallized toward either candidate.

Only three of the eight daily newspapers have announced support for any candidates. The Portsmouth Herald and the Concord Monitor have come out for Eisenhower; the Manchester Union-Leader supports Taft. The newspapers, together with two weeklies which participated in the grass roots poll, cover all 10 counties in the state.

On the Democratic side, the same editors agreed that the party machine, if it is thrown into high gear, will easily crush a budding growth of sentiment for Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, and give President Truman a spanking majority of popular votes and convention delegates.

Other Agreements

The editors also agreed that:

1. Taft has made long gains during the past few weeks after a late start in organizing. Originally, Eisenhower was considered an overwhelming favorite in New Hampshire, chiefly because of his support by the state's top Republican leadership.

2. The primary outcome may be decided by the effect of Taft's appearances here next week. He is booked for a three-day speaking swing, starting Thursday, March 6, for his first personal tour of the state.

3. A heavy snowfall reducing "back country" attendance at the town meetings on primary election day could seriously hurt Taft's chances. The rural communities are considered strongly favorable to Taft, whereas Eisenhower's popularity is rated greatest in the cities. A spot check shows registration, which doesn't close in many places until next Tuesday, has been heavy.

These are the major variables in the situation, and the editors said they can radically alter the pattern of sentiment as it stands today. As the first voting test of popular sentiment in the country, New Hampshire's primary holds special significance for both political parties and many observers expected it to have a direct bear-

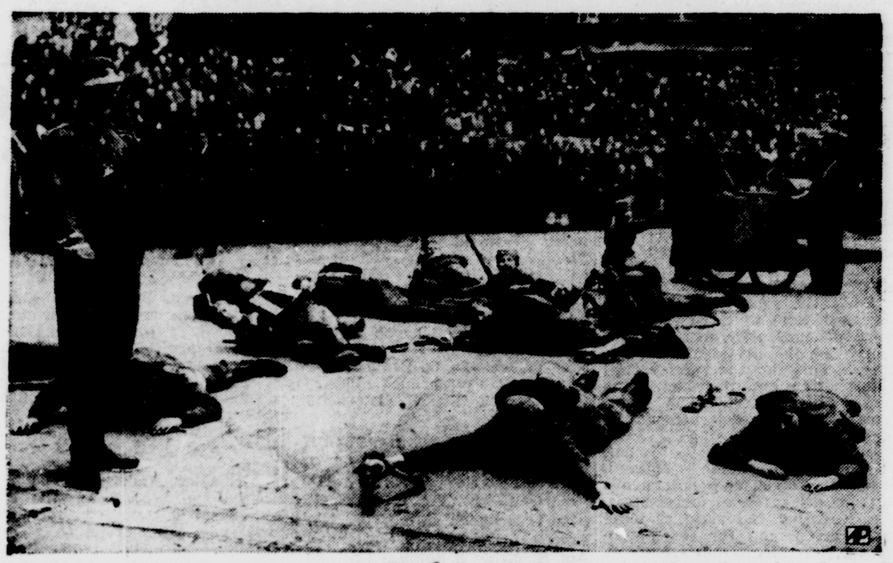
New Adult Class Will Be Formed

A new driver training class for adults will be formed Monday, March 3, at 9:30 a. m., in Room V-108 of the new Vocational Building.

The class will meet on Mondays from 3:30 to 5:30 for related instruction and then in groups of four on one other day of the week for behind-the-wheel instruction.

Only 16 persons can be admitted.

Germans Satirize Remilitarization



Paraders in Cologne's pre-Lenten "Rose Monday" carnival stage a comic-opera satire of an old Prussian field drill as they poke fun at the projected rearming program for Germany. The parade satire followed closely on the heels of the historic NATO agreement in Lisbon to recreate a German army as part of the western defense plan.

Casey to Be Called Again by Probers About Ship Deals

Nixon Says He Should Get Chance to Clear Up 'Conflicts' in Testimony

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—The possibility arose today that former Congressman Joseph E. Casey may be recalled by Senate investigators for questioning about his part in newly-revealed ship deals.

Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) told newsmen Casey should be given a chance to clear up some "apparent conflicts" between his testimony and that of Joseph H. Rosenbaum, another Washington attorney.

Senator Mundt (R-S. D.) said he also had noted some "divergences" in the testimony.

The Senate investigations subcommittee has been looking into two surplus tanker deals in which a group of prominent persons headed by Casey made a 3¼ million dollar profit on a cash investment of $101,000.

Rosenbaum for the first time brought into the probe yesterday four other transactions in which his law firm represented shipping companies that got surplus vessels.

In two of those, Casey was hired as associate counsel by the Rosenbaum firm. He split the resulting fees of stock profits with the Rosenbaum firm and with Robert W. Dudley, another attorney, Rosenbaum testified.

The subcommittee said Rosenbaum or his firm made about $250,000 on these four deals plus the two Casey group transactions.

Casey and Dudley got about $104,000 and $112,000 respectively the investigators said. The $104,000 figure for Casey does not include his stock profits in the two transactions negotiated by his group.

Rosenbaum and Dudley both were named by a Senate banking subcommittee last year as members of a Washington influence ring.

They since have been indicted on perjury charges by a federal grand jury which was looking into cases of alleged political manipulation of government loans.

The hearing is in recess until next Tuesday when Dudley is to be called.

Books Are Banned

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Eight textbooks and Paul Gallico's "Farewell to Sports" have been barred from city school libraries on grounds that the books slur minority racial and religious groups. The board of education announced the action yesterday, with one board member describing Gallico's book as "viciously anti-Semitic." He said one section contended that Jewish athletes excel in basketball because that sport calls for "shifty" tactics rather than brute force. Gallico's book was published in 1938.

Japanese Are Warned

Tokyo, Feb. 29 (AP)—An American government economist warned the Japanese today "the United States is not an inexhaustible supply of wealth." The U. S. is spending $2,000,000 a day in Japan and American service men are spending another half million daily. The figures and warning came from Frank A. Waring, economic counsellor attached to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters.

Arnall Will Have to Rule On Policy About News Giving

Question Is Whether to Publish Names of Violators in Cases

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Ellis Arnall, the new price boss, soon will have to rule on a knotty public information policy for his agency.

It's this: Should the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) publish the name of a violator when the agency decides the violation was not wilful or the result of negligence?

OPS policy as it now stands says no—the name should not be published; the publicity would be unfair if the violation was of innocent nature.

Newspaper editors heading committees on freedom of information say yes—the name should be published; penalties should not be inflicted in secrecy, and the public is entitled to know who the violators are.

OPS policy clearly calls for publication of names when: (1) Any court action is taken against a firm or an individual for ceiling price violations; and (2) when the violator makes a settlement and pays damages exceeding the amount of the overcharge. OPS regards these in the nature of fines or penalties.

Name Is Withheld

But, the name is withheld when the violator pays only the exact amount of the overcharge. Such repayments are made to the purchasers if they can be found; otherwise to the government.

OPS delegates to its office of enforcement the power to decide whether there was willfulness—in effect whether the name or names shall be published.

Both the OPS policy of non-publication and the delegation of authority to enforcement agents have drawn the fire of spokesmen for the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) and the Associated Press Managing Editors Association (APME).

Urging OPS to change its policy and permit publication of the violators' names, these editors have voiced protests against:

1. Draping a cloak of secrecy

Auriol Hunts For New Premier

Desires Man Who Can Find Money to Pay Share of Defense

Paris, Feb. 29 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol is hunting for a new prime minister today who can find the money to pay France's share of Atlantic defense costs.

Premier Edgar Faure, 43-year-old mystery novelist, quit the job before dawn after the National Assembly turned down, 309 to 283, his plan to hike present taxes 15 per cent for rearmament. Faure rejected an alternative plan to impose a new one per cent sales tax.

He had formed his cabinet on Jan. 20—only 40 days ago. He lost out on the second of 20 votes of confidence he had put before the assembly.

Might Back Tax

A rightest coalition might agree on a new sales tax but would find the harness troublesome on other issues. The Gaullists, for example, strongly oppose the European army plan unless the nations in it federate politically first.

Faure had just returned from the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) which endorsed the European army plan and where the United States promised France additional aid of 300 million dollars.

But Faure announced France would have to raise 55 billion francs (about 157 million dollars) to pay her part of increased defense costs.

Core of Objections

Proposed income tax hikes were the core of objections to the tax bill. The right wingers also fought his plan for employers to give another one per cent of their wage bill for social security funds, and

Allied Tanks Blast Chinese Dug In North of Kumsong

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—A powerful force of allied tanks raiders smashed through the former Red supply base of Kumsong today and blasted Chinese entrenched north of the city.

Another group of raiding U.N. tanks fought it out with Chinese artillery and mortars on the western front.

The big tank strike through Kumsong on the central front was supported by eight inch Howitzers and a 155 mm. self-propelled gun.

The two-pronged strike battered the Reds for more than three hours.

One prong rumbled right through Kumsong and, in the words of one allied officer, "shot the living hell out of" Chinese hidden in the hills beyond the city.

The second prong blasted Chinese east and south of the ruined base.

Some of the 46-ton General Patton tanks were damaged. But others took them in tow and puled them back to their bases when the raiders broke off the fight this afternoon.

It was a big strike in the generally quiet Korean war. But censorship prevented disclosure of the number of tanks involved.

On the western front another tank force traded fire with Chinese artillery and mortars for an hour and a half this morning before it was ordered to return to its base. The action was west of Chorwon, once the western anchor of the Iron Triangle.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported a few patrol actions, but generally allied troops along the 155 mile front enjoyed a quiet spring day.

Colonel Tells Red Group Stand Is 'Firm, Final and Irrevocable' as Regards Russia

Up to Communists

Nuckols Says Next Move One for Foe to Make for Settlement

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—Allied truce negotiators bluntly told the Communists today: UN rejection of Soviet Russia as a member of a neutral supervisory commission was "firm, final and irrevocable."

A UN spokesman said the allied statement was the "strongest since last July" when the Reds were warned that armistice negotiations would break down unless they abandoned demands for a cease-fire line on the 38th Parallel.

The Communists replied in almost equally strong language that "any such attitude of arrogance and arbitrariness will be categorically rejected by our side.

Col. Don Darrow told the Reds: "I now tell you formally, unequivocably and with the fullest authorization that the UN commands decision to reject the Soviet Union as a member of the neutral nation supervisor commission is final and irrevocable. Further debate on this subject is completely futile."

'Absolutely Firm'

He said the decision was "absolutely firm and irrevocable. Under no circumstances will there be a change in the decision of the UN command to reject the Soviet Union as a member of the neutral nations supervisory commission."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official UN spokesman, said Darrow's statement "would now be made without the prior knowledge of higher military levels.

"I think the next move is up to the Communists."

In adjacent tent the subcommittee on prisoner exchange made little progress in its first session since Feb. 6. Staff officers turned the voluntary repatriation problem back to the subcommittee after reaching virtual agreement on all other points of an exchange plan.

Disputes Ironed Out

Subcommitteemen ironed out some minor disputes Friday but failed to break the voluntary repatriation deadlock.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists again brought up the Feb. 18 riot in a UN prison compound on Koje island in which 75 Korean civilians were killed and 139 wounded.

The Reds charged that allied guards "massacred their people with rifles, hand grenades and tanks."

U. S. Army authorities announced in Pusan that a seven-man military board headed by Col. Alexander M. Miller of Montclair, N. J., has completed its investigation of the Communist-led Koje riot. Results of the inquiry will not be released until the report is studied by higher authorities.

Staff officers discussing truce supervision and the prisoner exchange subcommittee will meet again at 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. EST Friday) in Panmunjom.

Ching Promises Efforts

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Federal Conciliator Cyrus S. Ching today promised "intensified" efforts to produce a compromise and head off the nationwide oil strike now set for March 9. Ching won a week's postponement last night from a coalition representing the CIO oil workers and a score of AFL and independent unions. He said a strike would have an "immediate effect on millions of auto drivers, would hamper or stop production at every big refinery in the country and would strike a blow at the defense program, now running at full speed.

Bandits Steal Trucks

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Five bandits wearing handkerchiefs over their faces stole two loaded trucks from a parcel service garage early today after binding and gagging three employes. The trucks carried $30,000 worth of brassieres, slips and handbags. One of the hijackers apologized for binding and gagging the employes. "We don't want to hurt you," he said. The holdup was at the Union Parcel Service, 326 West 28th street, Manhattan.

Health Department Says No Evidence Present to Show Harmful Effects

Fluoridation of municipal water supplies, including that of Kingston, delayed because of adverse reports, may be affected by a new stand of the state health department.

The department in a statement today, the Associated Press said, contended there was not "a single shred of evidence," to uphold claims that the addition of fluorides to drinking water was harmful. Tests have indicated it prevents dental caries.

Kingston, one of the control cities, in a state test which began seven years ago, abstained from the use of fluorides in water while Newburgh used it. On the basis of that experiment, the department has urged other communities to add the chemical to water supplies.

Still Under Study

Thomas M. Davitt, president of the local water board, said the question of fluoridation here is still under advisement, and will probably be discussed at the board's meeting next Thursday.

The local board has obtained information and data on the subject from several states, Davitt said.

Meanwhile, the town of Esopus was the first in the county to make application to the Ulster County Department of Health for fluoridation and a project is being considered by the town board there.

Dr. David B. Ast, chief of the State Health Department's Dental Health Bureau, discounted for possibility of harmful effects from fluorides after noting that three doctors recently had testified against fluoridation before a House committee in Washington.

Dr. Ast contended leading health authorities had agreed water fluoridation was a "safe and practical procedure."

Decay Retarded

He said reports compiled from the department's Newburgh-Kingston experiment showed dental decay had been retarded 39 per cent among a test group of children six to 12 years old.

In the state test, started seven years ago, fluoride was added to Newburgh's water supply, but none to that of Kingston. On the basis of that experiment, the department has urged other municipalities to add the chemical to their water supplies.

By the end of a 10-year period, Dr. Ast said, decay may be reduced as much as 60 per cent.

He reported that 140,000 New York state residents now were drinking fluoridated water. Communities now using the chemical include New Rochelle, Bronx Hill,

Acheson's immediate purpose is to report on decisions regarding German rearmament and the European defense buildup reached during his just-completed mission to London and Lisbon.

In so doing he will be launching a campaign for public support of the administration's foreign aid program which soon must stand the test of getting funds from Congress.

Yesterday Acheson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee a private report on his work abroad. Chairman Richards (D-S. C.) said later the committee had received complete details of Acheson's talks with British, French and German foreign ministers in London and with ministers of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council in Lisbon.

Richards said he thought Acheson and those with him had done a "fine job" and that Acheson

Survey Says Eisenhower Holds Edge

Margin, However, Over Taft Is Shaky One in New Hampshire Primary Contest

Taft Makes Gain

Editors Argue Senator Has Made Progress in Few Weeks

By RELMAN MORIN

Concord, N. H., Feb. 29 (AP)—A county-by-county newspaper estimate of popular sentiment in New Hampshire indicated today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is holding a narrow, and possibly a shaky, margin over Sen. Robert A. Taft in the battle for Republican votes in the state's presidential primary election, March 11.

The editors of eight Associated Press member newspapers have been conducting a continuing survey, each in his immediate area.

As of today, they gave these appraisals—

Eisenhower appears to have a 55-45 percentage edge over Taft in communities covered by the Nashua Telegram, the Dover Democrat and the Portsmouth Herald.

The editors of the Concord Monitor estimated a 52-48 lead for Eisenhower in Merrimack county.

Sentiment Divided

Political observers on the Claremont Eagle, the Keene Sentinel, and the Manchester Union-Leader said sentiment in their areas appeared to be evenly divided, with a possible small edge to Eisenhower.

The Laconia Citizen, in Belknap county, reported that soundings brought inconclusive results and that popular opinion has not crystallized toward either candidate.

Only three of the eight daily newspapers have announced support for any candidates. The Portsmouth Herald and the Concord Monitor have come out for Eisenhower; the Manchester Union-Leader supports Taft. The newspapers, together with two weeklies which participated in the grass roots poll, cover all 10 counties in the state.

On the Democratic side, the same editors agreed that the party machine, if it is thrown into high gear, will easily crush a budding growth of sentiment for Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, and give President Truman a spanking majority of popular votes and convention delegates.

Other Agreements

The editors also agreed that:

1. Taft has made long gains during the past few weeks after a late start in organizing. Originally, Eisenhower was considered an overwhelming favorite in New Hampshire, chiefly because of his support by the state's top Republican leadership.

2. The primary outcome may be decided by the effect of Taft's appearances here next week. He is booked for a three-day speaking swing, starting Thursday, March 6, for his first personal tour of the state.

3. A heavy snowfall reducing "back country" attendance at the town meetings on primary election day could seriously hurt Taft's chances. The rural communities are considered strongly favorable to Taft, whereas Eisenhower's popularity is rated greatest in the cities. A spot check shows registration, which doesn't close in many places until next Tuesday, has been heavy.

These are the major variables in the situation, and the editors said they can radically alter the pattern of sentiment as it stands today. As the first voting test of popular sentiment in the country, New Hampshire's primary holds special significance for both political parties and many observers expected it to have a direct bear-

New Adult Class Will Be Formed

A new driver training class for adults will be formed Monday, March 3, at 9:30 a. m., in Room V-108 of the new Vocational Building.

The class will meet on Mondays from 3:30 to 5:30 for related instruction and then in groups of four on one other day of the week for behind-the-wheel instruction.

Only 16 persons can be admitted.

Germans Satirize Remilitarization

Paraders in Cologne's pre-Lenten "Rose Monday" carnival stage a comic-opera satire of an old Prussian field drill as they poke fun at the projected rearming program for Germany. The parade satire followed closely on the heels of the historic NATO agreement in Lisbon to recreate a German army as part of the western defense plan.

Casey to Be Called Again by Probers About Ship Deals

Nixon Says He Should Get Chance to Clear Up 'Conflicts' in Testimony

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—The possibility arose today that former Congressman Joseph E. Casey may be recalled by Senate investigators for questioning about his part in newly-revealed ship deals.

Senator Nixon (R-Calif.) told newsmen Casey should be given a chance to clear up some "apparent conflicts" between his testimony and that of Joseph H. Rosenbaum, another Washington attorney.

Senator Mundt (R-S. D.) said he also had noted some "divergences" in the testimony.

The Senate investigations subcommittee has been looking into two surplus tanker deals in which a group of prominent persons headed by Casey made a 3¼ million dollar profit on a cash investment of $101,000.

Rosenbaum for the first time brought into the probe yesterday four other transactions in which his law firm represented shipping companies that got surplus vessels.

In two of those, Casey was hired as associate counsel by the Rosenbaum firm. He split the resulting fees of stock profits with the Rosenbaum firm and with Robert W. Dudley, another attorney, Rosenbaum testified.

The subcommittee said Rosenbaum or his firm made about $250,000 on these four deals plus the two Casey group transactions.

Casey and Dudley got about $104,000 and $112,000 respectively the investigators said. The $104,000 figure for Casey does not include his stock profits in the two transactions negotiated by his group.

Rosenbaum and Dudley both were named by a Senate banking subcommittee last year as members of a Washington influence ring.

They since have been indicted on perjury charges by a federal grand jury which was looking into cases of alleged political manipulation of government loans.

The hearing is in recess until next Tuesday when Dudley is to be called.

Books Are Banned

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Eight textbooks and Paul Gallico's "Farewell to Sports" have been barred from city school libraries on grounds that the books slur minority racial and religious groups. The board of education announced the action yesterday, with one board member describing Gallico's book as "viciously anti-Semitic." He said one section contended that Jewish athletes excel in basketball because that sport calls for "shifty" tactics rather than brute force. Gallico's book was published in 1938.

Japanese Are Warned

Tokyo, Feb. 29 (AP)—An American government economist warned the Japanese today "the United States is not an inexhaustible supply of wealth." The U. S. is spending $2,000,000 a day in Japan and American service men are spending another half million daily. The figures and warning came from Frank A. Waring, economic counsellor attached to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters.

Auriol Hunts For New Premier

Desires Man Who Can Find Money to Pay Share of Defense

Paris, Feb. 29 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol is hunting for a new prime minister today who can find the money to pay France's share of Atlantic defense costs.

Premier Edgar Faure, 43-year-old mystery novelist, quit the job before dawn after the National Assembly turned down, 309 to 283, his plan to hike present taxes 15 per cent for rearmament. Faure rejected an alternative plan to impose a new one per cent sales tax.

He had formed his cabinet on Jan. 20—only 40 days ago. He lost out on the second of 20 votes of confidence he had put before the assembly.

Might Back Tax

A rightest coalition might agree on a new sales tax but would find the harness troublesome on other issues. The Gaullists, for example, strongly oppose the European army plan unless the nations in it federate politically first.

Faure had just returned from the Lisbon meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) which endorsed the European army plan and where the United States promised France additional aid of 300 million dollars.

But Faure announced France would have to raise 55 billion francs (about 157 million dollars) to pay her part of increased defense costs.

Core of Objections

Proposed income tax hikes were the core of objections to the tax bill. The right wingers also fought his plan for employers to give another one per cent of their wage bill for social security funds, and

Question Is Whether to Publish Names of Violators in Cases

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Ellis Arnall, the new price boss, soon will have to rule on a knotty public information policy for his agency.

It's this: Should the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) publish the name of a violator when the agency decides the violation was not wilful or the result of negligence?

OPS policy as it now stands says no—the name should not be published; the publicity would be unfair if the violation was of innocent nature.

Newspaper editors heading committees on freedom of information say yes—the name should be published; penalties should not be inflicted in secrecy, and the public is entitled to know who the violators are.

OPS policy clearly calls for publication of names when: (1) Any court action is taken against a firm or an individual for ceiling price violations; and (2) when the violator makes a settlement and pays damages exceeding the amount of the overcharge. OPS regards these in the nature of fines or penalties.

Name Is Withheld

But, the name is withheld when the violator pays only the exact amount of the overcharge. Such repayments are made to the purchasers if they can be found; otherwise to the government.

OPS delegates to its office of enforcement the power to decide whether there was willfulness—in effect whether the name or names shall be published.

Both the OPS policy of non-publication and the delegation of authority to enforcement agents have drawn the fire of spokesmen for the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) and the Associated Press Managing Editors Association (APME).

Urging OPS to change its policy and permit publication of the violators' names, these editors have voiced protests against:

1. Draping a cloak of secrecy

Allied Tanks Blast Chinese Dug In North of Kumsong

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—A powerful force of allied tanks raiders smashed through the former Red supply base of Kumsong today and blasted Chinese entrenched north of the city.

Another group of raiding U.N. tanks fought it out with Chinese artillery and mortars on the western front.

The big tank strike through Kumsong on the central front was supported by eight inch Howitzers and a 155 mm. self-propelled gun.

The two-pronged strike battered the Reds for more than three hours.

One prong rumbled right through Kumsong and, in the words of one allied officer, "shot the living hell out of" Chinese hidden in the hills beyond the city.

The second prong blasted Chinese east and south of the ruined base.

Some of the 46-ton General Patton tanks were damaged. But others took them in tow and puled them back to their bases when the raiders broke off the fight this afternoon.

It was a big strike in the generally quiet Korean war. But censorship prevented disclosure of the number of tanks involved.

On the western front another tank force traded fire with Chinese artillery and mortars for an hour and a half this morning before it was ordered to return to its base. The action was west of Chorwon, once the western anchor of the Iron Triangle.

Enemy Says They Spurn Arrogance

Colonel Tells Red Group Stand Is 'Firm, Final and Irrevocable' as Regards Russia

Nuckols Says Next Move One for Foe to Make for Settlement

Munsan, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—Allied truce negotiators bluntly told the Communists today: UN rejection of Soviet Russia as a member of a neutral supervisory commission was "firm, final and irrevocable."

A UN spokesman said the allied statement was the "strongest since last July" when the Reds were warned that armistice negotiations would break down unless they abandoned demands for a cease-fire line on the 38th Parallel.

The Communists replied in almost equally strong language that "any such attitude of arrogance and arbitrariness will be categorically rejected by our side.

Col. Don Darrow told the Reds: "I now tell you formally, unequivocably and with the fullest authorization that the UN command's decision to reject the Soviet Union as a member of the neutral nation supervisor commission is final and irrevocable. Further debate on this subject is completely futile."

'Absolutely Firm'

He said the decision was "absolutely firm and irrevocable. Under no circumstances will there be a change in the decision of the UN command to reject the Soviet Union as a member of the neutral nations supervisory commission."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official UN spokesman, said Darrow's statement "would now be made without the prior knowledge of higher military levels.

"I think the next move is up to the Communists."

In adjacent tent the subcommittee on prisoner exchange made little progress in its first session since Feb. 6. Staff officers turned the voluntary repatriation problem back to the subcommittee after reaching virtual agreement on all other points of an exchange plan.

Disputes Ironed Out

Subcommitteemen ironed out some minor disputes Friday but failed to break the voluntary repatriation deadlock.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Communists again brought up the Feb. 18 riot in a UN prison compound on Koje island in which 75 Korean civilians were killed and 139 wounded.

The Reds charged that allied guards "massacred their people with rifles, hand grenades and tanks."

U. S. Army authorities announced in Pusan that a seven-man military board headed by Col. Alexander M. Miller of Montclair, N. J., has completed its investigation of the Communist-led Koje riot. Results of the inquiry will not be released until the report is studied by higher authorities.

Staff officers discussing truce supervision and the prisoner exchange subcommittee will meet again at 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m. EST Friday) in Panmunjom.

Ching Promises Efforts

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Federal Conciliator Cyrus S. Ching today promised "intensified" efforts to produce a compromise and head off the nationwide oil strike now set for March 9. Ching won a week's postponement last night from a coalition representing the CIO oil workers and a score of AFL and independent unions. He said a strike would have an "immediate effect on millions of auto drivers, would hamper or stop production at every big refinery in the country and would strike a blow at the defense program, now running at full speed.

Bandits Steal Trucks

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Five bandits wearing handkerchiefs over their faces stole two loaded trucks from a parcel service garage early today after binding and gagging three employes. The trucks carried $30,000 worth of brassieres, slips and handbags. One of the hijackers apologized for binding and gagging the employes. "We don't want to hurt you," he said. The holdup was at the Union Parcel Service, 326 West 28th street, Manhattan.

Seven-Story Hotel Burns in Philly, 100 Flee to Safety

Philadelphia, Feb. 29 (AP) — More than 100 persons fled to safety from a smoke-shrouded midtown hotel early today and a short time later flames swept through the seven-story structure despite the efforts of firemen from more than 30 companies summoned by seven alarms.

There were no fatalities in the blaze that wrecked the Clinton Hotel, on Tenth street just south of Spruce street and only eight blocks from city hall in the heart of Philadelphia.

Five hours after the blaze was first reported at 2:45 a. m., orange-red flames still belched from the burned out upper floor of the building.

E. A. Patrick, manager of the 180-room structure which adjoins the downtown nightclub section, estimated 75 per cent of the rooms were occupied when night clerk Joe Golden, 30, detected the fire.

Apparently it had been smouldering for some time near a linen room in the basement, Patrick said.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage, but firemen on the scene said it would be impossible to prevent the almost total destruction of the hotel building.

Roofs of several adjoining three-story apartments on Clinton street caught fire, and occupants of five such buildings were evacuated.

Local Death Record

Tax Break for Widows

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Widows and widowers who are trying to run a home, look after junior and earn a living too, may eventually get an income tax break. Rep. Edna Kelly (D-N.Y.) is sponsoring a bill to allow widows and widowers to deduct from their income tax within limitations the amount they must pay to have their children cared for at home while they work. Rep. Kelly said today she is urging Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the House Ways and Means Committee to give the bill an early hearing.

Pair in 'Jumping' Car Report Hurts

Thomas Cullam, 28, and Allan R. Houser, both of R.F.D. High Falls, reported to the sheriff's office Thursday afternoon that they received minor injuries the night before when the automobile in which they were riding ran off the Lucas avenue extension near Spring Lake.

Cullam, listed on the sheriff's office report as the driver of the car owned by Houser, said he received a cut over the left eye, while Houser claimed a separation of the shoulder, cuts and bruises.

They were headed west on Lucas avenue extension when the vehicle left the roadway to the right, jumped a distance of 20 feet over a ditch, ran along the embankment and then swerved across the highway and traveled a distance of 175 feet into the fields, remaining upright, the sheriff's office reported. The automobile was damaged about its underside and to its door and windshield, according to the report.

Survey Says . . .

ing on the pre-convention Taft and Eisenhower strategy.

New Hampshire voters will register preference of two types in the primary.

Will Vote Delegates

1. They will vote for delegates running as favorable to Taft, Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Republicans; and for Truman, Kefauver and Ex-Postmaster-General James Farley on the Democratic side.

2. At the same time—and for the first time in a New Hampshire primary they will vote directly for the presidential candidates. This is the preferential vote, better known here as the "popularity contest." The result is not binding on delegates at the convention.

In this section of the ballot, Harold Stassen's name is entered, although Stassen does not have a slate of delegates up for election. Vice versa, a full slate of delegates is running for Gen. MacArthur, but MacArthur's name is not in the "popularity contest."

Eisenhower's delegates include Gov. Adams, ex-Gov. Robert Blood, Speaker of the House Lane Swinell, Congressman Norris Cotton, Headmaster William G. Saltonstall, and Representatives Harold Young and Robert English.

These men are all strong vote getters. A total of 14 GOP delegates will be elected.

Might Run 12 to 2

Some editors estimated that the delegate-score might run as high as 12-to-2 for Eisenhower. Others, however, expressed the opinion that four and possibly five Taft delegates will be elected.

Taft has said that, in view of the personal popularity of so many of Eisenhower's delegates, he would consider it a victory if he wins four of the 14.

In 1948, New Hampshire had eight votes in the GOP convention. Six voted for New York's Governor Dewey, two for Minnesota's Gov. Stassen.

Far more important, in the opinion of all the editors, is the "popularity contest," where votes will be cast directly for the presidential candidates.

A number of editors said their soundings indicate that many voters may cast ballots for Eisenhower's delegates—on one side of the ballot—but indicate a preference for Taft on the other. They said the results of the two sections of the ballot may not agree at all.

Booklet Is Circulated

Tokyo, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Nippon Times reported today the outline for a Communist revolution in Japan is being circulated in a booklet entitled "How to Raise Flower Bulbs." The newspaper said the pamphlet proposes that revolutionaries arm themselves by stealing weapons from occupation forces and Japanese police. These would be supplemented by bamboo spears, home made grenades, swords, carpenter's tools and farm implements. The Times said the movement would be financed by stealing goods from occupation forces and reselling them.

Tito Urges Action

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Feb. 29 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito urged today that Yugoslavia and Italy administer the disputed territory of Trieste alternately — three years each—with a deputy of one country watching while the other country is ruling. Tito said he had proposed this to Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi but that de Gasperi, holding out for a return of all the territory, and its strategic Adriatic seaport rejected it.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—The stock market slid a little to the downside today after failure of a mild early attempt to advance.

Prices covered a range of 2 points either way with a great many leaders trading unchanged.

Profit-taking was quite evident, especially in the oil group. It was this group which provided such a brilliant background for yesterday's advance led by the railroads.

The railroads today were steady and generally did better than any other major group. But there was little activity there. Also holding fairly steady were utilities, steels, motors, and radio-television. Chemicals and some non-ferrous metals, merchandising issues, and rubbers were lower.

Stocks losing ground included Columbian Carbon, Tide Water Associated Oil, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Santa Fe, Cities Service, General Motors, Woolworth, Kennecott Copper, and Allied Chemicale. Higher were Texas Co., U. S. Gypsum, Homestake Mining, U. S. Leather, Goodyear, National Distillers, and Boeing.

Stocks on the curb exchange were mixed with perhaps a slight upside edge. Higher were Babcock & Wilcox, Calgary & Edmonton, Canada Southern Oils, Jupiter Oils, Kirby Petroleum, Le Tourneau, National Petroleum, and Thiokol. Lower were such issues as Humble Oil, Unexcelled Chemical Corp., and United Shoe Machinery.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Helpers in Home Project Studied By Nurse Group

Woodstock, Feb. 29—A survey for the purpose of determining the need of a "Visiting Housekeepers" project in this township will be undertaken immediately, it was decided Thursday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee, held in the Gallery Room of Deanies.

Mrs. Bev Anderson, who presented the project for the consideration of committee members, and who also served as hostess for the afternoon, submitted a detailed outline of the plan for visiting housekeepers, which she said, "is not a new or untried one. We have heard that it has been very successfully operated in Pennsylvania."

"This service," she continued, "is intended only to assist families, or individuals, in case of illness, accident, or definite emergency." Specifically a part-time visiting housekeepers project is needed by persons living alone, persons ill, whose families do not live in this community; mothers with young children having to go to the hospital. Should the project become a reality, it would also give an opportunity to women in the village area to earn needed part-time money.

Assistants Needed

The immediate objective of the survey to be conducted by members of the committee, would be to ascertain the extent of such a need here, and to obtain a list of people available to perform the service.

The duties of the visiting housekeeper would be to make the patient as comfortable as possible; to straighten up the home and to see that nourishing food is in the icebox for the patient and family. It was emphasized that the housekeeper is neither a nurse nor a cleaning woman, but would serve as a substitute for the homemaker, whose basic qualities would be those necessary to the efficient and pleasant running of a home. The survey would also attempt to ascertain the number of people willing to pay for such a service. Families who could not pay for the service will be asked if they would use it if the public health nursing committee would pay for it. It was pointed out that the results anticipated from such a service would insure help for the ill before a condition becomes serious. This point has already been proved through the actual results of the committee's children's dental program. Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, confirmed this in her report on the findings of Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist, who is at present examining approximately 175 Woodstock school children. Miss Cassidy reported that Mrs. Chatfield was profuse in her comments on the excellent condition of the children's teeth, which are showing the results of the good and continuous care many of them have received under the committee's dental program.

Prior to the discussion on the project, Mrs. George Laws, president, introduced Miss Esther Schisa, director of public health nursing in Ulster county. Miss Schisa suggested a number of projects which might be undertaken by the committee. Her recommendation that the committee participate actively with the Woodstock Recreation Committee's program for the summer program at the recreation field, was enthusiastically received. It was agreed that a recreation committee would be appointed to plan a program, should it be needed, particularly for little girls, such as games, sewing and other activities. "This could be," Miss Schisa said, "the beginning of a good mental health program for children."

Says Talks Vital

Miss Schisa also suggested that the committee plan its own speakers bureau of members to be available to talk to groups and other organizations on public health nursing in Ulster county. She said that it was valuable to have a lay person talk to other lay groups, to explain the work of the committee. "It's you women," she stated, "that are going to make the Health Department what it is going to be, for it is the public health nursing committees of Ulster county which is unique in having organized these committees, who carry out the program of the Health Department."

In this respect, it was announced that a committee of three, Mrs. Laws, Mrs. Charles King and Mrs. Joseph Marr, had recently conferred with Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, on the possible appointment of a woman in the county to the Board of Health. The importance of having a woman member of the board was brought to Wilson's attention in that the appointment is made by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

As the result of a suggestion by Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, it was decided to devote the programs of the balance of the meetings for the year to the subject of community mental hygiene.

Other projects considered for future discussion were the establishment of a micro-film library for the use of bed-ridden patients in conjunction with other committees in the county, and scholarships for student nurses.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Warren Hutty, secretary; Mrs. Clayton Harder, treasurer; Mrs. Luis Bared who said that eight children had been at the February clinic; Mrs. Clarence Snyder, loan closet; Mrs. Charles King, transportation and Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, house committee, who requested donations of toys for the Health Center.

Cashin Says Justice Of Peace Important In Judicial System

The importance of the justice of the peace court as the one court with which more people have direct contact than any other in the judicial system was stressed by County Judge John M. Cashin in a speech Thursday night to justices, their wives and guests attending the first banquet of the Ulster County Magistrates Association at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The association, now a year old, hopes to make the banquet an annual affair.

Judge Cashin, who complimented the peace justices for the conduct of their courts throughout this county, also explained the procedure of appeal. The county court is the next higher court above justice of the peace court.

Other guest speakers Thursday night were Sheriff Cluett Schantz and James J. Abernethy, assistant district attorney.

Loughran Sends Telegram

Members and guests were welcomed by Justice George J. Braendly, of Woodstock, association president. Roger Loughran of Hurley was master of ceremonies. Other officers of the association seated at the speakers' table were Leonard Albert of Rosendale, vice president, and Harold E. Macholdt of the town of Ulster, secretary-treasurer.

This telegram addressed to Secretary Macholdt from Chief Judge John T. Loughran of the Court of Appeals was read at the banquet:

"Will you say for me to my brother judges who are dining together tonight that a session of my court which began today deprives me of the pleasure I would otherwise have had in being with them. All success to you and my best wishes."

Four Men Are Arrested

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 29 (AP)—Four men were arrested last night by U. S. customs agents who uncovered an estimated $50,000 worth of marijuana aboard the S.S. Jones of the United States Lines. The agents discovered the marijuana—which was in processed form—after a day and night search. Some of it already was in cigarette form. The marijuana was tucked away, among other places, in a hat box and a regular cigarette carton, police said. Three crewmen and a visitor aboard the ship, all Negroes, were picked up by the agents and taken to the Federal House of Detention in New York for further questioning.

Girl, 17, Is Held

Ruth Stokes, 17, of 11 East Pierpont street, was arrested on a "wayward minor" charge at New Paltz by Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg and County Investigator Arthur H. Brown on Thursday afternoon. She was ordered held for a hearing on a commitment signed by County Judge John M. Cashin sitting as a committee magistrate. The charge was brought because she allegedly ran away from her home, the sheriff's office reported.

The world's annual paper production is more than eight million tons.

Seven-Story Hotel Burns in Philly, 100 Flee to Safety

Philadelphia, Feb. 29 (AP) — More than 100 persons fled to safety from a smoke-shrouded midtown hotel early today and a short time later flames swept through the seven-story structure despite the efforts of firemen from more than 30 companies summoned by seven alarms.

There were no fatalities in the blaze that wrecked the Clinton Hotel, on Tenth street just south of Spruce street and only eight blocks from city hall in the heart of Philadelphia.

Five hours after the blaze was first reported at 2:45 a. m., orange-red flames still belched from the burned out upper floor of the building.

E. A. Patrick, manager of the 180-room structure which adjoins the downtown nightclub section, estimated 75 per cent of the rooms were occupied when night clerk Joe Golden, 30, detected the fire.

Apparently it had been smouldering for some time near a linen room in the basement, Patrick said.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage, but firemen on the scene said it would be impossible to prevent the almost total destruction of the hotel building.

Roofs of several adjoining three-story apartments on Clinton street caught fire, and occupants of five such buildings were evacuated.

Pair in 'Jumping' Car Report Hurts

Thomas Cullam, 28, and Allan R. Houser, both of R.F.D. High Falls, reported to the sheriff's office Thursday afternoon that they received minor injuries the night before when the automobile in which they were riding ran off the Lucas avenue extension near Spring Lake.

Cullam, listed on the sheriff's office report as the driver of the car owned by Houser, said he received a cut over the left eye, while Houser claimed a separation of the shoulder, cuts and bruises.

They were headed west on Lucas avenue extension when the vehicle left the roadway to the right, jumped a distance of 20 feet over a ditch, ran along the embankment and then swerved across the highway and traveled a distance of 175 feet into the fields, remaining upright, the sheriff's office reported. The automobile was damaged about its underside and to its door and windshield, according to the report.

Survey Says . . .

ing on the pre-convention Taft and Eisenhower strategy.

New Hampshire voters will register preference of two types in the primary.

Will Vote Delegates

1. They will vote for delegates running as favorable to Taft, Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Republicans; and for Truman, Kefauver and Ex-Postmaster-General James Farley on the Democratic side.

2. At the same time—and for the first time in a New Hampshire primary they will vote directly for the presidential candidates. This is the preferential vote, better known here as the "popularity contest." The result is not binding on delegates at the convention.

In this section of the ballot, Harold Stassen's name is entered, although Stassen does not have a slate of delegates up for election. Vice versa, a full slate of delegates is running for Gen. MacArthur, but MacArthur's name is not in the "popularity contest."

Eisenhower's delegates include Gov. Adams, ex-Gov. Robert Blood, Speaker of the House Lane Swinell, Congressman Norris Cotton, Headmaster William G. Saltonstall, and Representatives Harold Young and Robert English.

These men are all strong vote getters. A total of 14 GOP delegates will be elected.

Might Run 12 to 2

Some editors estimated that the delegate-score might run as high as 12-to-2 for Eisenhower. Others, however, expressed the opinion that four and possibly five Taft delegates will be elected.

Taft has said that, in view of the personal popularity of so many of Eisenhower's delegates, he would consider it a victory if he wins four of the 14.

In 1948, New Hampshire had eight votes in the GOP convention. Six voted for New York's Governor Dewey, two for Minnesota's Gov. Stassen.

Far more important, in the opinion of all the editors, is the "popularity contest," where votes will be cast directly for the presidential candidates.

A number of editors said their soundings indicate that many voters may cast ballots for Eisenhower's delegates—on one side of the ballot—but indicate a preference for Taft on the other. They said the results of the two sections of the ballot may not agree at all.

Booklet Is Circulated

Tokyo, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Nippon Times reported today the outline for a Communist revolution in Japan is being circulated in a booklet entitled "How to Raise Flower Bulbs." The newspaper said the pamphlet proposes that revolutionaries arm themselves by stealing weapons from occupation forces and Japanese police. These would be supplemented by bamboo spears, home made grenades, swords, carpenter's tools and farm implements. The Times said the movement would be financed by stealing goods from occupation forces and reselling them.

Tito Urges Action

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Feb. 29 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito urged today that Yugoslavia and Italy administer the disputed territory of Trieste alternately — three years each—with a deputy of one country watching while the other country is ruling. Tito said he had proposed this to Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi but that de Gasperi, holding out for a return of all the territory, and its strategic Adriatic seaport rejected it.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—The stock market slid a little to the downside today after failure of a mild early attempt to advance.

Prices covered a range of 2 points either way with a great many leaders trading unchanged.

Profit-taking was quite evident, especially in the oil group. It was this group which provided such a brilliant background for yesterday's advance led by the railroads.

The railroads today were steady and generally did better than any other major group. But there was little activity there. Also holding fairly steady were utilities, steels, motors, and radio-television. Chemicals and some non-ferrous metals, merchandising issues, and rubbers were lower.

Stocks losing ground included Columbian Carbon, Tide Water Associated Oil, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Santa Fe, Cities Service, General Motors, Woolworth, Kennecott Copper, and Allied Chemicale. Higher were Texas Co., U. S. Gypsum, Homestake Mining, U. S. Leather, Goodyear, National Distillers, and Boeing.

Stocks on the curb exchange were mixed with perhaps a slight upside edge. Higher were Babcock & Wilcox, Calgary & Edmonton, Canada Southern Oils, Jupiter Oils, Kirby Petroleum, Le Tourneau, National Petroleum, and Thiokol. Lower were such issues as Humble Oil, Unexcelled Chemical Corp., and United Shoe Machinery.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Helpers in Home Project Studied By Nurse Group

Woodstock, Feb. 29—A survey for the purpose of determining the need of a "Visiting Housekeepers" project in this township will be undertaken immediately, it was decided Thursday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee, held in the Gallery Room of Deanies.

Mrs. Bev Anderson, who presented the project for the consideration of committee members, and who also served as hostess for the afternoon, submitted a detailed outline of the plan for visiting housekeepers, which she said, "is not a new or untried one. We have heard that it has been very successfully operated in Pennsylvania."

"This service," she continued, "is intended only to assist families, or individuals, in case of illness, accident, or definite emergency." Specifically a part-time visiting housekeepers project is needed by persons living alone, persons ill, whose families do not live in this community; mothers with young children having to go to the hospital. Should the project become a reality, it would also give an opportunity to women in the village area to earn needed part-time money.

Assistants Needed

The immediate objective of the survey to be conducted by members of the committee, would be to ascertain the extent of such a need here, and to obtain a list of people available to perform the service.

The duties of the visiting housekeeper would be to make the patient as comfortable as possible; to straighten up the home and to see that nourishing food is in the icebox for the patient and family. It was emphasized that the housekeeper is neither a nurse nor a cleaning woman, but would serve as a substitute for the homemaker, whose basic qualities would be those necessary to the efficient and pleasant running of a home. The survey would also attempt to ascertain the number of people willing to pay for such a service. Families who could not pay for the service will be asked if they would use it if the public health nursing committee would pay for it. It was pointed out that the results anticipated from such a service would insure help for the ill before a condition becomes serious. This point has already been proved through the actual results of the committee's children's dental program. Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, confirmed this in her report on the findings of Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist, who is at present examining approximately 175 Woodstock school children. Miss Cassidy reported that Mrs. Chatfield was profuse in her comments on the excellent condition of the children's teeth, which are showing the results of the good and continuous care many of them have received under the committee's dental program.

Prior to the discussion on the project, Mrs. George Laws, president, introduced Miss Esther Schisa, director of public health nursing in Ulster county. Miss Schisa suggested a number of projects which might be undertaken by the committee. Her recommendation that the committee participate actively with the Woodstock Recreation Committee's program for the summer program at the recreation field, was enthusiastically received. It was agreed that a recreation committee would be appointed to plan a program, should it be needed, particularly for little girls, such as games, sewing and other activities. "This could be," Miss Schisa said, "the beginning of a good mental health program for children."

Says Talks Vital

Miss Schisa also suggested that the committee plan its own speakers bureau of members to be available to talk to groups and other organizations on public health nursing in Ulster county. She said that it was valuable to have a lay person talk to other lay groups, to explain the work of the committee. "It's you women," she stated, "that are going to make the Health Department what it is going to be, for it is the public health nursing committees of Ulster county which is unique in having organized these committees, who carry out the program of the Health Department."

In this respect, it was announced that a committee of three, Mrs. Laws, Mrs. Charles King and Mrs. Joseph Marr, had recently conferred with Kenneth Wilson, town supervisor, on the possible appointment of a woman in the county to the Board of Health. The importance of having a woman member of the board was brought to Wilson's attention in that the appointment is made by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

As the result of a suggestion by Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, it was decided to devote the programs of the balance of the meetings for the year to the subject of community mental hygiene.

Other projects considered for future discussion were the establishment of a micro-film library for the use of bed-ridden patients in conjunction with other committees in the county, and scholarships for student nurses.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. Warren Hutty, secretary; Mrs. Clayton Harder, treasurer; Mrs. Luis Bared who said that eight children had been at the February clinic; Mrs. Clarence Snyder, loan closet; Mrs. Charles King, transportation and Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, house committee, who requested donations of toys for the Health Center.

Cashin Says Justice Of Peace Important In Judicial System

The importance of the justice of the peace court as the one court with which more people have direct contact than any other in the judicial system was stressed by County Judge John M. Cashin in a speech Thursday night to justices, their wives and guests attending the first banquet of the Ulster County Magistrates Association at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

The association, now a year old, hopes to make the banquet an annual affair.

Judge Cashin, who complimented the peace justices for the conduct of their courts throughout this county, also explained the procedure of appeal. The county court is the next higher court above justice of the peace court.

Other guest speakers Thursday night were Sheriff Cluett Schantz and James J. Abernethy, assistant district attorney.

Loughran Sends Telegram

Members and guests were welcomed by Justice George J. Braendly, of Woodstock, association president. Roger Loughran of Hurley was master of ceremonies. Other officers of the association seated at the speakers' table were Leonard Albert of Rosendale, vice president, and Harold E. Macholdt of the town of Ulster, secretary-treasurer.

This telegram addressed to Secretary Macholdt from Chief Judge John T. Loughran of the Court of Appeals was read at the banquet:

"Will you say for me to my brother judges who are dining together tonight that a session of my court which began today deprives me of the pleasure I would otherwise have had in being with them. All success to you and my best wishes."

In Virginia

Cpl. JOSEPH LATCHFORD

Cpt. Joseph Latchford, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Latchford, Sr., of the Minnewaska Trail, Kerhonkson, is stationed at Fort Eustis, Va. A veteran of World War 2, having spent three years overseas in Japan, Cpl. Latchford recently visited his parents in this area and returned to his base in Virginia where he resides with his wife and daughter. Cpl. Latchford received his basic training at Fort Dix and while in Japan was stationed at Yokahoma.

Recruiter Signs Six for Service

Announcement was made today by M/Sgt. Irvin N. Barton of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station of the enlistment of six more area men in the army and air force.

Those enlisting in the air force were:

Melvin L. Hornsberger, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hornsberger, Ellenville.

Shirley E. Crawley, 17, son of Mrs. Bertha Crawley, Ellenville.

Emil T. Kuhnen, Jr., 23, Walker Valley. His wife Bernice, and son, Emil, will remain in Walker Valley until he completes basic training and is permanently stationed and then they will join him.

Richard E. Smith, 19, son of John J. Smith, High Falls. Pvt. Smith has two brothers, Gerald and John, already in the air force.

The air force enlistees signed for a period of four years and will receive their basic training at Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva.

Martin Lopiano, Jr., 17, son of Mrs. Irene Lopiano, Route 3, Kingston, enlisted in the regular army for a period of three years and will receive his basic training at Fort Devens, Mass.

Three Aboard Carrier

Three Ulster county men, including one from Kingston, are serving aboard the light carrier USS Cabot, now on an assignment in the Mediterranean with the Sixth Fleet.

They include Rolf T. Jacobsen, fireman, USN, of Box 142, Accord; Edgar Ward, radarman, second class, USN, husband of Inez E. Ward, 78-80 North Front street, Kingston; and Robert A. Mierop, aviation electrician's mate, third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mierop of Route 55, Napanoch.

In Army Now

PFC. VERNON M. SCISM

Pfc. Vernon M. Scism is now stationed in Fort Eustis, Va., according to information received by the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Pfc. Scism, a veteran of 33 months prior service in the navy, enlisted in the regular army in March, 1951, and at the time of his enlistment resided with his brother, Richard, 234½ South Wall street. After being initially assigned to Fort Devens, Mass., Pfc. Scism was transferred to Fort Dix, N. J. Staying briefly at Fort Dix, he was then transferred to Fort Hood, Tex., where he remained until he was reassigned to Fort Eustis, Va.

Frederick D. Parker, gunner's mate, third class, USN, son of Mrs. Doris Parker of Route 1, Stone Ridge, and husband of Mrs. Doris H. Parker, 343 16th avenue, Irvington, N. J., has recently returned after a six-month tour of duty aboard the USS Cambria with the navy's Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Four Men Are Arrested

Jersey City, N. J., Feb. 29 (AP) —Four men were arrested last night by U. S. customs agents who uncovered an estimated $50,000 worth of marijuana aboard the S.S. Jones of the United States Lines. The agents discovered the marijuana—which was in processed form—after a day and night search. Some of it already was in cigarette form. The marijuana was tucked away, among other places, in a hat box and a regular cigarette carton, police said. Three crewmen and a visitor aboard the ship, all Negroes, were picked up by the agents and taken to the Federal House of Detention in New York for further questioning.

Girl, 17, Is Held

Ruth Stokes, 17, of 11 East Pierpont street, was arrested on a "wayward minor" charge at New Paltz by Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg and County Investigator Arthur H. Brown on Thursday afternoon. She was ordered held for a hearing on a commitment signed by County Judge John M. Cashin sitting as a committee magistrate. The charge was brought because she allegedly ran away from her home, the sheriff's office reported.

57-Year-Old Beauty Winner

Topping thousands of young and beautiful women, Mrs. Flora Searles of 9 Converse avenue, Malden, Mass., a 57-year-old housewife and mother, is shown receiving award after being named "Skin Beauty Queen of the USA." Contest Judge Samuel M. Best, president of the Cuticura Corp. of Malden, presents bouquet and offers congratulations to Mrs. Searles. Dr. Best said the middle-aged woman was selected over contestants ranging in age from 18 to 72 years because of the "superior, blemish-free texture of her skin." He pointed out that Mrs. Searles was proof that modern science now has made it possible for women to retain skin beauty throughout their entire lifetimes.

Lenten Services

Lenten Speaker At Uptown Church

REV. JESSE WILSON

Dr. Jesse R. Wilson will be the guest speaker at the first of the Union Lenten services of the uptown churches at the First Baptist Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. He will speak on the theme, The Faith That Sings. The Rev. Arthur Oudemool will assist the Rev. Donald E. Brown in the service.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson is home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, American Baptist Convention. He was a missionary in Japan 1921-1926; general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, 1926-1936; and was a delegate to the Jerusalem meeting of the International Missionary Council, 1928; the Madras, India meeting, 1938; and the Whitby Conference, 1947.

Dr. Wilson was born in Texas. Educated in the public schools of that state, he graduated from the University of Texas, BA in 1915. He received his theological training at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and at Yale Divinity School where he was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity Degree in 1921. In recognition of his outstanding service to the Christian cause through his service as a missionary to Japan and as secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, California, conferred the Doctor of Divinity Degree upon him in 1937. Dr. Wilson was appointed an associate secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in 1936 and has served as its home secretary since Nov., 1940.

In September 1948, Dr. Wilson made an extensive overseas visit, going to England, France, Italy, the Belgian Congo, India, the Philippines and Japan, returning in March 1949.

Among the various writings which bear Dr. Wilson's name as editor or author are the following: Men and Women of Far Horizons, 1935; I Am a Christian, 1935; Beyond the War's Desolation, 1945; and Whose Disciples? 1948.

The public is cordially invited to share in these inter-denominational services.

Dewey Signs Bill Continuing Institutes

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—Governor Dewey today signed a bill continuing the state university's five technical institutes for another year and said they should be made permanent "as quickly as possible."

The schools were created in 1946 as an experiment in two-year, post high school training in applied arts and sciences. The Legislature has continued them each year since on a temporary basis.

They are situated in New York city, Buffalo, White Plains, Binghamton and Utica.

In a memorandum, Dewey said the schools "should be fitted into the State University system on a community college or other satisfactory permanent basis as quickly as possible."

He added:

"Community participation and financial support are essential if this objective is to be achieved.

"I trust that during the coming year the transition can be accomplished and urge each municipality in which a temporary institute is located to direct its efforts to the consummation of the transition in cooperation with the State University trustees."

Dewey signed other bills that:

Continue the state's temporary public housing program for veterans another year, to March 31, 1953, and authorize payment of state subsidies to keep the rents low.

Extend until Dec. 31, 1953, the present exemption from state income tax payments of pay received by members of the armed forces.

Kindergarten Has Delicacy Made as Part of Studies

New Paltz, Feb. 28—Because few children nowadays have a chance to see ice cream made in the old-fashioned, hand freezer way, Miss Gertrude Thompson's kindergarten class at the Campus Elementary School decided to try it themselves last week.

But how does a group of 15 five-year-olds go about getting equipment and ingredients for an experiment like this? A trip to Principal Harold Elsbree Wednesday for information sent them to the kitchen to Mrs. Clarissa Hogan for the highly necessary salt. Mrs. Hogan talked with Janitor Harry Pope and he produced the salt.

Mrs. Matilda Bernard, chief dietitian at the Student Union building gave them five quarts of milk, 15 eggs, five cups of sugar, cornstarch, vanilla and lemon juice.

The recipe was posted in the classroom and the group went to work, mixing, heating, and stirring the custard on an electric hot plate. Every child had his chance to break an egg and to stir.

The finished custard was refrigerated overnight and on Thursday, the children went equipped with wagon to the home of Miss Dorothy Potts at the corner of Main and Prospect streets to borrow a freezer.

On a snow bank outside the school they packed the freezer with salt and snow and learned that they must add hot water to make the brine. A strenuous period of churning commenced. By the time the ice cream was nearly done, three children were turning at once.

Result? Not only delicious ice cream, part of which was proudly distributed to all the adults who had helped. The enthusiastic children had had an extensive lesson in gathering information and materials, following a recipe, and some very concentrated cooperation on a group project.

20,000 Students Will Try for Scholarships

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—About 20,000 high school students will take competitive examinations Tuesday and Wednesday for 1,902 college scholarships. The tests will be held throughout the state.

The students will compete for: 1,654 state scholarships of $350 a year for four years at an approved college in the state.

150 Cornell University scholarships, which grant an annual tuition reduction of $200 each for fuor years at Cornell.

100 state scholarships for children of deceased or disabled war veterans. The grants provide $450 annually for four years at an approved college in the state.

Two Bookies Indicted

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Two Brooklyn bookies were indicted yesterday in a check-kiting plan which allegedly ran bank deposits totaling $37 into a $300,000 operation. One bank, the Pennsylvania Exchange, reported a $22,415 shortage. Alvin Rosen, 24, and Max Strumph, 40, were charged with grand larceny, forgery and conspiracy in the scheme.

Taft Should Be Nominated

Shokan, New York
February 27, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

There is increasing evidence that the political atmosphere is becoming warmer with each succeeding day. It is sincerely hoped that the electorate will not again find itself in the incongruous position of the last presidential campaign.

The situation, as the writer saw it at that time, was this. First: a stalwart scion of the Pendregast machine, rampaging up and down the length and breadth of the land, and declaiming in a raucous voice that the pork barrel should never be empty. Second: The Republican candidate, following in his wake with the mincing steps of a ballet dancer, and parroting in his rich baritone, "Me Too, Me Too, but I can do it more efficiently and the pork will be sweeter." Small wonder that many a Republican, finding himself between "Scylla and Charybdis," elected to stay home and play tiddledywinks with junior.

The writer believes that the issues between the two major parties should be sharp and clean cut. Some of these issues might well be as follows. Shall we continue to foist the same socialistic experiments upon the republic that broke the back of ancient Rome, and are now consuming Britain and ourselves with dry rot, or shall we revert to the individual endeavor, ambition, pride and honesty that made the republic great? Shall we continue to pour billions in bribes down the rat hole of western Europe, or shall we follow Washington's advice as to foreign entanglements and allocate those billions to home defense? (If our mendicant neighbors care to accept the affectionate embraces of Harry's Uncle Joe, bribes will be of no avail). Shall we continue the extravagance and waste, rife in our military and civil departments, or shall we retract and return to the precepts of Jefferson? Shall we continue to supply men and munitions, lives and blood to the Korean strife, while the cockney companions of our good Dean Acheson are allowed to furnish the sinews of war to the "agrarian reformers" and dictate that Chinese soil remain sacrosanct, or shall we use every means at our command to insure an early, victorious conclusion to the Truman police action?

While we are still in the dark as to General Eisenhower's Republican policies, let us look at a few of his most vociferous backers. They include Senators Lodge, Duff, and Morse, and Governor Dewey. To quote from the Good Book, "By their fruits ye shall know them." To plagiarize, "By his friends ye shall know him."

It is true that the general has been successful as a strategist, schoolteacher and diplomat. These qualifications do not necessarily indicate great statesmanship. Grant was a fair strategist; Wilson an excellent schoolteacher; Truman a Potsdam diplomat. No one doubts the general's integrity. No one doubts Senator Taft's, with the possible exception of Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg.

In striking contrast to the aura of uncertainty surrounding the Eisenhower bandwagon, is the positive position of Senator Taft. We know where he stands on the above issues. There is no chance that he would be the puppet of a palace guard of radical backers, steeped in the traditions of "One World."

Should the general deign to inform us whether he owes allegiance to the party of Lincoln or to the illegitimate offspring, sired by the Wilkieites and Deweyites, the situation might be changed. Until such a time, the writer feels that Senator Taft should be nominated. This action would prevent a recurrence of the Dewey debacle, and restore to reality the two party system.

Very truly yours,
HERBERT A. DIBBELL.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 28—The village winter scene was enlivened Tuesday and Wednesday by the activities of a gang of choppers and sawyers whom Contractor Wilcox of Roscoe employed to lay low a number of big trees in order to afford more clearance for the new electric trunk line along the trail. Trees felled with the consent of property owners included a number of century-old sugar maples. The one-man chain saws were used, the body wood was cut up in suitable lengths for handling and the trimmings were burned as the job progressed. The crew is made up largely of local men though Clarence Phillips and son, Clarence Jr., are Town of Hurley residents. An immense quantity of firewood and saw logs now lays along the south side of the trail between Shokan and West Hurley, and a lot of this, being on the reservoir preserve, will be utilized by New York. The work of stringing the heavy copper wires on the new poles already is in progress this side of West Hurley.

Multiple blessed events continue to be in vogue up the line: Comes now report of a ewe (mama sheep, that is) at the LaRocca place near Big Indian giving birth to triplets on a Sunday and another ewe giving birth to twins the following day. Could be that sheep raising is coming back in the Catskills, the plethora of dogs notwithstanding.

Callers here Wednesday included Alphus Shumen, formerly of West Shokan and now a resident of the Zena area. Alphus, one of the youngest timber buyers and contractors in the country, has bought a fine stand of oak near Rifton. He uses a tractor in the woods and also keeps a horse for skidding, or "snaking," out logs in certain tight spots. Much red oak is going to the Sueples mill which advertised for that timber in The Freeman, while a lot of the white oak logged in this county is trucked to the barrel plant in Kingston (white oak probably will be a "must" for whiskey barrels as long as ever the species persists).

Summer residents coming up from New York for the holiday weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Vlademar Christensen and John Gikas and family.

Echo of Waterworks Days: Monday, Feb. 28, 1910—Surprise party tendered Joseph Burgher Thursday at Benjamin Churchill's, Boiceville. . . . Posts being hauled for erecting along line of reservoir preserve fence. . . . Little Jay Molyneaux (now of Woodstock) seriously ill. . . . Surprise party given Aulden Van-Benschoten (father of Archie V. B. of Mt. Marion) Thursday attended by large gathering.

Gallo brings you the magic of fine wine

...from grapes grown for wine alone

THE MAGIC YOU'LL DISCOVER in Gallo wines begins with the select varieties of grapes which for centuries have proved best for each type of wine . . . grapes Gallo-grown under the warm California sun, picked at the moment when they're best for fine wine.

TONIGHT, OPEN A BOTTLE of Gallo Sherry for example . . . crushed from the Golden Palomino and other fine sherry grapes. Enjoy its fragrance, its natural color, its nut-like tang. See if you, too, don't agree its flavor is so fine you'd expect it to cost much, much more.

57-Year-Old Beauty Winner

Topping thousands of young and beautiful women, Mrs. Flora Searles of 9 Converse avenue, Malden, Mass., a 57-year-old housewife and mother, is shown receiving award after being named "Skin Beauty Queen of the USA." Contest Judge Samuel M. Best, president of the Cuticura Corp. of Malden, presents bouquet and offers congratulations to Mrs. Searles. Dr. Best said the middle-aged woman was selected over contestants ranging in age from 18 to 72 years because of the "superior, blemish-free texture of her skin." He pointed out that Mrs. Searles was proof that modern science now has made it possible for women to retain skin beauty throughout their entire lifetimes.

Lenten Services

REV. JESSE WILSON

Dr. Jesse R. Wilson will be the guest speaker at the first of the Union Lenten services of the uptown churches at the First Baptist Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. He will speak on the theme, The Faith That Sings. The Rev. Arthur Oudemool will assist the Rev. Donald E. Brown in the service.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson is home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, American Baptist Convention. He was a missionary in Japan, 1921-1926; general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, 1926-1936; and was a delegate to the Jerusalem meeting of the International Missionary Council, 1928; the Madras, India meeting, 1938; and the Whitby Conference, 1947.

Dr. Wilson was born in Texas. Educated in the public schools of that state, he graduated from the University of Texas, BA in 1915. He received his theological training at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and at Yale Divinity School where he was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity Degree in 1921. In recognition of his outstanding service to the Christian cause through his service as a missionary to Japan and as secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, California, conferred the Doctor of Divinity Degree upon him in 1937. Dr. Wilson was appointed an associate secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in 1936 and has served as its home secretary since Nov., 1940.

In September 1948, Dr. Wilson made an extensive overseas visit, going to England, France, Italy, the Belgian Congo, India, the Philippines and Japan, returning in March 1949.

Among the various writings which bear Dr. Wilson's name as editor or author are the following: Men and Women of Far Horizons, 1935; I Am a Christian, 1935; Beyond the War's Desolation, 1945; and Whose Disciples? 1948.

The public is cordially invited to share in these inter-denominational services.

Dewey Signs Bill Continuing Institutes

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—Governor Dewey today signed a bill continuing the state university's five technical institutes for another year and said they should be made permanent "as quickly as possible."

The schools were created in 1946 as an experiment in two-year, post high school training in applied arts and sciences. The Legislature has continued them each year since on a temporary basis.

They are situated in New York city, Buffalo, White Plains, Binghamton and Utica.

In a memorandum, Dewey said the schools "should be fitted into the State University system on a community college or other satisfactory permanent basis as quickly as possible."

He added:

"Community participation and financial support are essential if this objective is to be achieved.

"I trust that during the coming year the transition can be accomplished and urge each municipality in which a temporary institute is located to direct its efforts to the consummation of the transition in cooperation with the State University trustees."

Dewey signed other bills that:

Continue the state's temporary public housing program for veterans another year, to March 31, 1953, and authorize payment of state subsidies to keep the rents low.

Extend until Dec. 31, 1953, the present exemption from state income tax payments of pay received by members of the armed forces.

Kindergarten Has Delicacy Made as Part of Studies

New Paltz, Feb. 28—Because few children nowadays have a chance to see ice cream made in the old-fashioned, hand freezer way, Miss Gertrude Thompson's kindergarten class at the Campus Elementary School decided to try it themselves last week.

But how does a group of 15 five-year-olds go about getting equipment and ingredients for an experiment like this? A trip to Principal Harold Elsbree Wednesday for information sent them to the kitchen to Mrs. Clarissa Hogan for the highly necessary salt. Mrs. Hogan talked with Janitor Harry Pope and he produced the salt.

Mrs. Matilda Bernard, chief dietitian at the Student Union building gave them five quarts of milk, 15 eggs, five cups of sugar, cornstarch, vanilla and lemon juice.

The recipe was posted in the classroom and the group went to work, mixing, heating, and stirring the custard on an electric hot plate. Every child had his chance to break an egg and to stir.

The finished custard was refrigerated overnight and on Thursday, the children went equipped with wagon to the home of Miss Dorothy Potts at the corner of Main and Prospect streets to borrow a freezer.

On a snow bank outside the school they packed the freezer with salt and snow and learned that they must add hot water to make the brine. A strenuous period of churning commenced. By the time the ice cream was nearly done, three children were turning at once.

Result? Not only delicious ice cream, part of which was proudly distributed to all the adults who had helped. The enthusiastic children had had an extensive lesson in gathering information and materials, following a recipe, and some very concentrated cooperation on a group project.

20,000 Students Will Try for Scholarships

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—About 20,000 high school students will take competitive examinations Tuesday and Wednesday for 1,902 college scholarships. The tests will be held throughout the state.

The students will compete for:

1,654 state scholarships of $350 a year for four years at an approved college in the state.

150 Cornell University scholarships, which grant an annual tuition reduction of $200 each for fuor years at Cornell.

100 state scholarships for children of deceased or disabled war veterans. The grants provide $450 annually for four years at an approved college in the state.

Two Bookies Indicted

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Two Brooklyn bookies were indicted yesterday in a check-kiting plan which allegedly ran bank deposits totaling $37 into a $300,000 operation. One bank, the Pennsylvania Exchange, reported a $22,415 shortage. Alvin Rosen, 24, and Max Strumph, 40, were charged with grand larceny, forgery and conspiracy in the scheme.

Taft Should Be Nominated

Shokan, New York
February 27, 1952

Editor, The Freeman:

There is increasing evidence that the political atmosphere is becoming warmer with each succeeding day. It is sincerely hoped that the electorate will not again find itself in the incongruous position of the last presidential campaign.

The situation, as the writer saw it at that time, was this. First: a stalwart scion of the Pendregast machine, rampaging up and down the length and breadth of the land, and declaiming in a raucous voice that the pork barrel should never be empty. Second: The Republican candidate, following in his wake with the mincing steps of a ballet dancer, and parroting in his rich baritone, "Me Too, Me Too, but I can do it more efficiently and the pork will be sweeter." Small wonder that many a Republican, finding himself between "Scylla and Charybdis," elected to stay home and play tiddledywinks with junior.

The writer believes that the issues between the two major parties should be sharp and clean cut. Some of these issues might well be as follows. Shall we continue to foist the same socialistic experiments upon the republic that broke the back of ancient Rome, and are now consuming Britain and ourselves with dry rot, or shall we revert to the individual endeavor, ambition, pride and honesty that made the republic great? Shall we continue to pour billions in bribes down the rat hole of western Europe, or shall we follow Washington's advice as to foreign entanglements and allocate those billions to home defense? (If our mendicant neighbors care to accept the affectionate embraces of Harry's Uncle Joe, bribes will be of no avail). Shall we continue the extravagance and waste, rife in our military and civil departments, or shall we retract and return to the precepts of Jefferson? Shall we continue to supply men and munitions, lives and blood to the Korean strife, while the cockney companions of our good Dean Acheson are allowed to furnish the sinews of war to the "agrarian reformers" and dictate that Chinese soil remain sacrosanct, or shall we use every means at our command to insure an early, victorious conclusion to the Truman police action?

While we are still in the dark as to General Eisenhower's Republican policies, let us look at a few of his most vociferous backers. They include Senators Lodge, Duff, and Morse, and Governor Dewey. To quote from the Good Book, "By their fruits ye shall know them." To plagiarize, "By his friends ye shall know him."

It is true that the general has been successful as a strategist, schoolteacher and diplomat. These qualifications do not necessarily indicate great statesmanship. Grant was a fair strategist; Wilson an excellent schoolteacher; Truman a Potsdam diplomat. No one doubts the general's integrity. No one doubts Senator Taft's, with the possible exception of Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg.

In striking contrast to the aura of uncertainty surrounding the Eisenhower bandwagon, is the positive position of Senator Taft. We know where he stands on the above issues. There is no chance that he would be the puppet of a palace guard of radical backers, steeped in the traditions of "One World."

Should the general deign to inform us whether he owes allegiance to the party of Lincoln or to the illegitimate offspring, sired by the Wilkieites and Deweyites, the situation might be changed. Until such a time, the writer feels that Senator Taft should be nominated. This action would prevent a recurrence of the Dewey debacle, and restore to reality the two party system.

Very truly yours,
HERBERT A. DIBBELL.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 28—The village winter scene was enlivened Tuesday and Wednesday by the activities of a gang of choppers and sawyers whom Contractor Wilcox of Roscoe employed to lay low a number of big trees in order to afford more clearance for the new electric trunk line along the trail. Trees felled with the consent of property owners included a number of century-old sugar maples. The one-man chain saws were used, the body wood was cut up in suitable lengths for handling and the trimmings were burned as the job progressed. The crew is made up largely of local men though Clarence Phillips and son, Clarence Jr., are Town of Hurley residents. An immense quantity of firewood and saw logs now lays along the south side of the trail between Shokan and West Hurley, and a lot of this, being on the reservoir preserve, will be utilized by New York. The work of stringing the heavy copper wires on the new poles already is in progress this side of West Hurley.

Multiple blessed events continue to be in vogue up the line: Comes now report of a ewe (mama sheep, that is) at the LaRocca place near Big Indian giving birth to triplets on a Sunday and another ewe giving birth to twins the following day. Could be that sheep raising is coming back in the Catskills, the plethora of dogs notwithstanding.

Callers here Wednesday included Alphus Shumen, formerly of West Shokan and now a resident of the Zena area. Alphus, one of the youngest timber buyers and contractors in the country, has bought a fine stand of oak near Rifton. He uses a tractor in the woods and also keeps a horse for skidding, or "snaking," out logs in certain tight spots. Much red oak is going to the Sueples mill which advertised for that timber in The Freeman, while a lot of the white oak logged in this county is trucked to the barrel plant in Kingston (white oak probably will be a "must" for whiskey barrels as long as ever the species persists).

Summer residents coming up from New York for the holiday weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Vlademar Christensen and John Gikas and family.

Echo of Waterworks Days: Monday, Feb. 28, 1910—Surprise party tendered Joseph Burgher Thursday at Benjamin Churchill's, Boiceville. . . . Posts being hauled for erecting along line of reservoir preserve fence. . . . Little Jay Molyneaux (now of Woodstock) seriously ill. . . . Surprise party given Aulden Van-Benschoten (father of Archie V. B. of Mt. Marion) Thursday attended by large gathering.

The garbage of New York city is valued at more than $1,000,000 a year for fertilizer and hog feed.

PICKING A PRESIDENT

New Jersey voters are to have a chance to say whom they would like for president. A new law provides for a presidential popularity contest as part of the state primary on April 15. Any name may be entered by the signature of 1,000 voters, whether the suggested candidate agrees or not. This overcomes the great obstacle that prevents other states from choosing freely, a law requiring a candidate to give his consent before his name goes on the ballot. In New Jersey no possible candidate will have a chance to refuse.

This may be the answer to the growing demand for a presidential primary. In 1912 the chances for its adoption seemed bright. The battle between William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican nomination caused a number of states to enact presidential primary laws. They clearly showed that Roosevelt was the choice of the rank and file. Enough delegates, however, were chosen in the old way to defeat the voters' will and renominate Taft.

That was the last big year for the presidential primary. A request by President Wilson that Congress make it compulsory got nowhere. Only occasionally since then have the results in single states thrown real light on the voters' preference.

If the New Jersey plan seems to work, it will have imitators.

HEART LEAFLET

As one of the educational highlights of the month-long Heart Fund Campaign, which opened on February 1, the Ulster County Heart Committee of 74 John street is distributing free a new leaflet, "Man to Man." The leaflet is written in the words of a mythical heart patient and is very informative and reassuring.

One of the reasons why it could be read with profit by everyone is the emphasis on "learning when to stop before you become a heart case."

FALSE WAGE STATEMENT

A person who deliberately gives false information on his unemployment insurance claim is properly penalized for wilful misrepresentation even if he had no intention of defrauding the state.

This ruling recently handed down by the New York State Court of Appeals, sustained previous decisions by the Appellate Division and an unemployment insurance office, and reversed rulings of the Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board and an unemployment insurance referee.

Argentina reports that over 800,000 copies have been sold of Evita Peron's autobiography. This does not prove anything as to the literary merits of the dictator's wife or as to his popularity. It merely shows that wise Argentines know on which side their bread is buttered.

REDUCE AXLE LOADS OF VEHICLES

The Supervisors' Association of New York State has joined the increasing ranks of groups calling for the enactment of the Metcalf-Van Cleef Bill which would reduce the axle loads of heavy motor vehicles from 22,400 pounds to 18,000 pounds.

The association points out to the members of the Legislature that the increase in numbers and weights of heavy trucks is far outdistancing available funds to maintain the roads they use. Most of our town and county roads were constructed before the advent of the extensive truck traffic that is common today.

County and town roads represent a tremendous investment of which the supervisors of this state are fully aware and these arteries of commerce and travel are of the utmost importance to our rural areas and must be protected. This legislation would not only reduce road damage but would save millions in construction and maintenance costs. Further, the amount thus saved would permit the towns and counties to rebuild their aging road system with available funds, the association declared in a resolution to the Legislature.

EXCITEMENT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

The 14 delegates from New Hampshire to the Republican Convention will not make or break any candidate. Their importance lies in the psychological fact that New Hampshire runs the first primary election in the 1952 campaign.

When the primary campaign started, the assumption was that all the Republicans of New Hampshire would be for the nomination of General Eisenhower. Republicans in New England then were well disposed toward the general on the ground that he could be elected if nominated.

Now, Taft, Stassen and MacArthur are running in the New Hampshire primaries, MacArthur against his wishes. If Taft were to manage to get as many as four votes, it would be regarded in political circles as a great victory.

The canvass, however, has brought to the surface a number of factors which are being screened carefully by the management of all candidates. For instance, the prevalent opinion among practical politicians is that General MacArthur could carry the New Hampshire primaries were he a candidate. It is not clear whether the MacArthur adherents will follow him to Taft. This will be more evident one way or the other after Taft has campaigned the state.

The professional politicians are encountering a curious kind of amateur in this campaign who is different from other kinds of political amateurs. Usually the newcomers are aspiring young men who hope to attract attention to themselves with the ultimate hope of getting on. They seek to stand out so that they will be noticed.

In the Willkie campaign, two groups of amateurs, bankers and publishers, entered the picture. They did their work so effectively that Willkie was nominated. But they could not elect Willkie. For one thing, the professionals cut Willkie's throat.

The bankers and business men were organized into a pressure force by the late Thomas W. Lamont of the House of Morgan.

The other group consisted of newspaper publishers and advertising agencies, specialists in publiv opinion. Henry Luce of Life-Time-Fortune and Mrs. Helen Reid of the "New York Herald Tribune" were effective factors in this group.

Together they produced the "Willkie Blitz," an ably organized and brilliantly handled public relations operation. But they could not elect Willkie.

In 1948, an imitative effort of this type was tried by the Stassen management, but it failed. While no candidate in recent years had so full and sincere a following among younger people as Stassen, the enthusiasm was inadequate to swing the delegates.

In the present canvass for Eisenhower, the amateurs are more active than the professionals. For instance, Thomas E. Dewey is largely quiescent because he is encountering a surprising resistance to his leadership in New York state. I have spoken to a number of county leaders and recognize the symptoms of a political rebellion. In Connecticut, Governor John Lodge, brother of the Eisenhower manager, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., cannot hold the Connecticut delegation in line.

The Eisenhower amateurs are about the same as those of the Willkie campaign. Winthrop Aldrich of the Chase National Bank taking the place of leadership of Thomas Lamont, but Henry Luce still trying his hand as covert king-maker. Into this picture have come many of the former Rooseveltites such as "Jock" Whitney and some of the so-called liberals whose citations appear in many Front organizations. It is a body of irreconcilables from such rightists as Thomas J. Watson and Harold Talbott to the Madison Square Rally crowd, including left-wingers.

Three factors have presented themselves on which they did not count:

1. Eisenhower refuses to be an effective candidate, as much because he honestly believed that the nomination would come to him without any effort on his part and was surprised at the resistance to that notion;

2. The new, aggressive, ably organized Taft who gains in the respect of such professionals as are likely to be delegates;

3. The astounding popularity of General Douglas MacArthur—a factor wholly unexpected by any of the leaders.

An "Eisenhower Blitz" can no longer be organized. It is politically too late for that. The best that can be done is hard-work, old-style political operations to amass delegates. The Eisenhower management possesses too little skill for that kind of work. While the public will view such a vote as, let us say, 7 out of 14 good for Eisenhower in New Hampshire, professional politicians will say that he lost the state. And at the convention, it will be so.

That Body of Yours

LIVER AS A FOOD DELAYS FATIGUE

Until the time that Drs. Minot and Murphy discovered that calf's liver would build up the blood and thus prevent deaths from pernicious anemia, all patients died within a limited time and blood transfusions were continuously necessary.

Liver not only increased the richness (in iron) of the red cell of the blood but increased the number of red cells also. As their experiments were performed with calf's liver, the cost of calf's liver increased several hundred per cent. Fortunately, it was found that the liver of other animals was also capable of increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the red cells and also increase their number. Fortunately, also, it was found that liver extract was as effective, even more effective than liver itself so that the eating of five or more ounces of liver daily became no longer necessary.

Physicians who watched the number of uses of insulin, aside from its control of diabetes, will not be surprised, therefore, when they read of how liver or liver powder delays fatigue in rats which have about the same digestive system as man.

In an editorial in The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. B. H. Ershoff of the Emory W. Thurston Laboratories, Los Angeles, reported that the known food or nutritional factors are inadequate under stress conditions in rats. He found that dried liver powder contains the necessary factors to prevent fatigue in these animals.

Sixty rats, 22 to 25 days old (average weight 44 grams) were divided into three groups. Each group was fed on different diets. The first two groups were fed on good average diets and the third contained the same foods plus 10 per cent dried liver powder. After 12 weeks, during which time the rats ate all they wanted of their respective diets, the average weight of rats on first diet had increased to 215 gm., those on the second to 229 gm., and those on the third diet to 248 gm.

All three groups were then subjected to the same stress conditions. The rats were placed in a barrel, with smooth vertical sides, which was filled to a depth of 18 inches with water at 20 c. Measurements were made of the length of time each rat would swim before becoming exhausted.

Rats on the first diet swam an average of 13.3 minutes before exhaustion, and those on the second diet, 13.4. Of the 12 rats on the liver supplement, three swam 63, 83 and 87 minutes. The remaining nine rats were swimming at the end of 120 minutes when the test was discontinued.

These experiments suggest the presence in dried liver powder of some unknown vitamin hormone or other kind of nutritional factor which is capable of postponing fatigue.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman had a frank exchange the other day with Catholic Congressman Clement Zablocki of Wisconsin regarding Truman's blast at Dictator Franco of Spain. Congressman Zablocki didn't approve of the President's action and bluntly said so.

"It was most unfortunate that your remarks were made about the same time that General Eisenhower also spoke out against Spain," declared the Wisconsin legislator. "I naturally feel that we're going to get more out of the dollars we spend for aiding Atlantic Pact nations if Spain belongs to the pact. I agree that conditions in Spain are none too happy, but Yugoslavia isn't a democracy either and yet we have given Tito millions in aid."

Truman replied that his criticism was directly solely at Franco and not at the Spanish people. Franco was chiefly responsible for the "intolerance" suffered by what he called "that minority of minorities"—about 30,000 Spanish Protestants.

"In some parts of Spain Protestants can't even bury their dead during the day or mark their graves with tombstones for fear of inciting demonstrations," declared Truman. "Dictatorships encourage that sort of thing."

Zablocki agreed the situation was "regrettable," but added:

"We have the problem right here in the United States. Catholics, Jews and Negroes, or, for that matter, anybody with a foreign-sounding name, are badly treated in our Ku Klux areas. We have been reading lately about ruffians stoning synagogues."

"Unfortunately, that is true," agreed Truman, but went on to point out that he, as President, was doing everything possible to stamp out intolerance while Franco wasn't lifting a finger.

"As President of the United States," he said, "I will not compromise with the persecution of minorities either in this country or anywhere in the world."

Zablocki observed that the situation in Spain could be corrected a lot quicker if we took Spain into the Atlantic Pact; but the President disagreed. He said he had his doubts about any real religious tolerance as long as Franco remained dictator.

Taft Battles Bradley

Senator Taft is conducting his private war against the joint chiefs of staff not only in public speeches, but behind closed doors. He even singled out General Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, for special attack the other day during a private session of the joint committee on the economic report.

Sen. Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican, gave Taft an opening by protesting: "I have no confidence whatever that the natural professional way of thinking . . . will ever be satisfied with any scale of military development and expenditure. It is just in the nature of the case that they should not be."

Immediately Taft interceded.

"My confidence in the joint chiefs of staff is somewhat upset," he said, "when I read the testimony of the chairman of the joint chiefs two years ago in March where he said in his opinion 15 billion dollars was completely adequate for the security of the United States, and that if he recommended 30 billion dollars for the armed forces, he ought to be dismissed as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

"That was just two years ago today," opined Taft. "It shakes your confidence as to whether he is right now."

Taft neglected to mention that he was in the vanguard of those who, before the Korean war, put the heat on Bradley and the military to curtail their budget.

Forgotten Men

The conference on psychological strategy heard a candid report on the shoddy treatment of iron curtain escapees from a man who had a ringside seat—Philip E. Ryan, former chief of mission of the International Refugee Organization.

"They exist in overcrowded camps with little hope for emigration, practically no possibility for employment, and no means at their disposal to fight back at the thing (communism) which has broken their lives," reported Ryan.

With regard to our "policy" on refugees, Ryan explained: "On the one hand, we apparently encourage flight from intolerable conditions under communism. The picture of life in the west is tantamount to an invitation to 'come over to our side.'

"Once they are in the west, however, we renounce responsibility. After we have milked them of any information they can give us, they are turned over to the German government, which already is burdened with over 9,000,000 German refugees.

"Is it any wonder that some refugees, disillusioned by their reception in the West, have returned to the East to be exploited and held up as samples of the unreliability of the West? Thus we hand the Russians a weapon which they can use effectively to convince their listeners that we merely mouth false promises."

One Iron Curtain refugee, bitter because attention was lavished only on those who escape dramatically, as in the Czech "Freedom Train" last summer, grumbled to Ryan: "The only way you'd get attention now is to be shot across (the Iron Curtain) in a cannon."

Off-Again, On-Again

A New Jersey group, led by Mayor John Kenny of Jersey City and Democratic Congressmen Ed Hart and Al Sieminski, calling on the President recently, got the impression that he will make no pronouncement on his candidacy until close to convention time in July.

He indicated: 1. That he hasn't made up his mind about running again; 2. That he is concerned only with the "day-to-day" handling of world and domestic issues and letting the future dictate his political moves.

"In other words, I am going along to the best of my ability doing the job the people pay me to do," the President said.

He was much more specific on another matter—keeping former Jersey City boss Frank Hague in the doghouse.

Mayor Kenny charged that Hague was conducting an undercover campaign to deprive New Jersey of federal housing projects in revenge against Kenny and other Democrats who defeated his once-powerful political machine.

"We are sorely in need of defense housing, chiefly in northern New Jersey," declared the mayor who replaced Hague. "But Hague is so vindictive that we have reports that he is trying to divert these projects to New York and Pennsylvania."

Truman promised to give the matter his "personal attention," adding tersely, "I guess some people don't know when to quit."

Note — When Kenny recalled that he had met the President's daughter, Margaret, and his brother, Vivian, Truman interposed: "Yes, but you haven't met the boss. Some day I'd like to introduce you to Mrs. Truman."

Ban on Televised Hearings Considered Cover for Wrongdoings in Administration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 29 — Few things are more damaging to a party in power than an attempt at "cover-up" of wrongdoing. Throughout history the wisest strategy for such a party, when attacked, has been to give wholehearted support to any official investigation.

But the Truman administration seems to be blundering on this point and, rightly or wrongly, giving the impression that it has something to hide. Thus the palpable efforts to bring to an end the House committee's inquiry on the tax scandals is causing considerable resentment, as is also the very evident effort to prevent the broadcasting and televising of all hearings held by committees of the House of Representatives.

It has been disclosed that in the presence of President Truman the ban on television and radio issued by Speaker Rayburn was discussed but Mr. Truman made no effort to bring about a change in the ruling. The President, whose appointees and subordinate officials are under attack, would naturally have an interest in seeing that the public was widely informed about government proceedings. He did not urge the speaker to use his position in the House to have the rules changed. He doesn't hesitate to speak out on other "civil rights."

It is not surprising that the House committee handling tax scandals is in the throes of a controversy over whether to continue its hearings. Democrats favorable to the Administration fear the damaging effect that continued hearings may have on the political prospects of their party. Other Democrats, with a broad-gauged viewpoint, want the hearings to go on. They believe, as do the Republicans, that it is better to get all the facts before the people and identify the guilty rather than to let the public suspect that there are many more who are hiding behind administration protection.

Candor with the public is essential if distrust and suspicion are to be erased. It so happens that Democrats like Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, Senator Hoey of North Carolina, Senator McCarran of Nevada and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas have been leaders in recent congressional investigations. Some party spokesmen have emphasized this to show that the Democrats were cleaning their own house, letting the chips fall where they may.

The events of the last few days, however, suggest that the Democratic administration, alarmed by the series of exposures and fearful of more of them in the campaign months to come, is now making an effort to keep the tax scandals out of the headlines. Undoubtedly this will lead to public accusations on the floor of the Senate and the House and a further spreading of accusations. It is significant that Senator Williams of Delaware, Republican, for example, is putting out certain evidence in periodic speeches before the Senate. More of that kind of tactics can be expected if the House committee's hearings on irregularities in the tax bureau are curtailed or terminated.

If it had not been for the coincident stopping of the radio broadcasting and the televising of the hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the situation might not have been so fully dramatized to the public. The voters in Michigan, for example, where some Communistic activity has been detected, will wonder why suddenly even radio broadcasts—previously permitted—are now banned. It will be argued that the administration is afraid to have extensive coverage of the hearings. Newspapers cannot possibly print every day the same number of words that can be reported in a couple hours broadcasting. There is also a certain dramatic intimacy which the listener or viewer enjoys in connection with radio or television. Unquestionably the administration is afraid of the consequences of widespread publicity.

This is an issue the people generally can understand, and no bigger political blunder has been made by the administration than to reveal that the subject came up at a White House conference attended by the speaker of the House and yet no move was made to open up the channels of news to the public. An administration which has issued a gag order on its own officials unprecedented in severity—an edict which has been challenged by the press of the nation—can hardly expect its statements in the campaign to gain credence. Instead, the charge of the opposition will get wider publicity than might otherwise have been the case.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 29—A few years ago, the Pacific Northwest was suffering a most difficult readjustment. Unprecedented wartime expansion seemed likely to end in complete collapse. Unemployment had reached serious proportions. Active shipyards, giant aircraft factories and war fabricating plants shut down.

In these weekly articles I seldom single out any one section for specific mention. Our American economy is interrelated to so great an extent, that every section is largely dependent on other sections. However, I thing that there is a lesson for all sections to learn based upon the recent statistics and experiences of the Pacific Northwest.

Prewar Situation

Prior to 1940, the region was almost entirely dependent for its prosperity on selling its raw materials. Its products were mostly shipped eastward in a raw state for processing and distribution to more profitable mass markets.

Here was an important lumber district, but all its lumber was shipped east in the raw state. Rich northwest farm lands supplied a large part of America's fruit and grain, but often at a loss. Copper, zinc, lead, silver, gold and antimony were scooped from its mines and shipped elsewhere for refining and fabricating. Fishing, especially for salmon, was big business. But, manufacturing industries were badly needed for lasting strength.

Wartime Experience

Expansion for war needs stimulated manufacturing industries temporarily. Aircraft factories mushroomed overnight. A full-blown aluminum industry sprang up, and there was a new plutonium plant at Hanford. Ferro-alloy and other electro-process war industries were started. Huge power requirements pushed ahead hydro-utility construction. Population growth kept pace with industrial expansion. People rushed in from adjoining sections to get employment. There could have been a very bad slump when the war ended.

There were no established peacetime products or markets to which the industries and workers could return. However, instead of a slump, the area has forged ahead to new heights, due to the enterprise and courage of its business leaders. Labor today is even scarce in some lines and net migration into the area has continued high.

Postwar Events

Aided by extensive research and these few businessmen, their raw materials are now going into finished goods. Prewar, no aluminum was produced in the Pacific Northwest; today nearly half of all our aluminum comes from this area. Food processing has been emphasized to take advantage of the area's growing output of agricultural products. Its hustling businessmen are making it the center of the new frozen foods industry. They are starting new flour mills, new canning plants, and other industries to employ nearly twice as many workers as in prewar 1939. This proves again that every community depends upon the ability and courage of about 5% of its people.

Furniture production has become a big industry utilizing the region's lumber resources. Paper and pulp industries have expanded 50% since 1940, while the chemical industry is being doubled. Other industries have been induced to move into the region to decentralize operations, and be closer to raw material supplies. Electric power output, despite tremendous growth, is being further increased.

Important Lesson

New stores, laundries, filling stations and restaurants have been financed by forward looking citizens before they were really needed. This has all occurred in an area which seemed to be on the brink of a depression only some five years ago. Don't let any community, where this column is printed, get discouraged under any conditions.

No one examining the situation in 1947 would have been willing to forecast such a rate of growth. Today, similarly, there are other regions, as well as inventions and ideas, which stand on the threshold of most rapid growth. Our frontiers never really pass; the experience of the Pacific Northwest shows that the brightest opportunities often lie where the prospects seem least promising.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Feb. 29, 1932—The American Legion campaign to aid the city's unemployed brought $235,893 in pledges to date.

Theodore Roosevelt, son of the former president of the United States, took the oath as governor general of the Philippine Islands.

The Orpheum Theatre closed until March 5 for repairs.

Phidelah Rice gave a Shakespearean recital at the Holy Cross Church.

The area overnight temperature was 34 and the noon high 38 degrees.

The year 1942, not being a leap year, had no Feb. 29.

The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to President Theodore Roosevelt in 1906 and to President Woodrow Wilson in 1919.

I have spoken to a number of county leaders and recognize the symptoms of a political rebellion. In Connecticut, Governor John Lodge, brother of the Eisenhower manager, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., cannot hold the Connecticut delegation in line.

The Eisenhower amateurs are about the same as those of the Willkie campaign, Winthrop Aldrich of the Chase National Bank taking the place of leadership of Thomas Lamont, but Henry Luce still trying his hand as covert king-maker. Into this picture have come many of the former Rooseveltites such as "Jock" Whitney and some of the so-called liberals whose citations appear in many Front organizations. It is a body of irreconcilables from such rightists as Thomas J. Watson and Harold Talbott to the Madison Square Rally crowd, including left-wingers.

Three factors have presented themselves on which they did not count:

1. Eisenhower refuses to be an effective candidate, as much because he honestly believed that the nomination would come to him without any effort on his part and was surprised at the resistance to that notion;

2. The new, aggressive, ably organized Taft who gains in the respect of such professionals as are likely to be delegates;

3. The astounding popularity of General Douglas MacArthur—a factor wholly unexpected by any of the leaders.

An "Eisenhower Blitz" can no longer be organized. It is politically too late for that. The best that can be done is hard-work, old-style political operations to amass delegates. The Eisenhower management possesses too little skill for that kind of work. While the public will view such a vote as, let us say, 7 out of 14 good for Eisenhower in New Hampshire, professional politicians will say that he lost the state. And at the convention, it will be so.

That Body of Yours

LIVER AS A FOOD DELAYS FATIGUE

Until the time that Drs. Minot and Murphy discovered that calf's liver would build up the blood and thus prevent deaths from pernicious anemia, all patients died within a limited time and blood transfusions were continuously necessary.

Liver not only increased the richness (in iron) of the red cell of the blood but increased the number of red cells also. As their experiments were performed with calf's liver, the cost of calf's liver increased several hundred per cent. Fortunately, it was found that the liver of other animals was also capable of increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the red cells and also increase their number. Fortunately, also, it was found that liver extract was as effective, even more effective than liver itself so that the eating of five or more ounces of liver daily became no longer necessary.

Physicians who watched the number of uses of insulin, aside from its control of diabetes, will not be surprised, therefore, when they read of how liver or liver powder delays fatigue in rats which have about the same digestive system as man.

In an editorial in The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. B. H. Ershoff of the Emory W. Thurston Laboratories, Los Angeles, reported that the known food or nutritional factors are inadequate under stress conditions in rats. He found that dried liver powder contains the necessary factors to prevent fatigue in these animals.

Sixty rats, 22 to 25 days old (average weight 44 grams) were divided into three groups. Each group was fed on different diets. The first two groups were fed on good average diets and the third contained the same foods plus 10 per cent dried liver powder. After 12 weeks, during which time the rats ate all they wanted of their respective diets, the average weight of rats on first diet had increased to 215 gm., those on the second to 229 gm., and those on the third diet to 248 gm.

All three groups were then subjected to the same stress conditions. The rats were placed in a barrel, with smooth vertical sides, which was filled to a depth of 18 inches with water at 20 c. Measurements were made of the length of time each rat would swim before becoming exhausted.

Rats on the first diet swam an average of 13.3 minutes before exhaustion, and those on the second diet, 13.4. Of the 12 rats on the liver supplement, three swam 63, 83 and 87 minutes. The remaining nine rats were swimming at the end of 120 minutes when the test was discontinued.

These experiments suggest the presence in dried liver powder of some unknown vitamin hormone or other kind of nutritional factor which is capable of postponing fatigue.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman had a frank exchange the other day with Catholic Congressman Clement Zablocki of Wisconsin regarding Truman's blast at Dictator Franco of Spain. Congressman Zablocki didn't approve of the President's action and bluntly said so.

"It was most unfortunate that your remarks were made about the same time that General Eisenhower also spoke out against Spain," declared the Wisconsin legislator. "I naturally feel that we're going to get more out of the dollars we spend for aiding Atlantic Pact nations if Spain belongs to the pact. I agree that conditions in Spain are none too happy, but Yugoslavia isn't a democracy either and yet we have given Tito millions in aid."

Truman replied that his criticism was directly solely at Franco and not at the Spanish people. Franco was chiefly responsible for the "intolerance" suffered by what he called "that minority of minorities"—about 30,000 Spanish Protestants.

"In some parts of Spain Protestants can't even bury their dead during the day or mark their graves with tombstones for fear of inciting demonstrations," declared Truman. "Dictatorships encourage that sort of thing."

Zablocki agreed the situation was "regrettable," but added:

"We have the problem right here in the United States. Catholics, Jews and Negroes, or, for that matter, anybody with a foreign-sounding name, are badly treated in our Ku Klux areas. We have been reading lately about ruffians stoning synagogues."

"Unfortunately, that is true," agreed Truman, but went on to point out that he, as President, was doing everything possible to stamp out intolerance while Franco wasn't lifting a finger.

"As President of the United States," he said, "I will not compromise with the persecution of minorities either in this country or anywhere in the world."

Zablocki observed that the situation in Spain could be corrected a lot quicker if we took Spain into the Atlantic Pact; but the President disagreed. He said he had his doubts about any real religious tolerance as long as Franco remained dictator.

Taft Battles Bradley

Senator Taft is conducting his private war against the joint chiefs of staff not only in public speeches, but behind closed doors. He even singled out General Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, for special attack the other day during a private session of the joint committee on the economic report.

Sen. Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican, gave Taft an opening by protesting: "I have no confidence whatever that the natural professional way of thinking . . . will ever be satisfied with any scale of military development and expenditure. It is just in the nature of the case that they should not be."

Immediately Taft interceded.

"My confidence in the joint chiefs of staff is somewhat upset," he said, "when I read the testimony of the chairman of the joint chiefs two years ago in March where he said in his opinion 15 billion dollars was completely adequate for the security of the United States, and that if he recommended 30 billion dollars for the armed forces, he ought to be dismissed as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

"That was just two years ago today," opined Taft. "It shakes your confidence as to whether he is right now."

Taft neglected to mention that he was in the vanguard of those who, before the Korean war, put the heat on Bradley and the military to curtail their budget.

Forgotten Men

The conference on psychological strategy heard a candid report on the shoddy treatment of iron curtain escapees from a man who had a ringside seat—Philip E. Ryan, former chief of mission of the International Refugee Organization.

"They exist in overcrowded camps with little hope for emigration, practically no possibility for employment, and no means at their disposal to fight back at the thing (communism) which has broken their lives," reported Ryan.

With regard to our "policy" on refugees, Ryan explained: "On the one hand, we apparently encourage flight from intolerable conditions under communism. The picture of life in the west is tantamount to an invitation to 'come over to our side.'

"Once they are in the west, however, we renounce responsibility. After we have milked them of any information they can give us, they are turned over to the German government, which already is burdened with over 9,000,000 German refugees.

"Is it any wonder that some refugees, disillusioned by their reception in the West, have returned to the East to be exploited and held up as samples of the unreliability of the West? Thus we hand the Russians a weapon which they can use effectively to convince their listeners that we merely mouth false promises."

One Iron Curtain refugee, bitter because attention was lavished only on those who escape dramatically, as in the Czech "Freedom Train" last summer, grumbled to Ryan: "The only way you'd get attention now is to be shot across (the Iron Curtain) in a cannon."

Off-Again, On-Again

A New Jersey group, led by Mayor John Kenny of Jersey City and Democratic Congressmen Ed Hart and Al Sieminski, calling on the President recently, got the impression that he will make no pronouncement on his candidacy until close to convention time in July.

He indicated: 1. That he hasn't made up his mind about running again; 2. That he is concerned only with the "day-to-day" handling of world and domestic issues and letting the future dictate his political moves.

"In other words, I am going along to the best of my ability doing the job the people pay me to do," the President said.

He was much more specific on another matter—keeping former Jersey City boss Frank Hague in the doghouse.

Mayor Kenny charged that Hague was conducting an undercover campaign to deprive New Jersey of federal housing projects in revenge against Kenny and other Democrats who defeated his once-powerful political machine.

"We are sorely in need of defense housing, chiefly in northern New Jersey," declared the mayor who replaced Hague. "But Hague is so vindictive that we have reports that he is trying to divert these projects to New York and Pennsylvania."

Truman promised to give the matter his "personal attention," adding tersely, "I guess some people don't know when to quit."

Note — When Kenny recalled that he had met the President's daughter, Margaret, and his brother, Vivian, Truman interposed: "Yes, but you haven't met the boss. Some day I'd like to introduce you to Mrs. Truman."

Ban on Televised Hearings Considered Cover for Wrongdoings in Administration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 29 — Few things are more damaging to a party in power than an attempt at "cover-up" of wrongdoing. Throughout history the wisest strategy for such a party, when attacked, has been to give wholehearted support to any official investigation.

But the Truman administration seems to be blundering on this point and, rightly or wrongly, giving the impression that it has something to hide. Thus the palpable efforts to bring to an end the House committee's inquiry on the tax scandals is causing considerable resentment, as is also the very evident effort to prevent the broadcasting and televising of all hearings held by committees of the House of Representatives.

It has been disclosed that in the presence of President Truman the ban on television and radio issued by Speaker Rayburn was discussed but Mr. Truman made no effort to bring about a change in the ruling. The President, whose appointees and subordinate officials are under attack, would naturally have an interest in seeing that the public was widely informed about government proceedings. He did not urge the speaker to use his position in the House to have the rules changed. He doesn't hesitate to speak out on other "civil rights."

It is not surprising that the House committee handling tax scandals is in the throes of a controversy over whether to continue its hearings. Democrats favorable to the Administration fear the damaging effect that continued hearings may have on the political prospects of their party. Other Democrats, with a broad-gauged viewpoint, want the hearings to go on. They believe, as do the Republicans, that it is better to get all the facts before the people and identify the guilty rather than to let the public suspect that there are many more who are hiding behind administration protection.

Candor with the public is essential if distrust and suspicion are to be erased. It so happens that Democrats like Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, Senator Hoey of North Carolina, Senator McCarran of Nevada and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas have been leaders in recent congressional investigations. Some party spokesmen have emphasized this to show that the Democrats were cleaning their own house, letting the chips fall where they may.

The events of the last few days, however, suggest that the Democratic administration, alarmed by the series of exposures and fearful of more of them in the campaign months to come, is now making an effort to keep the tax scandals out of the headlines. Undoubtedly this will lead to public accusations on the floor of the Senate and the House and a further spreading of accusations. It is significant that Senator Williams of Delaware, Republican, for example, is putting out certain evidence in periodic speeches before the Senate. More of that kind of tactics can be expected if the House committee's hearings on irregularities in the tax bureau are curtailed or terminated.

If it had not been for the coincident stopping of the radio broadcasting and the televising of the hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the situation might not have been so fully dramatized to the public. The voters in Michigan, for example, where some Communistic activity has been detected, will wonder why suddenly even radio broadcasts—previously permitted—are now banned. It will be argued that the administration is afraid to have extensive coverage of the hearings. Newspapers cannot possibly print every day the same number of words that can be reported in a couple hours broadcasting. There is also a certain dramatic intimacy which the listener or viewer enjoys in connection with radio or television. Unquestionably the administration is afraid of the consequences of widespread publicity.

This is an issue the people generally can understand, and no bigger political blunder has been made by the administration than to reveal that the subject came up at a White House conference attended by the speaker of the House and yet no move was made to open up the channels of news to the public. An administration which has issued a gag order on its own officials unprecedented in severity—an edict which has been challenged by the press of the nation—can hardly expect its statements in the campaign to gain credence. Instead, the charge of the opposition will get wider publicity than might otherwise have been the case.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 29—A few years ago, the Pacific Northwest was suffering a most difficult readjustment. Unprecedented wartime expansion seemed likely to end in complete collapse. Unemployment had reached serious proportions. Active shipyards, giant aircraft factories and war fabricating plants shut down.

In these weekly articles I seldom single out any one section for specific mention. Our American economy is interrelated to so great an extent, that every section is largely dependent on other sections. However, I thing that there is a lesson for all sections to learn based upon the recent statistics and experiences of the Pacific Northwest.

Prewar Situation

Prior to 1940, the region was almost entirely dependent for its prosperity on selling its raw materials. Its products were mostly shipped eastward in a raw state for processing and distribution to more profitable mass markets.

Here was an important lumber district, but all its lumber was shipped east in the raw state. Rich northwest farm lands supplied a large part of America's fruit and grain, but often at a loss. Copper, zinc, lead, silver, gold and antimony were scooped from its mines and shipped elsewhere for refining and fabricating. Fishing, especially for salmon, was big business. But, manufacturing industries were badly needed for lasting strength.

Wartime Experience

Expansion for war needs stimulated manufacturing industries temporarily. Aircraft factories mushroomed overnight. A full-blown aluminum industry sprang up, and there was a new plutonium plant at Hanford. Ferro-alloy and other electro-process war industries were started. Huge power requirements pushed ahead hydro-utility construction. Population growth kept pace with industrial expansion. People rushed in from adjoining sections to get employment. There could have been a very bad slump when the war ended.

There were no established peacetime products or markets to which the industries and workers could return. However, instead of a slump, the area has forged ahead to new heights, due to the enterprise and courage of its business leaders. Labor today is even scarce in some lines and net migration into the area has continued high.

Postwar Events

Aided by extensive research and these few businessmen, their raw materials are now going into finished goods. Prewar, no aluminum was produced in the Pacific Northwest; today nearly half of all our aluminum comes from this area. Food processing has been emphasized to take advantage of the area's growing output of agricultural products. Its hustling businessmen are making it the center of the new frozen foods industry. They are starting new flour mills, new canning plants, and other industries to employ nearly twice as many workers as in prewar 1939. This proves again that every community depends upon the ability and courage of about 5% of its people.

Furniture production has become a big industry utilizing the region's lumber resources. Paper and pulp industries have expanded 50% since 1940, while the chemical industry is being doubled. Other industries have been induced to move into the region to decentralize operations, and be closer to raw material supplies. Electric power output, despite tremendous growth, is being further increased.

Important Lesson

New stores, laundries, filling stations and restaurants have been financed by forward looking citizens before they were really needed. This has all occurred in an area which seemed to be on the brink of a depression only some five years ago. Don't let any community, where this column is printed, get discouraged under any conditions.

No one examining the situation in 1947 would have been willing to forecast such a rate of growth. Today, similarly, there are other regions, as well as inventions and ideas, which stand on the threshold of most rapid growth. Our frontiers never really pass; the experience of the Pacific Northwest shows that the brightest opportunities often lie where the prospects seem least promising.

So They Say...

It is the duty of every Democrat to see that his government does not fall into the hands of those Republicans who think a few dollars off the tax bill is more important than building a defense that will preserve our liberty against any threat.

When you need every trick in a suit, you must often play it in wide-open style. When you can afford to give up one trick in the suit, however, it is often possible to take out some insurance against a bad break or a bad guess.

For example, consider the club suit in the hand shown today. If you need all five clubs, your best chance is to take two finesses through East in the hope that he has both the queen and the jack.

If you need only four clubs, however, your percentage play is to lay down the ace first and then enter dummy to lead the nine through East. The intention is to let the nine ride if East follows suit with a low club.

When Larry Hirsch, well-known New York expert, played this hand, he saw the percentage play in clubs but this did not blind him to another percentage play in a different suit!

West opened the queen of spades, and Hirsch won with the king. He saw that he might make his contract with two spades, two hearts, one diamond, and four clubs. He therefore began the clubs correctly by laying down the ace.

Many a player would not enter dummy with a heart to the king in order to return the nine of clubs. East would show out, and South would have to put up the king of clubs hastily in order to go after the diamonds. But now South would be at the mercy of his guess in diamonds.

Hirsch eliminated this guesswork by making the percentage play in diamonds. After winning the second trick with the ace of clubs, he entered dummy by leading a diamond to the ace.

This careful play was rewarded when East dropped the jack of diamonds. This made it clear that four diamond tricks could be won if the suit were continued. Hence Hirsch continued the diamonds and made his contract with an over trick by winning four diamonds and two tricks in each of the other suits.

Would Curb Thefts

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—A bill aimed at curbing thefts of automobile license tabs or plates appears to have a good chance of passage in the Legislature. The measure introduced yesterday, would authorize suspension or revocation of the driver's license or motor vehicle registration of anyone convicted of stealing 1952 tabs or regular plates.

There are 17,464 wires in each of the cables supporting the San Francisco-Oakland bridge.

An Ulster County Believe-It-or-Not

The sheriff's office is investigating an accident in which an automobile apparently left the Lucas avenue extension and came to rest on its wheels in the fields about 175 feet from the road.

The automobile displayed license plates UL 75-09, which Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg ascertained from the Motor Vehicle Bureau this morning were issued to Allan R. Houser of R.D. High Falls, for a 1949 Ford sedan.

The top photo is where the auto came to rest off the roadway. Arrow in the bottom photo indicates where the vehicle passed between a pole and a tree.

Sheriff's office men were called at 7:05 p. m. Wednesday, but found no one in the vicinity when they arrived.

Investigators tracing the auto's tracks concluded the automobile, headed west, went off the road to its right, jumped a distance of 15 or 20 feet without touching anything, landed in a ditch, continued along the embankment, passing between a telephone pole and tree and over a large boulder, then swerved across the highway between two large trees and down the hill about 175 feet. It did not turn over. The right front door, windshield and under part of the car were damaged, sheriff's men said.

Called Leader of Gang

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Charles A. Rizzo, 48, held last night on charges of forgery and grand larceny, was described by detectives as the leader of a forgery gang which fraudulently obtained more than $100,000 from east coast banks. Rizzo, who police said has a record of six previous arrests but no convictions on charges of theft, forgery and passing bad checks, was arrested as he allegedly attempted to have a young business messenger cash a worthless $400 check for him. Police said Rizzo and accomplices forged the names of 89 bank depositors to checks during the past two years and cashed them, at the rate of about $1,000 a week, for the past two years.

It's a HONEY for the MONEY

Can you imagine this—

A car with Buick's power, Buick's size, Buick's room and Buick's big-car roadability—at a price down where anyone with the price of a new car can reach it?

How about coming in and looking it over?

Some things you'll need to see—such as the smartest new fabrics and interior trims that these swift beauties have ever offered.

Or a long list of brand-new conveniences, developed by Buick's engineers this year.

Some things you'll need to try—such as Wide-Band brakes—new this year on the SPECIAL, and also on SUPER and ROADMASTER.

Some things you'll need to feel—such as the Million Dollar Ride, so called because it cost Buick this much and more in cold cash to perfect the 15 engineering features that give it a road-hugging smoothness—cushion your going like a million dollars' worth of velvet beneath the wheels.

Or the effortless ease of Dynaflow Drive.*

Some things you'll want to sample—such as the hoodful of power—the power of the mighty and thrifty Fireball 8 Engine—a valve-in-head that makes the most of high compression, gets good mileage from gas.

Some things you'll want to compare—such as delivered prices—and to help you with this one—we print sample prices here.

Our welcome mat's out. Why not come in soon and get set for a thrilling year?

When you need every trick in a suit, you must often play it in wide-open style. When you can afford to give up one trick in the suit, however, it is often possible to take out some insurance against a bad break or a bad guess.

For example, consider the club suit in the hand shown today. If you need all five clubs, your best chance is to take two finesses through East in the hope that he has both the queen and the jack.

If you need only four clubs, however, your percentage play is to lay down the ace first and then enter dummy to lead the nine through East. The intention is to let the nine ride if East follows suit with a low club.

When Larry Hirsch, well-known New York expert, played this hand, he saw the percentage play in clubs but this did not blind him to another percentage play in a different suit!

West opened the queen of spades, and Hirsch won with the king. He saw that he might make his contract with two spades, two hearts, one diamond, and four clubs. He therefore began the clubs correctly by laying down the ace.

Many a player would not enter dummy with a heart to the king in order to return the nine of clubs. East would show out, and South would have to put up the king of clubs hastily in order to go after the diamonds. But now South would be at the mercy of his guess in diamonds.

Hirsch eliminated this guesswork by making the percentage play in diamonds. After winning the second trick with the ace of clubs, he entered dummy by leading a diamond to the ace.

This careful play was rewarded when East dropped the jack of diamonds. This made it clear that four diamond tricks could be won if the suit were continued. Hence Hirsch continued the diamonds and made his contract with an over trick by winning four diamonds and two tricks in each of the other suits.

Would Curb Thefts

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—A bill aimed at curbing thefts of automobile license tabs or plates appears to have a good chance of passage in the Legislature. The measure introduced yesterday, would authorize suspension or revocation of the driver's license or motor vehicle registration of anyone convicted of stealing 1952 tabs or regular plates.

There are 17,464 wires in each of the cables supporting the San Francisco-Oakland bridge.

An Ulster County Believe-It-or-Not

The sheriff's office is investigating an accident in which an automobile apparently left the Lucas avenue extension and came to rest on its wheels in the fields about 175 feet from the road.

The automobile displayed license plates UL 75-09, which Under Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg ascertained from the Motor Vehicle Bureau this morning were issued to Allan R. Houser of R.D. High Falls, for a 1949 Ford sedan.

The top photo is where the auto came to rest off the roadway. Arrow in the bottom photo indicates where the vehicle passed between a pole and a tree.

Sheriff's office men were called at 7:05 p. m. Wednesday, but found no one in the vicinity when they arrived.

Investigators tracing the auto's tracks concluded the automobile, headed west, went off the road to its right, jumped a distance of 15 or 20 feet without touching anything, landed in a ditch, continued along the embankment, passing between a telephone pole and tree and over a large boulder, then swerved across the highway between two large trees and down the hill about 175 feet. It did not turn over. The right front door, windshield and under part of the car were damaged, sheriff's men said.

Called Leader of Gang

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Charles A. Rizzo, 48, held last night on charges of forgery and grand larceny, was described by detectives as the leader of a forgery gang which fraudulently obtained more than $100,000 from east coast banks. Rizzo, who police said has a record of six previous arrests but no convictions on charges of theft, forgery and passing bad checks, was arrested as he allegedly attempted to have a young business messenger cash a worthless $400 check for him. Police said Rizzo and accomplices forged the names of 89 bank depositors to checks during the past two years and cashed them, at the rate of about $1,000 a week, for the past two years.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The pigeon story in this column several weeks ago brought various responses. John Parslow of 28 Flatbush avenue said he had one of the nets that were used for netting pigeons some 100 years ago. It is about 12 by 15 feet. It came from Boiceville and was used by Ike Davis up there to catch wild pigeons. It has round lead on ends to hold it down. He thinks it is made from homespun linen thread. Out in Stone Ridge, he said there used to be a man who set up nets for pigeons.

Myron S. Teller of 155 Pearl street on seeing the Feb. 11th Freeman adv. of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric on Edison's favorite invention, the phonograph, he wrote me the following: "Seldom does the real inventor get the credit . . when I was a young lad I called at the shop of Charles Carter on Wall street (now occupied by the Grand Union grocery) to get a toy locomotive repaired. Mr. Carter repaired watches and many other things. He was a genius, but his main interest was in inventions. That one day that I called, he was demonstrating the phonograph to two men, and I heard and saw one of them talk into a funnel which was registering on the wax cylinder, and afterwards again heard and saw the machine render the same words and voice, repeated as spoken, into the record."

Mr. Teller continues his eyewitness account with a further statement: "Later on, I learned from his son, Charles Carter, Jr., that his father sold the invention to Thomas A. Edison, outright, for $500. Edison, no doubt was in a position and did make improvements on this invention, but I recall the wax cylinder phonograph, as I saw was made and used for a number of years before the disc type came into use, and still is used for office dictaphone purposes."

The advertisement stated that Thomas Alva Edison was born on February 11, 1847 and died October 18, 1931. The phonograph was perfected for market use in 1877 about 75 years ago. This is not the first time I heard about Carter, the Kingston inventor. I wonder if his son, Charles Carter, Jr., kept any records of the dates of his inventions and which were sold to whom. If any part of the phonograph did come from a Kingston inventor, surely Kingstonians should have knowledge of it and brag a little. No doubt many old timers remember Mr. Carter and can tell me more.

I saw one of those old time phonographs at Mrs. Harry Howard's home at 48 Broadway, as they lived in the same building we did then. It interested me, because before that I was familiar with a disc type, hand-winding Victor which my grandparents had in Port Ewen. I still own that old hand-winding machine with the big horn. Remember how it used to run down if you did not wind it in time. In the days when I took ballroom dancing lessons from Mrs. MacCausland, she used dance records for music. The fox-trot, one-step and waltzer were in style then. As a rule they were slow and stately.

County Lawyers To Study Trial Expert's Methods

More than 100 lawyers are expected to study trial techniques in a short course at the Court House in Kingston beginning Thursday, March 6. A series of four lectures, in cooperation with the Practising Law Institute of New York city, has been announced by Howard C. St. John, president of the Ulster County Bar Association.

In clinical fashion the program will cover strategy and tactics before and during trial in handling claims for personal injuries. Charles Kramer, New York lawyer, for many years associated with Gair & Gair and who specializes as trial counsel, will give all the lectures. Sessions are scheduled from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., is chairman of the bar association committee in charge of the program. The lawyers in attendance will use the Institute's printed texts prepared as companion material to the lectures. These will be distributed at the opening session next Thursday, according to Cook.

The schedule of lectures is as follows: March 6, "Pre-Trial Strategy; Medical Aspects"; March 20, "Opening the Trial; Direct Examination"; April 2 (Wednesday), "Cross-Examination"; April 17, "Closing the Trial; Miscellaneous Problems."

"The Ulster County Bar Association is offering this series of lectures to lawyers in the Hudson valley and adjoining areas," said St. John, "as an opportunity to increase professional skill and effectiveness, just as hundreds of other lawyers do each year by attending the Practising Law Institute's intensive summer sessions, Saturday forums and other programs in New York. The instruction consists of step-by-step explanations of trial experts' methods. Each session will have a question and answer period."

The tuition fee for the course includes the cost of the texts. Enrollments are being received at the office of Howard C. St. John, 280 Wall street, Kingston.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The pigeon story in this column several weeks ago brought various responses. John Parslow of 28 Flatbush avenue said he had one of the nets that were used for netting pigeons some 100 years ago. It is about 12 by 15 feet. It came from Boiceville and was used by Ike Davis up there to catch wild pigeons. It has round lead on ends to hold it down. He thinks it is made from homespun linen thread. Out in Stone Ridge, he said there used to be a man who set up nets for pigeons.

Myron S. Teller of 155 Pearl street on seeing the Feb. 11th Freeman adv. of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric on Edison's favorite invention, the phonograph, he wrote me the following: "Seldom does the real inventor get the credit . . when I was a young lad I called at the shop of Charles Carter on Wall street (now occupied by the Grand Union grocery) to get a toy locomotive repaired. Mr. Carter repaired watches and many other things. He was a genius, but his main interest was in inventions. That one day that I called, he was demonstrating the phonograph to two men, and I heard and saw one of them talk into a funnel which was registering on the wax cylinder, and afterwards again heard and saw the machine render the same words and voice, repeated as spoken, into the record."

Mr. Teller continues his eyewitness account with a further statement: "Later on, I learned from his son, Charles Carter, Jr., that his father sold the invention to Thomas A. Edison, outright, for $500. Edison, no doubt was in a position and did make improvements on this invention, but I recall the wax cylinder phonograph, as I saw was made and used for a number of years before the disc type came into use, and still is used for office dictaphone purposes."

The advertisement stated that Thomas Alva Edison was born on February 11, 1847 and died October 18, 1931. The phonograph was perfected for market use in 1877 about 75 years ago. This is not the first time I heard about Carter, the Kingston inventor. I wonder if his son, Charles Carter, Jr., kept any records of the dates of his inventions and which were sold to whom. If any part of the phonograph did come from a Kingston inventor, surely Kingstonians should have knowledge of it and brag a little. No doubt many old timers remember Mr. Carter and can tell me more.

I saw one of those old time phonographs at Mrs. Harry Howard's home at 48 Broadway, as they lived in the same building we did then. It interested me, because before that I was familiar with a disc type, hand-winding Victor which my grandparents had in Port Ewen. I still own that old hand-winding machine with the big horn. Remember how it used to run down if you did not wind it in time. In the days when I took ballroom dancing lessons from Mrs. MacCausland, she used dance records for music. The fox-trot, one-step and waltzer were in style then. As a rule they were slow and stately.

County Lawyers To Study Trial Expert's Methods

More than 100 lawyers are expected to study trial techniques in a short course at the Court House in Kingston beginning Thursday, March 6. A series of four lectures, in cooperation with the Practising Law Institute of New York city, has been announced by Howard C. St. John, president of the Ulster County Bar Association.

In clinical fashion the program will cover strategy and tactics before and during trial in handling claims for personal injuries. Charles Kramer, New York lawyer, for many years associated with Gair & Gair and who specializes as trial counsel, will give all the lectures. Sessions are scheduled from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., is chairman of the bar association committee in charge of the program. The lawyers in attendance will use the Institute's printed texts prepared as companion material to the lectures. These will be distributed at the opening session next Thursday, according to Cook.

The schedule of lectures is as follows: March 6, "Pre-Trial Strategy; Medical Aspects"; March 20, "Opening the Trial; Direct Examination"; April 2 (Wednesday), "Cross-Examination"; April 17, "Closing the Trial; Miscellaneous Problems."

"The Ulster County Bar Association is offering this series of lectures to lawyers in the Hudson valley and adjoining areas," said St. John, "as an opportunity to increase professional skill and effectiveness, just as hundreds of other lawyers do each year by attending the Practising Law Institute's intensive summer sessions, Saturday forums and other programs in New York. The instruction consists of step-by-step explanations of trial experts' methods. Each session will have a question and answer period."

The tuition fee for the course includes the cost of the texts. Enrollments are being received at the office of Howard C. St. John, 280 Wall street, Kingston.

Committee Discusses Queen Juliana's Visit With State Department Representative

W. Anderson Carl, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the visit of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, with other members of his committee and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, met Wednesday with a representative of the State Department to discuss details for the visit on April 5.

Tentative plans call for arrival of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, April 5, as announced by Baron J. A. de Vos Van Steenwijk, Dutch consul general to the United States, at the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 7, when the consul general was guest speaker.

The details of the plan were discussed Wednesday and those arrangements will be communicated by the State Department to The Netherlands where final approval of arrangements will be made by the Dutch government.

Under present plans Queen Juliana will fly from Washington to Stewart Field where she will be met by the official welcoming party and escorted to Kingston, arriving here about 2 p. m. where she will be guest of the city and its 300th anniversary committee.

The Queen is expected to be a guest of Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park over the weekend.

Plan to Attend Concert

Plans are being made for a number of local residents to attend a concert in Newburgh, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the Congregation Agudas Achim, 259 Grand street. Siegfried Landau will conduct the Choral Society of Temple Emanuel, Paterson, N. J., comprising 75 voices. The public is invited to attend.

St. Ursula Students Present Successful Comedy

The Dramatic Committee of the Academy of St. Ursula presented Booth Tarkington's Seventeen as its annual play on Sunday and Monday evenings in St. Mary's Auditorium. Both performances drew large and appreciative audiences. The delightful comedy depicting the growing pains of teenagers at the turn of the century proved highly entertaining to old and young alike as they watched Willie Baxter try to impress the dignity of his 17 years on an unresponsive father and understanding mother.

The prattling of the omnipresent Jane, the inquisitive little sister, and the exasperation of Mr. Parcher complicated matters for Willie as he and his friends fall captive to the charm of Lola Pratt, the baby talk lady, who is the summer guest of the Parcher's daughter, May.

Genesis, the Baxter's hired man, and the boys and girls who shared Willie's 17th summer played an important role in making Seventeen a refreshing, amusing performance.

Authentic costumes and setting, especially the porch scene complete with morning glories and hollyhocks, added to the charm of the turn of the century atmosphere, as did a group from the St. Ursula Glee Club, singing between the acts, such old favorites as The Old Mill Stream and My Merry Oldsmobile.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMETHING TO JOIN

No question sent me is so hard to answer as the following: "I am a widow and have just recently moved to a large city in order to take a position. Having lived in a small town all my life where everyone was very friendly, I find the people here very cold and aloof and I am terribly lonely. Will you please tell me how I, as a stranger, can go about meeting people without being considered a pusher? I would appreciate it so very much if you could help me."

The best move you can make is to go to the church of your denomination and join some of the activities. You cannot possibly go often without finding a few people who are friendly. Further than this, you could join the Red Cross or some other organization or club that specializes in something you are particularly interested in. Through this you surely will meet others with similar interests.

No Fingers!

Dear Mrs. Post: When French chops are served with paper frills, are these to aid in holding the chop bone? With what should one hold a chicken wing or a drumstick?

Answer: Paper frills are solely for decoration to cover the end of a bone that is ugly. It is never good table manners to pick up any sort of meat in the fingers (except, of course, at a picnic). Whether it be a chop, a chicken wing or the drumstick, you should be expert enough to cut the bones bare with a knife and fork.

Tuxedo at Fifteen

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, aged 15, is going to his first formal dance this spring and I would like very much to know what he should wear. I think he is much too young for a tuxedo, but that is what he wants to wear. Will you advise me? If the tuxedo is not correct, will you please tell me what he should wear in its place?

Answer: If all his friends are wearing tuxedos, then he should, if possible, have one too—unless he is very small for his age.

St. James Woman's Society Studies The Book of Acts

A special Bible class was formed Wednesday at the regular meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the St. James Methodist Church. The Book of Acts will be studied by the group at 11 a. m. Wednesdays throughout the Lenten season.

Dr. Ralph M. Houston introduced the subject and confined his remarks for the most part to the background existing at the time the Book of Acts was written. His purpose was to give the students a better understanding for further study.

Primarily, the purpose of the writing was religious, said Dr. Houston, but also to give an orderly account of events. The record has had and still enjoys a tremendous historical value. It is considered a fairly accurate record, although there are huge gaps.

At the afternoon session, Miss Eunice C. Wilson, formerly associated with the branch circulation department of the New York library, reviewed the last chapters of the book, The Family a Christian's Concern.

In her summation, she commented on the mental, physical and spiritual aspects, the personal and social responsibilities and said one of the first duties was to make a child realize the important role he plays in the community.

Miss Wilson spoke of the mental health, emotional maturity and psychological condition of children in concentration camps and the steps necessary to be taken in their rehabilitation. She observed the situation in the home is constantly changing but that the members must learn to live together in peace and harmony.

Offering suggestions as to how the community may serve the family, she remarked that the family must have a goal for itself and the community will be what the family makes it.

It was also pointed out that the church can serve the family by means of various clubs and organizations. Miss Wilson concluded her talk by saying all races and religions must be understood and that cooperation is most important and necessary.

Catholic Daughters of America Observe 40th Anniversary at Governor Clinton

Court Santa Maria 164, Catholic Daughters of America observed their 40th anniversary Monday evening with a banquet attended by 200 members and guests at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Members of the clergy present as honored guests included the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Stephen P. Connelly, the Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain; the Rev. Joseph A. Wall, C.Ss.R., the Rev. James A. Dunnigan, the Rev. Edward W. Radford, the Rev. Theodore Schulz, the Rev. James L. Riordan, the Rev. James Murphy, the Rev. Joseph J. O'Rourke, and the Rev. John D. Simmons.

At the time of the organization of the local Court, Joseph F. Sullivan, city historian, was Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus and assisted in its formation. Also a guest of honor, Mr. Sullivan reviewed the history of Court Santa Maria in a brief but interesting manner.

Other pertinent remarks were contributed by Mrs. Edward Loughran, the Court's first historian.

The financial status of the Court with its numerous charitable projects was presented by Mrs. Arthur Ballard, financial secretary.

Court Commended

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman, grand regent, presided at the banquet and extended a welcome greeting to those present and expressed her appreciation for the unusually large attendance. The guest speakers, Mrs. Mary Gaffney, district deputy and Mrs. Otto Bensing, state treasurer, were then introduced. Mrs. Gorman was commended by Mrs. Gaffney for the splendid achievements of the Court under her guidance. Mrs. Bensing praised the charitable projects undertaken by the Court.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Connelly spoke briefly about the organization and its purpose as observed by him during the years he has been in the city. The Rev. James Murphy affiliated with the Redemptorist Order in Paraguay and now vacationing with his family in this city, also expressed his appreciation to the Court for its many worthy charities. The Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain, concluded his brief talk with a blessing for the furtherance of the charitable work and spiritual welfare of the members.

Mrs. Clementine Nessel and her musicians provided a delightful program of dinner music. As soloist Mrs. Einar Mundt of Woodstock, accompanied by Mrs. Nessel, sang a variety of selections for the appreciative audience.

The festivities of the evening ended with Benediction given by the Rev. Austin V. Carey.

Committee Discusses Queen Juliana's Visit With State Department Representative

W. Anderson Carl, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the visit of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, with other members of his committee and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, met Wednesday with a representative of the State Department to discuss details for the visit on April 5.

Tentative plans call for arrival of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, April 5, as announced by Baron J. A. de Vos Van Steenwijk, Dutch consul general to the United States, at the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 7, when the consul general was guest speaker.

The details of the plan were discussed Wednesday and those arrangements will be communicated by the State Department to The Netherlands where final approval of arrangements will be made by the Dutch government.

Under present plans Queen Juliana will fly from Washington to Stewart Field where she will be met by the official welcoming party and escorted to Kingston, arriving here about 2 p. m. where she will be guest of the city and its 300th anniversary committee.

The Queen is expected to be a guest of Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park over the weekend.

Plan to Attend Concert

Plans are being made for a number of local residents to attend a concert in Newburgh, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the Congregation Agudas Achim, 259 Grand street. Siegfried Landau will conduct the Choral Society of Temple Emanuel, Paterson, N. J., comprising 75 voices. The public is invited to attend.

St. Ursula Students Present Successful Comedy

The Dramatic Committee of the Academy of St. Ursula presented Booth Tarkington's Seventeen as its annual play on Sunday and Monday evenings in St. Mary's Auditorium. Both performances drew large and appreciative audiences. The delightful comedy depicting the growing pains of teenagers at the turn of the century proved highly entertaining to old and young alike as they watched Willie Baxter try to impress the dignity of his 17 years on an unresponsive father and understanding mother.

The prattling of the omnipresent Jane, the inquisitive little sister, and the exasperation of Mr. Parcher complicated matters for Willie as he and his friends fall captive to the charm of Lola Pratt, the baby talk lady, who is the summer guest of the Parcher's daughter, May.

Genesis, the Baxter's hired man, and the boys and girls who shared Willie's 17th summer played an important role in making Seventeen a refreshing, amusing performance.

Authentic costumes and setting, especially the porch scene complete with morning glories and hollyhocks, added to the charm of the turn of the century atmosphere, as did a group from the St. Ursula Glee Club, singing between the acts, such old favorites as The Old Mill Stream and My Merry Oldsmobile.

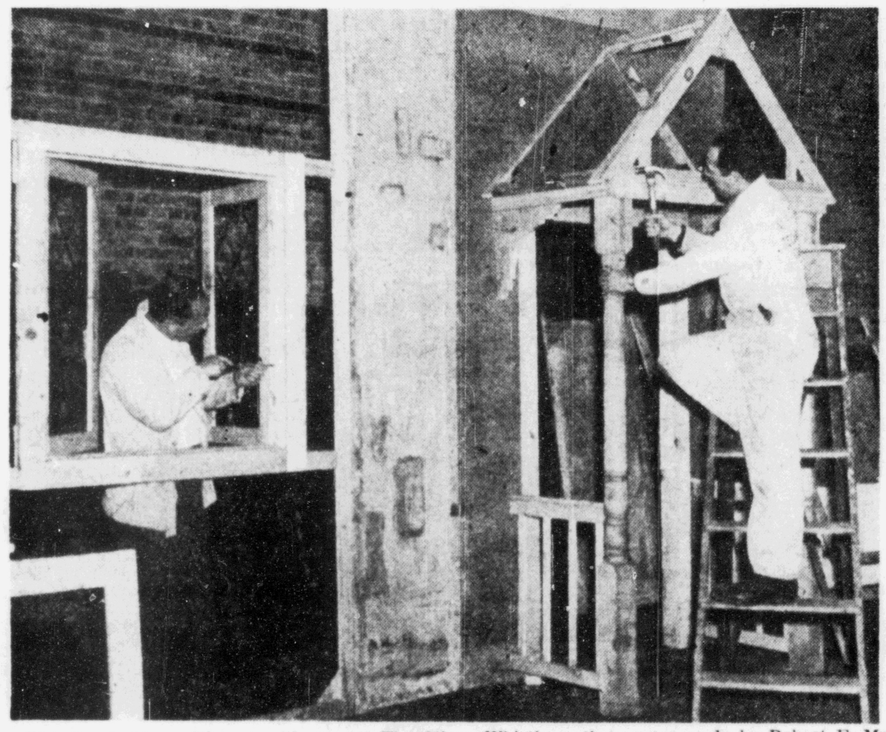
Coach House Officers Construct Set for Silver Whistle



The Coach House Players will present The Silver Whistle, a three-act comedy by Robert E. McEnroe, at the Kingston High School auditorium, Saturday March 8, at 8:30 p. m. The production is now in rehearsal under the direction of Houston Richards. Irving Rose, president, has designed the set for the vehicle and is shown, right, in the photo, being assisted in its construction by George Betts, vice-president. (Freeman photo)

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMETHING TO JOIN

No question sent me is so hard to answer as the following: "I am a widow and have just recently moved to a large city in order to take a position. Having lived in a small town all my life where everyone was very friendly, I find the people here very cold and aloof and I am terribly lonely. Will you please tell me how I, as a stranger, can go about meeting people without being considered a pusher? I would appreciate it so very much if you could help me."

The best move you can make is to go to the church of your denomination and join some of the activities. You cannot possibly go often without finding a few people who are friendly. Further than this, you could join the Red Cross or some other organization or club that specializes in something you are particularly interested in. Through this you surely will meet others with similar interests.

No Fingers!

Dear Mrs. Post: When French chops are served with paper frills, are these to aid in holding the chop bone? With what should one hold a chicken wing or a drumstick?

Answer: Paper frills are solely for decoration to cover the end of a bone that is ugly. It is never good table manners to pick up any sort of meat in the fingers (except, of course, at a picnic). Whether it be a chop, a chicken wing or the drumstick, you should be expert enough to cut the bones bare with a knife and fork.

Tuxedo at Fifteen

Dear Mrs. Post: My son, aged 15, is going to his first formal dance this spring and I would like very much to know what he should wear. I think he is much too young for a tuxedo, but that is what he wants to wear. Will you advise me? If the tuxedo is not correct, will you please tell me what he should wear in its place?

Answer: If all his friends are wearing tuxedos, then he should, if possible, have one too—unless he is very small for his age.

Eight Persons Are Killed

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Feb. 29 (AP)—Eight persons last night were reported killed and 23 injured in the crash of a Panair do Brasil airliner trying to land in a fog at Uberlandia, 425 miles northwest of Rio. An airline announcement said there were no non-Brazilians or well-known persons among the 27 passengers and crew of four.

his demand for a special $1.50-a-gallon tax on aperitifs and after-dinner liqueurs.

In hunting a new premier, custom required Auriol to consult first with Edouard Herriot, speaker of the assembly, and Gaston Monnerville, president of the Upper House Council of the Republic. Both belong to Faure's radical Socialist Party.

After those talks he goes to the heart of the crisis in a talk with Jacques Soustelle, the brilliant young floor leader of De Gaulle's party. At 40, Soustelle is three years younger than Faure, who himself is considered almost a child prodigy in French politics.

A spokesman for Auriol, aware of the urgency of finding a new government, said the president would spend all day seeing political leaders and expected to wind up his conferences by evening.

That did not necessarily mean he would find a man willing to take on the premiership.

Bellingers Show Gains; Dog Found

The conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Bellinger of Schenectady were both listed as "fairly good" at Kingston Hospital this morning, and their Boxer dog, which escaped when they were injured in an accident Wednesday evening, has been located.

The dog, a valued pet, was found near the Rudolf Soltys general store in Lake Katrine by Mrs. Soltys about 6:30 p. m. Thursday. She said the dog showed no injuries as a result of the accident, which occurred near the store at Lake Katrine at 6:05 p. m. Wednesday. She notified the Bellingers of the dog's recovery and turned it over to state police, who, at the request of its owners, placed it in the care of Dr. Alvin Evans, veterinarian, pending their release from the hospital.

Tabor Is Given Suspended Term

Accused of altering a check, Warren F. Tabor, 24, of Maple Hill pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge and was given a 10-day suspended sentence by Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the town of Rosendale Thursday afternoon. Tabor agreed to make restitution, according to the sheriff's office.

The complaint against Tabor charged him with raising a $30 check he received from the Kingston News Leader publishers, by whom he had been employed, to the amount of $50. The check had been issued on February 8, according to the complaint, which was filed first with Kingston police but was transferred to the sheriff's office because the alteration was allegedly done at Tabor's home in Maple Hill. The arrest was made by County Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Detective Clarence Brophy.

Arnall Will Have

around the violators as opposed to "the principle that citizens accused by the state must be openly and publicly tried."

2. Making enforcement agents "accusers, judge and jury" in deciding the degree of wilfullness and whether the names shall be published.

3. Creating a precedent that "may infect other agencies of government under circumstances not equally safeguarded."

Speaking for the ASNE committee on freedom of information, James Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, wrote OPS that its policy is "a bad and dangerous system." He added:

"We are convinced it is far afield from legitimate responsibility for a government agency to decide what news should be withheld. You are deciding what the people should know.

"The growing tendency in Washington for executives to make unilateral judgments on what is 'public interest' is the object of great concern by the press and the country."

'Would Be Lost'

Pope said that if the OPS practice were extended to "all the offenses against regulations and against law, the basic principle of open charges and open hearings would be forever lost."

Speaking for a similar committee of APME, James Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, criticized the power given enforcement agents.

Under the rule, he said, "enforcement officers are in a position to say to persons accused of violation that the quiet payment of their penalties will avoid unfortunate publicity. * * * even innocent businessmen are likely to prefer the payment."

Wiggins said it seems beneath the dignity of the government to "send out its delegated agents thus to indulge in a form of blackmail and extortion to persuade citizens not to defend themselves under due process."

He said "a community is entitled to know what merchants did not violate the regulations and the only way a community can discover this is by OPS informing of what businessmen did violate them."

He said the OPS policy "sets a precedent—however innocently—for secret accusation, secret trial and secret punishment in a pattern that totalitarian governments have so frequently pursued."

Max R. Hall, OPS assistant director for public information, has told Wiggins that "the facts on this difficult question" will be submitted to Arnall for review soon.

To Dedicate Tree of Life Tonight

At tonight's service in Temple Emanuel, a large canvas by Champanier will be dedicated by Rabbi Bloom. The canvas, called "The Tree of Life," donated by the Sisterhood is to be utilized to raise Temple funds. The monies contributed are to mark joyous occasions such as anniversaries, bar mitzvahs, recovery from illness, the honoring of friends and relatives, or any other affirmative, life-sustaining event. The leaves of the Tree are to be inscribed with the names of the celebrants. These donations are not to be devoted to occasions of sorrow or memorial. According to Mrs. Leone Gross, president of the Sisterhood, the basic message of the tree is the religion in general, and Judaism in particular, should be joy-filled and life-giving. The chairman of the Tree of Life Committee is Mrs. Sidney D. Wolff, and the co-chairman, Mrs. Joseph Honig. The hostess for tonight's Oneg Shabbat is Mrs. Nathan Friedman.

Volunteer Workers To Begin Drive

Throughout the United States a million and a half volunteer workers this week will begin the 1952 Red Cross Fund appeal for an "absolute minimum" of $85,000,000 to carry on the heaviest responsibilities the organization has ever faced except in time of all-out war.

On March 1, under the leadership of Howard C. St. John, fund chairman, the Ulster County Chapter will launch its campaign to raise its quota of $46,400. Approximately 800 volunteers have pledged support to the local chapter and are ready to start solicitation throughout the county.

Those who contribute to the Red Cross find in its services a practical expression of the finest impulse of the human heart—concern for the misfortunes and needs of their fellow men. They help provide lifesaving blood for some neighbor's son on the battlefield and for patients in our civilian hospitals; they help restore both shattered homes and means of livelihood to victims of disaster; they help our servicemen and their families through emergencies both great and small; they help save lives and lessen suffering through training in first aid, water safety and simple nursing skills.

There is no price tage on mercy, on the saving of a human life, or on the good will and friendliness that make us a stronger, more unified nation. Helping your neighbors voluntarily through the American Red Cross is a good demonstration of the democratic spirit in action.

Across the land Red Cross volunteers will soon be knocking on the doors of America.

The following local proclamation was released by the mayor's office:

WHEREAS, the victims of disaster need food, clothing, shelter and medical and nursing care during the early hours after disaster strikes and, in the following days, rehabilitation to help them help themselves back to normal living; and

WHEREAS, the nearly 3½ million men now in the armed forces and veterans and their familes, urgently require the stepped-up services of the American Red Cross; and

WHEREAS, life-giving blood is needed for wounded soldiers in Korea and donors contribute through the Red Cross blood program; and

WHEREAS, countless thousands of Americans must be trained in first aid, home nursing, and as nurse's aides through the knowledge and facilities of the American Red Cross to meet the nation's needs for civil defense; and

WHEREAS, people everywhere need the assistance of other people in times of stress and this assistance is made possible through the Red Cross;

THEREFORE, I, Oscar V. Newkirk, Mayor of the City of Kingston, by virtue of the authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim the month of March as Red Cross Month and now urge all citizens to answer the call and support without reservation, the 1952 Red Cross Fund with generous contributions made through their Red Cross chapter: and I further urge that all men and women of good will remember that the work of this great humanitarian organization is carried out by a million and a half volunteers whose time and skills make it possible for this symbol of man's humanity to man to remain as a guide to all who turn to it in time of need.

his demand for a special $1.50-a-gallon tax on aperitifs and after-dinner liqueurs.

In hunting a new premier, custom required Auriol to consult first with Edouard Herriot, speaker of the assembly, and Gaston Monnerville, president of the Upper House Council of the Republic. Both belong to Faure's radical Socialist Party.

After those talks he goes to the heart of the crisis in a talk with Jacques Soustelle, the brilliant young floor leader of De Gaulle's party. At 40, Soustelle is three years younger than Faure, who himself is considered almost a child prodigy in French politics.

A spokesman for Auriol, aware of the urgency of finding a new government, said the president would spend all day seeing political leaders and expected to wind up his conferences by evening.

That did not necessarily mean he would find a man willing to take on the premiership.

The Lisbon conference "might turn out to be a real starting point toward integration," Vorys said. "At best it will be a stopping point from the stalling which has been going on in Europe the last few months.

Vorys said Acheson was asked how much the European program would cost the United States. The secretary replied, Vorys said, that details could be obtained from W. Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator.

Several congressmen have expressed interest in knowing the American share of the 300 billion dollar defense budget for western Europe which was approved at Lisbon.

Bellingers Show Gains; Dog Found

The conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Bellinger of Schenectady were both listed as "fairly good" at Kingston Hospital this morning, and their Boxer dog, which escaped when they were injured in an accident Wednesday evening, has been located.

The dog, a valued pet, was found near the Rudolf Soltys general store in Lake Katrine by Mrs. Soltys about 6:30 p. m. Thursday. She said the dog showed no injuries as a result of the accident, which occurred near the store at Lake Katrine at 6:05 p. m. Wednesday. She notified the Bellingers of the dog's recovery and turned it over to state police, who, at the request of its owners, placed it in the care of Dr. Alvin Evans, veterinarian, pending their release from the hospital.

Tabor Is Given Suspended Term

Accused of altering a check, Warren F. Tabor, 24, of Maple Hill pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge and was given a 10-day suspended sentence by Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky of the town of Rosendale Thursday afternoon. Tabor agreed to make restitution, according to the sheriff's office.

The complaint against Tabor charged him with raising a $30 check he received from the Kingston News Leader publishers, by whom he had been employed, to the amount of $50. The check had been issued on February 8, according to the complaint, which was filed first with Kingston police but was transferred to the sheriff's office because the alteration was allegedly done at Tabor's home in Maple Hill. The arrest was made by County Investigator Arthur H. Brown and Detective Clarence Brophy.

Arnall Will Have

around the violators as opposed to "the principle that citizens accused by the state must be openly and publicly tried."

2. Making enforcement agents "accusers, judge and jury" in deciding the degree of wilfullness and whether the names shall be published.

3. Creating a precedent that "may infect other agencies of government under circumstances not equally safeguarded."

Speaking for the ASNE committee on freedom of information, James Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, wrote OPS that its policy is "a bad and dangerous system." He added:

"We are convinced it is far afield from legitimate responsibility for a government agency to decide what news should be withheld. You are deciding what the people should know.

"The growing tendency in Washington for executives to make unilateral judgments on what is 'public interest' is the object of great concern by the press and the country."

'Would Be Lost'

Pope said that if the OPS practice were extended to "all the offenses against regulations and against law, the basic principle of open charges and open hearings would be forever lost."

Speaking for a similar committee of APME, James Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, criticized the power given enforcement agents.

Under the rule, he said, "enforcement officers are in a position to say to persons accused of violation that the quiet payment of their penalties will avoid unfortunate publicity. * * * even innocent businessmen are likely to prefer the payment."

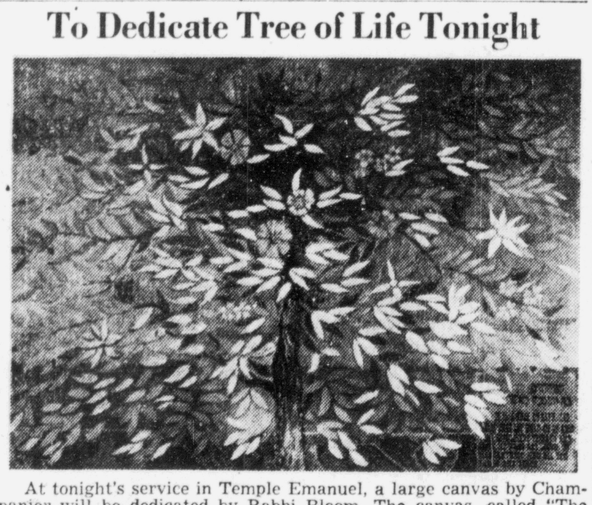
Wiggins said it seems beneath the dignity of the government to "send out its delegated agents thus to indulge in a form of blackmail and extortion to persuade citizens not to defend themselves under due process."

He said "a community is entitled to know what merchants did not violate the regulations and the only way a community can discover this is by OPS informing of what businessmen did violate them."

He said the OPS policy "sets a precedent—however innocently—for secret accusation, secret trial and secret punishment in a pattern that totalitarian governments have so frequently pursued."

Max R. Hall, OPS assistant director for public information, has told Wiggins that "the facts on this difficult question" will be submitted to Arnall for review soon.

To Dedicate Tree of Life Tonight



At tonight's service in Temple Emanuel, a large canvas by Champanier will be dedicated by Rabbi Bloom. The canvas, called "The Tree of Life," donated by the Sisterhood is to be utilized to raise Temple funds. The monies contributed are to mark joyous occasions such as anniversaries, bar mitzvahs, recovery from illness, the honoring of friends and relatives, or any other affirmative, life-sustaining event. The leaves of the Tree are to be inscribed with the names of the celebrants. These donations are not to be devoted to occasions of sorrow or memorial. According to Mrs. Leone Gross, president of the Sisterhood, the basic message of the tree is the religion in general, and Judaism in particular, should be joy-filled and life-giving. The chairman of the Tree of Life Committee is Mrs. Sidney D. Wolff, and the co-chairman, Mrs. Joseph Honig. The hostess for tonight's Oneg Shabbat is Mrs. Nathan Friedman.

Deadline for Entries --- Saturday, March 1

On the eve of the deadline for entries for the New York State bowling championships — Saturday, March 1 at midnight—tournament manager Addison Jones today urged team captains to file completed entry blanks and bowling fees at once.

The manager also made a plea for more singles and doubles entries, pointing out that Kingston entries are falling well below the state average in the minor events.

A compilation this morning revealed that the Kingston Bowling Association's quota of 100 five-man teams will be achieved. More than 85 blanks had been processed by Thursday night and the usual late rush is expected to send the figure beyond the 100-mark.

Schedule Secretary Joe Magnino said today it appeared likely that the Kingston tournament would hit the 1500-mark over the weekend.

Ted Williams and Ralph Kiner Top List of Major Holdouts

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Ted Williams and Ralph Kiner head a small but impressive list of major league baseball stars who have not signed their 1952 contracts.

An Associated Press survey today revealed that 29 players—17 in the American League and 12 in the National—have not come to terms.

The majority will be classified as "holdouts" if they fail to sign by Saturday, the official start of spring training.

Five National League clubs, the champion New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, have all of their players in the fold. Only the Chicago White Sox in the American can make the same boast.

Williams, one of four Red Sox dickering for terms, is scheduled to appear at the Sox' Sarasota base Saturday for a conference with General Manager Joe Cronin.

The high-salaried slugger is due to report to the Marine's May 2 and is seeking a special contract to cover the period until he returns to service.

Parnell Seeks $30,000

Infielders Billy Goodman, Johnny Pesky and pitcher Mel Parnell are the other recalcitrant Red Sox. Goodman is asking $25,000, Pesky $22,500 and Parnell $30,000.

The Pirate star reportedly is aiming for a two-year contract at $70,000 per season, an increase of $5,000 over his 1950-51 salary.

Pitcher Murry Dickson, a 20-game winner, is another Pirate asking for a $5,000 raise. Dickson drew $20,000 last year. Other balking Pirates are pitchers Mel Queen, Fred Strobel, Jim Walsh and infielder-outfielder George Metkovich.

The Philadelphia Athletics have four unsigned players but only shortstop Eddie Joost and first baseman Ferris Fain, the American League batting champion, may prove difficult to please. Infielder Billy Hitchcock and catcher Joe Tipon are the other unsigned A's.

Rizzuto Balks

Shortstop Phil Rizzuto and third baseman Bobby Brown are the lone members of the world champion New York Yankees who haven't signed.

Rizzuto is expected to agree to terms calling for an estimated $45,000 today at St. Petersburg, Fla. Brown is expecting a call any day from the army.

The Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians each have two unsigned players and the Washington Senators one.

Infielder Jerry Priddy and pitcher Hal Newhouser haven't agreed to Tiger terms. Priddy reportedly has been asked to take a $5,000 to $7,000 cut from his 1951 pay of $32,000. Newhouser claims he has signed but the club hasn't received his contract.

The two Brownies still out are infielder Bill Jennings and pitcher John Hetki. Both toiled in the minors last year and probably will sign before the deadline.

Coan Seeks Raise

Outfielder Gil Coan is Washington's only displeased athlete. Coan, who drew $14,000 last year wants more of a raise than offered.

Cleveland's abstainers are infielders Bob Avila and George Stirnweiss. Avila has delayed reporting because of Mexican passport troubles and is believed holding out for $20,000.

The Philadelphia Phillies have four unsigned players. They include three-fourths of the regular infield— shortstop Gran Hamner, third baseman Willie Jones and second baseman Connie Ryan. Relief pitcher Jim Konstanty is the other unsigned Phil. Big Jim no doubt has been asked to take a healthy cut from his 1951 stipend of $18,000.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger Manager Chuck Dressen believes that his bench will be stronger this year if outfielders George Shuba and Don Williams stick.

Said Dressen today:

Shuba's a lefthanded hitter who can hit a long ball in the pinch. Williams improved toward the end of the season, so he'll give us some reserve right-handed hitting strength."

Mickey the Switcher

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Switch-hitter Mickey Mantle has the best chance of any New York Yankee outfielder to play regularly in Manager Casey Stengel's two-platoon system.

"I'm naturally a right-handed hitter," said Mantle.. "But I'm just as comfortable hitting left-handed. Last year at Kansas City I was better hitting right-handed. With the Yankees I was better hitting left-handed."

Giant Darkhorse

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 29 (AP)—Rom Samford, the darkhorse in the battle for the second base berth on the New York Giants, has made quite an impression on Manager Leo Durocher.

"He has quick hands," Durocher said. "He smothers the ball and gets it away fast. You can't hit anything past him, either. They tell me he has something of the Stanky style in him. That's another thing I like about him."

Dave Williams and Bob Hofman are the other candidates striving for the job vacated by Ed Stanky, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Stephens in Shape

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau today was confident that one of the Boston Red Sox' 1952 problems had disappeared. On learning that Vern Stephens, handicapped by a torn thigh muscle last season had reported in top physical shape, Boudreau listed him as the team's ranking shortstop.

Now Boudreau can settle down to picking Bobby Doerr's second base successor from a group that includes Johnny Pesky, Billy Goodman and rookies Ted Lepcio and Joe Bevan.

Doby at First

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 29 (AP)—Cleveland Manager Al Lopez was tinkering with the notion today of using Larry Doby as a reserve first baseman.

Harry Simpson spelled Luke Easter at first last season, but Lopez thinks maybe he'll restrict Harry to the outfield. Doby broke into the big leagues as a first baseman and was converted to the outfield.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' training reached the intra-squad game stage today with six innings planned between a team headed by Red Schoendienst and another by third-sacker Billy Johnson. . . .Enos Slaughter has been ordered not to run for a while because of a bad knee, but Dr. I. C. Middleman says it isn't serious. It's a knee he injured several years ago.

Line to Testify

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Another former Kentucky basketball player—James Line—was due to arrive here by plane today to testify before a grand jury investigating the "fixing" scandals. Line, an engineer with an oil company in Eureka, Kans., has denied any involvment in the scandals. Walter Hirsch and Bill Spivey, two of his former teammates, already have testified.

Schayes Returns To Nats Lineup

(By The Associated Press)

There was good news in the camp of the Syracuse Nationals today. The Eastern division leaders of the National Basketball Association gained another player—and a good one.

Not that Adolph Schayes wasn't on the team all along. But he broke his right wrist on Feb. 8 and had the Nats plenty worried. He got back into action for 28 minutes last night and tallied 14 points as the Nats whipped the Fort Wayne Pistons, 88-83.

George King scored 18 points for the Nats while Freddie Schaus was high man for the losers with 17.

Schayes' return was not the best of tidings for the Boston Celtics, who trail the Nats by two-and-one-half games. The Celtics, however, polished off the Rochester Royals, the Western division leaders, 91-72, in the only other game on the card.

Easy Ed Macauley found the range for 20 points for the Celtics. It was a close game for the first period, with the lead changing hands six times but as it progressed, the Celtics pulled away.

Rams Notch 10th, Win by 101 to 23

The Salvation Army "B" Rams notched their 10th straight victory in the Junior Church League and their second straight night hitting 100 points or more Wednesday night when they humbled the AZA Juniors, 101 to 23.

With the Rams' height and scoring ability making the big difference, the Salvation Army quintet moved easily to record the lop-sided victory.

Jack Schrader was high man for the Rams with 27 points while Dick Bezemer and Frank Fiore followed with 21 and 20 respectively. Irwin Lessick topped the losers with 10.

Salvation Army (101)—Graney, f, 9-0-18; Fiore, f, 9-2-20; Schrader, c, 13-1-27; Mandel, g, 7-1-15; Bezemer, g, 10-1-21.

AZA Juniors (23)—Rose, f, 1-1-3; Heisman, f, 2-0-4; Lessick, c, 5-0-10; Monashefsky, g, 2-0-4; Reuben, g, 1-0-2.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The dramatic fashion in which Leroy Hooker set an all-time KHS scoring record Tuesday night at the auditorium was a spectator's dream and a coach's nightmare.

Not that Coach G. Warren Kias begrudged the brilliant hook shot specialist the new record. It was bound to happen sooner or later, so why not Hooker, the most spectacular of basketball marksmen in Maroon history.

But another basketball figure put it this way:

"They always want it that way." They being the fans and "that way" meaning a new record whether it's basketball, baseball, football or tiddlywinks.

Never were so many unofficial scorekeepers jammed into one hall. From the moment the game started, hundreds kept a running check on Hooker's point total.

For a long time in that excruciating fourth quarter it seemed that he wouldn't make it—not Tuesday night. This in spite of the fact that his mates were obviously feeding him and the fans cheered every move he made. Then it happened, ironically enough, on a foul shot. You could see everybody in the house take a deep breath of relaxation. Even the normally calm Clarence Rowland, who takes Kingston wins and losses in stride.

The final buzzer had just sounded when a group of irate youngsters stormed around the press table, ranting about the number of shots Hooker tried before he connected with the historic 392nd point.

There will be arguments like that. But like all comparisons they will be odious. Maroon alumni and students will argue the relative merits of Leroy Hooker and Ronnie Scheffel ad infinitum without deciding the issue.

Statistics-wise the records are misleading. Scheffel compiled his 391 points in 19 games. He hit the "30" mark only once, going for 34 against Fallsburg the night the crowd gave with a tremendous clamor when Coach Kias yanked him. His lowest point total was 12 and three times he was "held" to 13 for a 20.58 average per game.

Hooker made the "30" total popular, but once dipped to eight, another time to 11 and then 13. He racked up varying totals of 30, 32, 30, 32, 33 and near-missed four other times.

Percentage-wise Hooker doesn't rank with Scheffel and he lacks the defensive acumen of the fabulous rookie of Saratoga Springs. He has an annoying tendency to commit senseless fouls and several times has finished with four personals against him. Tuesday night it was a race between Hooker's record shattering point or five personals against him.

We'll say this about Hooker. He makes the most spectacular shots ever seen on the Broadway boards. Some of them are unbelievable. Inside the keyhole he is terrific, with an uncanny sense of timing.

Let's forget all this hot air about Scheffel vs. Hooker. They were both great kids, who contributed magnificently to KHS basketball lore. And as of this moment Hooker is the highest scorer in Maroon history, a noble accomplishment anyway you look at it.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

NFA's Dick Tyler holds the single game scoring record for the DUSO League with 54 points against Port Jervis in his last game at the Hill City school. Next fall Tyler and Ronnie Scheffel will be teammates at North Caroline State, a southern basketball citadel that needs a lift. Tyler scored 407 points for NFA during the 1949-50 season and added 54 in three sectional contests for an overall of 461. Scheffel rimmed 457 points in 19 regular season games and three sectionals. The 19th game was the result of a Kingston-Newburgh playoff. Hooker needs only 57 points to eclipse Scheffel's record for an entire season, including the sectionals. Poughkeepsie High competes in Section 1 of the sectionals. Kingston High may get another shot at NFA, if it wins its first game in the sectional tournament. Biddy Basketball figures to get started here next season.

Little Leaguers take their baseball seriously.

Russ Brown, director of the Shibe Park Knot Hole television program in Philadelphia, recalls interviewing little Tommy Skahan of the Eastern Delaware County Little League.

"Where did your team finish in the race last season?" Brown asked.

Joe DiMaggio Signs Lucrative Contract For New TV Show; Lists Toughest Foes

Harder, Lemon, Kinder, Houtteman, Trout Cited

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio looked back over his 15 years in the major leagues today and named five pitchers who haunted him more than any others.

The "Big Five" whom the retired Yankee Clipper acknowledges he's happy to be rid of are:

Mel Harder, Cleveland.
Bob Lemon, Cleveland.
Dizzy Trout, Detroit.
Art Houtteman, Detroit.
Ellis Kinder, Boston Red Sox.

"There were many others who were tough and they seemed to get tougher for me as the years went by," DiMaggio said. "But these five fellows caused me the most trouble.

"I can't explain it. They all had a lot of stuff. They just had my number, I guess."

The former centerfielder of the New York Yankees admitted some of the game's outstanding mound stars were as pleasant to face as distant cousins.

"Bob Feller was never as rough for me as he was to some of the others. The same of Hal Newhouser and Ned Garver. These fellows I could hit all right. But the others—ugh!"

DiMaggio, tan as an oak and down to his 196-pound playing weight, came to town yesterday to put his name on another lucrative television contract.

Has New TV Show

The latest one is for a series of quarter-hour shows to be known as "Joe DiMaggio's Dugout." These will be staged on NBC from 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon (EST) on Sunday's starting April 6.

Both DiMaggio and his sponsors, declining to disclose the exact contract figure, said the earnings would raise Joe's 1952 pay to more than he made as a ball player.

The Clipper, who retired last December, already is under contract to do commentary before and after Yankee games. He reportedly received $90,000 last year as a player.

Relaxed and Jovial, Joe insisted at a press conference yesterday that he's not "home-sick" for the diamond and plans no visit to the Yanks' St. Petersburg camp.

"I think the Yankees will win the pennant again," he said. "They have too many young men coming up. Cleveland and Detroit will give them the most trouble and the Red Sox—well, maybe no better than fourth. I can't see the White Sox as a contender."

As for his old centerfield spot: "Well, Gene Woodling is the best fielder. Jackie Jensen probably has a little edge on Mickey Mantle. Mantle has a lot to learn about outfielding."

Button Leads World Tourney

Button, Olympic winner in 1948 and in the recently completed games at Oslo, Norway, piled up a huge advantage in the compulsory figures yesterday.

The Englewood, N. J., star collected seven place points from each of the seven judges for six compulsory figures to draw far ahead of European champion Helmut Seibt of Austria.

Tonight's final test will be the free-skating event at which button is in a class by himself. Button clinched the Olympic championship with an unprecedented "triple loop" in which he made three complete, body revolutions in the air and landed on one skate.

A near record field of 25 will shoot for the womens' crown which Jeannette Altwegg of Great Britain abdicated. Miss Altwegg hung up her skates after winning the Olympic title.

Tenley Albright, a 16-year-old school girl from Newton Center, Mass., making her second start in a world meet, is a slight favorite to win the championship. She finished second to Miss Altwegg in the Olympics.

Others rated a good bet to win the title include, Jacqueline Du Bief, France, Sonya Klopper, Long Island City, N. Y., and Virginia Baxter of Detroit.

Siena at Home

Section 9 Ski Meet At Highmount Center

KHS Play Middies In Road Contest

Kingston High's cagers hit the road for a DUSO engagement in Middletown tonight and then wind up their regular season next Tuesday at Beacon.

Principal interest in the remaining two games will be Leroy Hooker's bid to eclipse Ronnie Scheffel's seasonal total of 457 points. Hooker set a new all-time KHS school record for a regular season with 392 points last Tuesday against Catskill.

NIT Needs One More for Quota

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Only one spot remained to be filled in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament today and that could be grabbed by any of a half-dozen teams.

This has been one of the toughest seasons on record for the NIT and its selection committee chairman, Asa Bushnell.

The committee, in fact, had to waive a rule it recently had adopted—the long standing NCAA ban against a player performing in a fourth year of varsity competition—in order to lure the University of Louisville into the fold.

Louisville's three top players—Bob Lochmueller, Dick Robison and Bob Brown—all are in their fourth year, and when university officials learned two weeks ago that they'd have to go along without them, they declined a bid with thanks.

"The reasons for this change are that the original announcement was not made sufficiently far in advance, and further, teams using eligible fourth-year men have been accepted throughout the regular season as opponents by the other colleges," Bushnell explained.

"The committee is recommending to the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association (NIT sponsor) that in future tournaments the rule against fourth year players should be applied."

Along with Louisville, New York University, Western Kentucky and LaSalle were entered in the tourney yesterday, bringing the total to 11 teams.

Now the leading contenders for the last spot are DePaul (18-7), Loyola of Chicago (17-7), St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (16-5), Texas Christian (20-3), Villanova (17-6) and Miami of Ohio (17-5). The decision may be reached today. The tourney starts a week from tomorrow with a triple-header in Madison Square Garden.

Vejar 9-5 Choice

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Chico Vejar, the collegiate clouter from Stamford, Conn., was a 9 to 5 favorite to run his latest winning streak to eight tonight at the expense of veteran Fitzie Pruden in the feature ten rounder at Madison Square Garden. The 10 p. m. bout will be broadcast and telecast nationally.

45 Schools Are Expected To Compete on Saturday

Kingston High will send its varsity team to the first annual Section Nine ski tournament Sunday at Highmount Ski Center.

Entries are expected from 45 schools in the Section Nine district and the KHS entries who captured Class B honors in the recent Lake Placid King Winter Frolics carnival rate among the favorites.

Heading the local delegation will be Capt. Will Rogers and Miss Pat Nalton, faculty adviser of the ski team.

The other members of the squad are Martha Davenport, Judy Strong, Lowell Brooks, Beverly Davenport, William Davenport, Lewis Kuntz and Lynn Brooks.

Excellent trail conditions will greet the small army of high school skiers. Latest Commerce Departments reports indicate that Highmount Center will have good conditions with two-inch powder on 20-inch old base.

Nearby Belleayre Mountain reports 25 inches of old snow, with conditions reported good.

Catskill mountain ski resorts anticipate another heavy weekend to match the record breaking influx of last weekend. The two-inch snowfall of last night created lightning fast trails.

Bear Mt. Park—No skiing; Old Silvermine, 4 packed, good.

Deadline for Entries --- Saturday, March 1

On the eve of the deadline for entries for the New York State bowling championships — Saturday, March 1 at midnight—tournament manager Addison Jones today urged team captains to file completed entry blanks and bowling fees at once.

The manager also made a plea for more singles and doubles entries, pointing out that Kingston entries are falling well below the state average in the minor events.

A compilation this morning revealed that the Kingston Bowling Association's quota of 100 five-man teams will be achieved. More than 85 blanks had been processed by Thursday night and the usual late rush is expected to send the figure beyond the 100-mark.

Schedule Secretary Joe Magnino said today it appeared likely that the Kingston tournament would hit the 1500-mark over the weekend.

Ted Williams and Ralph Kiner Top List of Major Holdouts

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Ted Williams and Ralph Kiner head a small but impressive list of major league baseball stars who have not signed their 1952 contracts.

An Associated Press survey today revealed that 29 players—17 in the American League and 12 in the National—have not come to terms.

The majority will be classified as "holdouts" if they fail to sign by Saturday, the official start of spring training.

Five National League clubs, the champion New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers, have all of their players in the fold. Only the Chicago White Sox in the American can make the same boast.

The high-salaried slugger is due to report to the Marine's May 2 and is seeking a special contract to cover the period until he returns to service.

Parnell Seeks $30,000

Infielders Billy Goodman, Johnny Pesky and pitcher Mel Parnell are the other recalcitrant Red Sox. Goodman is asking $25,000, Pesky $22,500 and Parnell $30,000.

The Pirate star reportedly is aiming for a two-year contract at $70,000 per season, an increase of $5,000 over his 1950-51 salary.

Pitcher Murry Dickson, a 20-game winner, is another Pirate asking for a $5,000 raise. Dickson drew $20,000 last year. Other balking Pirates are pitchers Mel Queen, Fred Strobel, Jim Walsh and infielder-outfielder George Metkovich.

The Philadelphia Athletics have four unsigned players but only shortstop Eddie Joost and first baseman Ferris Fain, the American League batting champion, may prove difficult to please. Infielder Billy Hitchcock and catcher Joe Tipon are the other unsigned A's.

Rizzuto Balks

Shortstop Phil Rizzuto and third baseman Bobby Brown are the lone members of the world champion New York Yankees who haven't signed.

Rizzuto is expected to agree to terms calling for an estimated $45,000 today at St. Petersburg, Fla. Brown is expecting a call any day from the army.

The Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians each have two unsigned players and the Washington Senators one.

Infielder Jerry Priddy and pitcher Hal Newhouser haven't agreed to Tiger terms. Priddy reportedly has been asked to take a $5,000 to $7,000 cut from his 1951 pay of $32,000. Newhouser claims he has signed but the club hasn't received his contract.

The two Brownies still out are infielder Bill Jennings and pitcher John Hetki. Both toiled in the minors last year and probably will sign before the deadline.

Coan Seeks Raise

Outfielder Gil Coan is Washington's only displeased athlete. Coan, who drew $14,000 last year wants more of a raise than offered.

Cleveland's abstainers are infielders Bob Avila and George Stirnweiss. Avila has delayed reporting because of Mexican passport troubles and is believed holding out for $20,000.

The Philadelphia Phillies have four unsigned players. They include three-fourths of the regular infield— shortstop Gran Hamner, third baseman Willie Jones and second baseman Connie Ryan. Relief pitcher Jim Konstanty is the other unsigned Phil. Big Jim no doubt has been asked to take a healthy cut from his 1951 stipend of $18,000.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger Manager Chuck Dressen believes that his bench will be stronger this year if outfielders George Shuba and Don Williams stick.

Said Dressen today:

Shuba's a lefthanded hitter who can hit a long ball in the pinch. Williams improved toward the end of the season, so he'll give us some reserve right-handed hitting strength."

Mickey the Switcher

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Switch-hitter Mickey Mantle has the best chance of any New York Yankee outfielder to play regularly in Manager Casey Stengel's two-platoon system.

"I'm naturally a right-handed hitter," said Mantle.. "But I'm just as comfortable hitting left-handed. Last year at Kansas City I was better hitting right-handed. With the Yankees I was better hitting left-handed."

Giant Darkhorse

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 29 (AP)—Rom Samford, the darkhorse in the battle for the second base berth on the New York Giants, has made quite an impression on Manager Leo Durocher.

"He has quick hands," Durocher said. "He smothers the ball and gets it away fast. You can't hit anything past him, either. They tell me he has something of the Stanky style in him. That's another thing I like about him."

Dave Williams and Bob Hofman are the other candidates striving for the job vacated by Ed Stanky, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Stephens in Shape

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau today was confident that one of the Boston Red Sox' 1952 problems had disappeared. On learning that Vern Stephens, handicapped by a torn thigh muscle last season had reported in top physical shape, Boudreau listed him as the team's ranking shortstop.

Now Boudreau can settle down to picking Bobby Doerr's second base successor from a group that includes Johnny Pesky, Billy Goodman and rookies Ted Lepcio and Joe Bevan.

Doby at First

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 29 (AP)—Cleveland Manager Al Lopez was tinkering with the notion today of using Larry Doby as a reserve first baseman.

Harry Simpson spelled Luke Easter at first last season, but Lopez thinks maybe he'll restrict Harry to the outfield. Doby broke into the big leagues as a first baseman and was converted to the outfield.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 29 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' training reached the intra-squad game stage today with six innings planned between a team headed by Red Schoendienst and another by third-sacker Billy Johnson. .. ..Enos Slaughter has been ordered not to run for a while because of a bad knee, but Dr. I. C. Middleman says it isn't serious. It's a knee he injured several years ago.

Line to Testify

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Another former Kentucky basketball player—James Line—was due to arrive here by plane today to testify before a grand jury investigating the "fixing" scandals. Line, an engineer with an oil company in Eureka, Kans., has denied any involvement in the scandals. Walter Hirsch and Bill Spivey, two of his former teammates, already have testified.

Schayes Returns To Nats Lineup

(By The Associated Press)

There was good news in the camp of the Syracuse Nationals today. The Eastern division leaders of the National Basketball Association gained another player—and a good one.

Not that Adolph Schayes wasn't on the team all along. But he broke his right wrist on Feb. 8 and had the Nats plenty worried. He got back into action for 28 minutes last night and tallied 14 points as the Nats whipped the Fort Wayne Pistons, 88-83.

George King scored 18 points for the Nats while Freddie Schaus was high man for the losers with 17.

Schayes' return was not the best of tidings for the Boston Celtics, who trail the Nats by two-and-one-half games. The Celtics, however, polished off the Rochester Royals, the Western division leaders, 91-72, in the only other game on the card.

Easy Ed Macauley found the range for 20 points for the Celtics. It was a close game for the first period, with the lead changing hands six times but as it progressed, the Celtics pulled away.

Rams Notch 10th, Win by 101 to 23

The Salvation Army "B" Rams notched their 10th straight victory in the Junior Church League and their second straight night hitting 100 points or more Wednesday night when they humbled the AZA Juniors, 101 to 23.

With the Rams' height and scoring ability making the big difference, the Salvation Army quintet moved easily to record the lop-sided victory.

Jack Schrader was high man for the Rams with 27 points while Dick Bezemer and Frank Fiore followed with 21 and 20 respectively. Irwin Lessick topped the losers with 10.

Salvation Army (101)—Graney, f, 9-0-18; Fiore, f, 9-2-20; Schrader, c, 13-1-27; Mandel, g, 7-1-15; Bezemer, g, 10-1-21.

AZA Juniors (23)—Rose, f, 1-1-3; Heisman, f, 2-0-4; Lessick, c, 5-0-10; Monashefsky, g, 2-0-4; Reuben, g, 1-0-2.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The dramatic fashion in which Leroy Hooker set an all-time KHS scoring record Tuesday night at the auditorium was a spectator's dream and a coach's nightmare.

Not that Coach G. Warren Kias begrudged the brilliant hook shot specialist the new record. It was bound to happen sooner or later, so why not Hooker, the most spectacular of basketball marksmen in Maroon history.

But another basketball figure put it this way:

"They always want it that way." They being the fans and "that way" meaning a new record whether it's basketball, baseball, football or tiddlywinks.

Never were so many unofficial scorekeepers jammed into one hall. From the moment the game started, hundreds kept a running check on Hooker's point total.

For a long time in that exruciating fourth quarter it seemed that he wouldn't make it—not Tuesday night. This in spite of the fact that his mates were obviously feeding him and the fans cheered every move he made. Then it happened, ironically enough, on a foul shot. You could see everybody in the house take a deep breath of relaxation. Even the normally calm Clarence Rowland, who takes Kingston wins and losses in stride.

The final buzzer had just sounded when a group of irate youngsters stormed around the press table, ranting about the number of shots Hooker tried before he connected with the historic 392nd point.

There will be arguments like that. But like all comparisons they will be odious. Maroon alumni and students will argue the relative merits of Leroy Hooker and Ronnie Scheffel ad infinitum without deciding the issue.

Statistics-wise the records are misleading. Scheffel compiled his 391 points in 19 games. He hit the "30" mark only once, going for 34 against Fallsburg the night the crowd gave with a tremendous clamor when Coach Kias yanked him. His lowest point total was 12 and three times he was "held" to 13 for a 20.58 average per game.

Hooker made the "30" total popular, but once dipped to eight, another time to 11 and then 13. He racked up varying totals of 30, 32, 30, 32, 33 and near-missed four other times.

Percentage-wise Hooker doesn't rank with Scheffel and he lacks the defensive acumen of the fabulous rookie of Saratoga Springs. He has an annoying tendency to commit senseless touls and several times has finished with four personals against him. Tuesday night it was a race between Hooker's record shattering point or five personals against him.

We'll say this about Hooker. He makes the most spectacular shots ever seen on the Broadway boards. Some of them are unbelievable. Inside the keyhole he is terrific, with an uncanny sense of timing.

Let's forget all this hot air about Scheffel vs. Hooker. They were both great kids, who contributed magnificently to KHS basketball lore. And as of this moment Hooker is the highest scorer in Maroon history, a noble accomplishment anyway you look at it.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

NFA's Dick Tyler holds the single game scoring record for the DUSO League with 54 points against Port Jervis in his last game at the Hill City school. Next fall Tyler and Ronnie Scheffel will be teammates at North Caroline State, a southern basketball citadel that needs a lift. Tyler scored 407 points for NFA during the 1949-50 season and added 54 in three sectional contests for an overall of 461. Scheffel rimmed 457 points in 19 regular season games and three sectionals. The 19th game was the result of a Kingston-Newburgh playoff. Hooker needs only 57 points to eclipse Scheffel's record for an entire season, including the sectionals. Poughkeepsie High competes in Section 1 of the sectionals. Kingston High may get another shot at NFA, if it wins its first game in the sectional tournament. Biddy Basketball figures to get started here next season.

Little Leaguers take their baseball seriously.

Russ Brown, director of the Shibe Park Knot Hole television program in Philadelphia, recalls interviewing little Tommy Skahan of the Eastern Delaware County Little League.

"Where did your team finish in the race last season?" Brown asked.

Joe DiMaggio Signs Lucrative Contract For New TV Show; Lists Toughest Foes

Harder, Lemon, Kinder, Houtteman, Trout Cited

New York, Feb. 29 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio looked back over his 15 years in the major leagues today and named five pitchers who haunted him more than any others.

The "Big Five" whom the retired Yankee Clipper acknowledges he's happy to be rid of are:

Mel Harder, Cleveland.
Bob Lemon, Cleveland.
Dizzy Trout, Detroit.
Art Houtteman, Detroit.
Ellis Kinder, Boston Red Sox.

"There were many others who were tough and they seemed to get tougher for me as the years went by," DiMaggio said. "But these five fellows caused me the most trouble.

"I can't explain it. They all had a lot of stuff. They just had my number, I guess."

The former centerfielder of the New York Yankees admitted some of the game's outstanding mound stars were as pleasant to face as distant cousins.

"Bob Feller was never as rough for me as he was to some of the others. The same of Hal Newhouser and Ned Garver. These fellows I could hit all right. But the others—ugh!"

DiMaggio, tan as an oak and down to his 196-pound playing weight, came to town yesterday to put his name on another lucrative television contract.

Has New TV Show

The latest one is for a series of quarter-hour shows to be known as "Joe DiMaggio's Dugout." These will be staged on NBC from 11:45 a. m. to 12 noon (EST) on Sunday's starting April 6.

Both DiMaggio and his sponsors, declining to disclose the exact contract figure, said the earnings would raise Joe's 1952 pay to more than he made as a ball player.

The Clipper, who retired last December, already is under contract to do commentary before and after Yankee games. He reportedly received $90,000 last year as a player.

Relaxed and Jovial, Joe insisted at a press conference yesterday that he's not "home-sick" for the diamond and plans no visit to the Yanks' St. Petersburg camp.

"I think the Yankees will win the pennant again," he said. "They have too many young men coming up. Cleveland and Detroit will give them the most trouble and the Red Sox—well, maybe no better than fourth. I can't see the White Sox as a contender."

As for his old centerfield spot: "Well, Gene Woodling is the best fielder. Jackie Jensen probably has a little edge on Mickey Mantle. Mantle has a lot to learn about outfielding."

Button Leads World Tourney

Paris, Feb. 29 (AP)—Dick Button, boasting a commanding lead, goes after his fifth straight men's world figure skating crown tonight while a new champion will be crowned in the women's division.

Button, Olympic winner in 1948 and in the recently completed games at Oslo, Norway, piled up a huge advantage in the compulsory figures yesterday.

The Englewood, N. J., star collected seven place points from each of the seven judges for six compulsory figures to draw far ahead of European champion Helmut Seibt of Austria.

Tonight's final test will be the free-skating event at which button is in a class by himself. Button clinched the Olympic championship with an unprecedented "triple loop" in which he made three complete body revolutions in the air and landed on one skate.

A near record field of 25 will shoot for the womens' crown which Jeannette Altwegg of Great Britain abdicated. Miss Altwegg hung up her skates after winning the Olympic title.

Tenley Albright, a 16-year-old school girl from Newton Center, Mass., making her second start in a world meet, is a slight favorite to win the championship. She finished second to Miss Altwegg in the Olympics.

Others rated a good bet to win the title include, Jacqueline Du Bief, France, Sonya Klopper, Long Island City, N. Y., and Virginia Baxter of Detroit.

Siena at Home

Section 9 Ski Meet At Highmount Center

KHS Play Middies In Road Contest

Kingston High's cagers hit the road for a DUSO engagement in Middletown tonight and then wind up their regular season next Tuesday at Beacon.

Principal interest in the remaining two games will be Leroy Hooker's bid to eclipse Ronnie Scheffel's seasonal total of 457 points. Hooker set a new all-time KHS school record for a regular season with 392 points last Tuesday against Catskill.

NIT Needs One More for Quota

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Only one spot remained to be filled in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament today and that could be grabbed by any of a half-dozen teams.

This has been one of the toughest seasons on record for the NIT and its selection committee chairman, Asa Bushnell.

The committee, in fact, had to waive a rule it recently had adopted—the long standing NCAA ban against a player performing in a fourth year of varsity competition—in order to lure the University of Louisville into the fold.

Louisville's three top players—Bob Lochmueller, Dick Robison and Bob Brown—all are in their fourth year, and when university officials learned two weeks ago that they'd have to go along without them, they declined a bid with thanks.

"The reasons for this change are that the original announcement was not made sufficiently far in advance, and further, teams using eligible fourth-year men have been accepted throughout the regular season as opponents by the other colleges," Bushnell explained.

"The committee is recommending to the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association (NIT sponsor) that in future tournaments the rule against fourth year players should be applied."

Along with Louisville, New York University, Western Kentucky and LaSalle were entered in the tourney yesterday, bringing the total to 11 teams.

Now the leading contenders for the last spot are DePaul (18-7), Loyola of Chicago (17-7), St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (16-5), Texas Christian (20-3), Villanova (17-6) and Miami of Ohio (17-5). The decision may be reached today. The tourney starts a week from tomorrow with a triple-header in Madison Square Garden.

Vejar 9-5 Choice

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Chico Vejar, the collegiate clouter from Stamford, Conn., was a 9 to 5 favorite to run his latest winning streak to eight tonight at the expense of veteran Fitzie Pruden in the feature ten rounder at Madison Square Garden. The 10 p. m. bout will be broadcast and telecast nationally.

45 Schools Are Expected To Compete on Saturday

Kingston High will send its varsity team to the first annual Section Nine ski tournament Sunday at Highmount Ski Center.

Entries are expected from 45 schools in the Section Nine district and the KHS entries who captured Class B honors in the recent Lake Placid King Winter Frolics carnival rate among the favorites.

Heading the local delegation will be Capt. Will Rogers and Miss Pat Nalton, faculty adviser of the ski team.

The other members of the squad are Martha Davenport, Judy Strong, Lowell Brooks, Beverly Davenport, William Davenport, Lewis Kuntz and Lynn Brooks.

Excellent trail conditions will greet the small army of high school skiers. Latest Commerce Departments reports indicate that Highmount Center will have good conditions with two-inch powder on 20-inch old base.

Nearby Belleayre Mountain reports 25 inches of old snow, with conditions reported good.

Catskill mountain ski resorts anticipate another heavy weekend to match the record breaking influx of last weekend. The two-inch snowfall of last night created lightning fast trails.

The report for area ski trials furnished the State Department of Commerce follow:

John Sweeney, 671; Jennie Spada, 516, Take Top Honors in Local Bowling Loops

John Sweeney and Jennie Spada led their respective divisions in local bowling last night, the former spilling 671, with 191, 253 and 227 in the Ferraro Major. Miss Spada reeled off 148-210-158-516 in the Central Rec Women's loop.

Ken Glass led the Jacobson Mixer with 155-136-182-473, while Craig Plough took Commercial League honors with 199-161-176-536. D. Weingarten's 462, with solos of 137, 159 and 176, set the pace in the Sisterhood.

Overshadowing the usual bumper crop of "600" triples in the Ferraro Major was the three-game sweep scored by Jones Dairy over Miron Lumber in the race for first place. With 12 games remaining the Dairymen hold a seven-game margin.

Runnerup George Robinson achieved the hat trick with 208-225-233-661 and Chris Gallo fired 258-651. Charlie Gildersleeve stacked 214-207-220-641; Johnny Ferraro 267-638; Phil Corrado 210-228-625; Joe Bosco 231-223-622; Lew Hymes 207-225-617; Cosmos Costello 212-201-611; Dick Howard 213-205-611; Tom Amato 217-605; "Hod" Spaulding 205-205-600.

Other top pin spillers were Tom Carlino 212-594; Lou Guadagnola 225-588; Bill Murray 202-587; Joe Heidcamp 202-574; Harry Smith 204-574; Ernie Bartroff 570.

Joan Korth was second best in the Central Rec Women with 491 and Frances Buren toppled 466; Belle Schwartz 444, Norma Hornbeck 440, Betty Caden 428, Joan Schultz 422, Eleanor Burberg 424, Marge DeWitt 421.

Lou Navara hit for 469 and Val Janaczek had 464 in the Jacobson Mixer. Dot Simmons, 444, and Joe Heidcamp, 439, rounded out the Big Five.

Roland Post bombed 530 and Bill Stenson shot 231-529 in the Commercial. Herm Seelbach knocked off 201-527; A. Moak and E. Brown ditto; Nick Carl 522, and Gus Bodenweber 500.

Bea Arlensky fashioned 451, Eleanor Singer 445, Miriam Posner 440, Ruth Toffel 425, Frieda Lifshin 417, J. Singer 407 and T. Lazarowitz 401 in the Sisterhood.

John Lowe Cracks 610

No-Can-Do League leader Johnny Lowe knocked off a 610 series with 224-187-199. J. Fatum took place spot with 203-582 and Charlie Turck had 569 to show.

The "500" club also included W. Ferguson 223-558; Joe Nagy 534, S. Turck 211-522; Harry Pierce 209-516; Bill Thomas 220-512; Allen Hoey 512; and Percy Slover 202-508.

Spokane — Harold Dade, 128, Los Angeles, outpointed Bobby Woods, 128½, Spokane, 10.

Ashokan Atoms Lose Eighth Game

The Ashokan Atoms are looking forward to games with the Napanoch Institution and Young's Motors of Milton, after dropping their eighth decision in eleven starts Wednesday at the Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie.

The superior manpower of the Bridge City cagers overwhelmed the Atoms, 72-44, with a big second half harvest that netted 50 points. The winners led 22-14 at the half.

Maroney led the Lincolns with 20 points. Lyons and Bud Jackson rimmed 19 and 16 respectively for the Atoms.

Burke Takes Lead In Baton Rouge Open

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 29 (AP)—Jack Burke, a quiet Texan who silences opponents with sharp-shooting iron shots, holds a one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament today.

The little Texan fired a four-under-par 68 to maintain his sizzling pace that began two weeks ago in the San Antonio Open.

Amateur Bert Weaver, a 20-year-old Louisiana State University sophomore finished second in yesterday's opening round with a two under par 69.

Committee Is Asked For Subversive Probe

The Joint Committee Against Communism in New York yesterday criticized the Legislature for what it termed "lag and laxity" in considering resolutions that would establish such a committee.

Seventy per cent of the people in the state favor speedy adoption of the resolutions, according to a statement issued by the committee coordinator, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of New York city.

The resolutions ask a $100,000 appropriation for the proposed committee. They were introduced by Senator William S. Hults of Port Washington and Assemblyman Angelo Graci of Queens, both Republicans.

CIO Makes Charges

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—The New York State CIO charges that proposals in the Legislature to restrict use of funds by unions for political purposes are "an effort to break the healthy influence of trade unions in our legislative halls." The charge was made last night by state CIO President Louis Hollander and Secretary Treasurer Harold J. Garno in telegrams to affiliated unions.

Soldier Convicted Of Duty Sleeping

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Eighth Army judge advocate's office said today a general court martial convicted Pfc. Warren McConnell of Alloway, N. J., of sleeping while guarding a battle-front position.

The office said McConnell's sentence is up for review in Washington.

A Seventh Division general court martial tried McConnell in December.

McConnell is in the Lompoc, Calif., disciplinary barracks.

(In Alloway, the soldier's father, Dorsey McConnell, said he would fight the sentence. He added that his son wrote him that he fell asleep after 72 hours of continuous duty.

("We had been awake for three days . . . building bunkers during the day and pulling guard at night," he said his son wrote. "If you have ever been awake that long you will know how we felt. Sort of numb all over. You feel as if you could drop in your tracks."

(In Washington, Attorney Myron C. Ehrlich said he had been retained by the father and would file an appeal with the U. S. Court of Military Appeals as soon as he had read the record and heard from the prisoner).

Slips Into Gear, Car Goes Itself

The car of Alice McLean, of South Kortright, was missing yesterday as reported but . . .

It got away by itself.

Police were notified at 6:59 p. m., from the Hub Delicatessen on Broadway that the McLean car had been stolen.

Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Louis Sapp, Jr., investigated and reported that it was not stolen but had "slipped into the automatic drive and ran northwest across Broadway." It struck a meter stanchion near the Chevrolet garage and knocked it down.

104th Birthday Observed

Patchogue, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—It was "Grandma Hawkins" day in this Long Island community yesterday—to celebrate the 104th birthday of Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Sr. Among the more than 100 persons on hand at Mrs. Hawkins' home were two sons, two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The elderly lady doesn't need a cane to get around, and she still does her own reading. However, she gave up sewing several months ago.

John Sweeney, 671; Jennie Spada, 516, Take Top Honors in Local Bowling Loops

John Sweeney and Jennie Spada led their respective divisions in local bowling last night, the former spilling 671, with 191, 253 and 227 in the Ferraro Major. Miss Spada reeled off 148-210-158-516 in the Central Rec Women's loop.

Ken Glass led the Jacobson Mixer with 155-136-182-473, while Craig Plough took Commercial League honors with 199-161-176-536. D. Weingarten's 462, with solos of 137, 159 and 176, set the pace in the Sisterhood.

Overshadowing the usual bumper crop of "600" triples in the Ferraro Major was the three-game sweep scored by Jones Dairy over Miron Lumber in the race for first place. With 12 games remaining the Dairymen hold a seven-game margin.

Runnerup George Robinson achieved the hat trick with 208-225-233-661 and Chris Gallo fired 258-651. Charlie Gildersleeve stacked 214-207-220-641; Johnny Ferraro 267-638; Phil Corrado 210-228-625; Joe Bosco 231-223-622; Lew Hymes 207-225-617; Cosmos Costello 212-201-611; Dick Howard 213-205-611; Tom Amato 217-605; "Hod" Spaulding 205-205-600.

Other top pin spillers were Tom Carlino 212-594; Lou Guadagnola 225-588; Bill Murray 202-587; Joe Heidcamp 202-574; Harry Smith 204-574; Ernie Bartroff 570.

Joan Korth was second best in the Central Rec Women with 491 and Frances Buren toppled 466; Belle Schwartz 444, Norma Hornbeck 440, Betty Caden 428, Joan Schultz 422, Eleanor Burberg 424, Marge DeWitt 421.

Lou Navara hit for 469 and Val Janaczek had 464 in the Jacobson Mixer. Dot Simmons, 444, and Joe Heidcamp, 439, rounded out the Big Five.

Roland Post bombed 530 and Bill Stenson shot 231-529 in the Commercial. Herm Seelbach knocked off 201-527; A. Moak and E. Brown ditto; Nick Carl 522, and Gus Bodenweber 500.

Bea Arlensky fashioned 451, Eleanor Singer 445, Miriam Posner 440, Ruth Toffel 425, Frieda Lifshin 417, J. Singer 407 and T. Lazarowitz 401 in the Sisterhood.

John Lowe Cracks 610

No-Can-Do League leader Johnny Lowe knocked off a 610 series with 224-187-199. J. Fatum took place spot with 203-582 and Charlie Turck had 569 to show.

The "500" club also included W. Ferguson 223-558; Joe Nagy 534, S. Turck 211-522; Harry Pierce 209-516; Bill Thomas 220-512; Allen Hoey 512; and Percy Slover 202-508.

Spokane — Harold Dade, 128, Los Angeles, outpointed Bobby Woods, 128½, Spokane, 10.

Ashokan Atoms Lose Eighth Game

The Ashokan Atoms are looking forward to games with the Napanoch Institution and Young's Motors of Milton, after dropping their eighth decision in eleven starts Wednesday at the Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie.

The superior manpower of the Bridge City cagers overwhelmed the Atoms, 72-44, with a big second half harvest that netted 50 points. The winners led 22-14 at the half.

Maroney led the Lincolns with 20 points. Lyons and Bud Jackson rimmed 19 and 16 respectively for the Atoms.

Burke Takes Lead In Baton Rouge Open

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 29 (AP)—Jack Burke, a quiet Texan who silences opponents with sharp-shooting iron shots, holds a one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament today.

The little Texan fired a four-under-par 68 to maintain his sizzling pace that began two weeks ago in the San Antonio Open.

Amateur Bert Weaver, a 20-year-old Louisiana State University sophomore finished second in yesterday's opening round with a two under par 69.

Committee Is Asked For Subversive Probe

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—State lawmakers have been asked to create quickly a legislative committee to probe subversive activities.

The Joint Committee Against Communism in New York yesterday criticized the Legislature for what it termed "lag and laxity" in considering resolutions that would establish such a committee.

Seventy per cent of the people in the state favor speedy adoption of the resolutions, according to a statement issued by the committee coordinator, Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of New York city.

The resolutions ask a $100,000 appropriation for the proposed committee. They were introduced by Senator William S. Hults of Port Washington and Assemblyman Angelo Graci of Queens, both Republicans.

CIO Makes Charges

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—The New York State CIO charges that proposals in the Legislature to restrict use of funds by unions for political purposes are "an effort to break the healthy influence of trade unions in our legislative halls." The charge was made last night by state CIO President Louis Hollander and Secretary Treasurer Harold J. Garno in telegrams to affiliated unions.

Soldier Convicted Of Duty Sleeping

Seoul, Korea, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Eighth Army judge advocate's office said today a general court martial convicted Pfc. Warren McConnell of Alloway, N. J., of sleeping while guarding a battle-front position.

The office said McConnell's sentence is up for review in Washington.

A Seventh Division general court martial tried McConnell in December.

McConnell was accused of sleeping Nov. 14 while posted as a look-out on the main battlefront line. His organization was Company B of the 32nd Regiment.

The office said one previous conviction was considered in the trial.

The commanding general of the Seventh Division approved the sentence.

McConnell is in the Lompoc, Calif., disciplinary barracks.

(In Alloway, the soldier's father, Dorsey McConnell, said he would fight the sentence. He added that his son wrote him that he fell asleep after 72 hours of continuous duty.

("We had been awake for three days . . . building bunkers during the day and pulling guard at night," he said his son wrote. "If you have ever been awake that long you will know how we felt. Sort of numb all over. You feel as if you could drop in your tracks."

(In Washington, Attorney Myron C. Ehrlich said he had been retained by the father and would file an appeal with the U. S. Court of Military Appeals as soon as he had read the record and heard from the prisoner).

Slips Into Gear, Car Goes Itself

The car of Alice McLean, of South Kortright, was missing yesterday as reported but . . .

It got away by itself.

Police were notified at 6:59 p. m., from the Hub Delicatessen on Broadway that the McLean car had been stolen.

Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Louis Sapp, Jr., investigated and reported that it was not stolen but had "slipped into the automatic drive and ran northwest across Broadway." It struck a meter stanchion near the Chevrolet garage and knocked it down.

104th Birthday Observed

Patchogue, N. Y., Feb. 29 (AP)—It was "Grandma Hawkins" day in this Long Island community yesterday—to celebrate the 104th birthday of Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Sr. Among the more than 100 persons on hand at Mrs. Hawkins' home were two sons, two grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The elderly lady doesn't need a cane to get around, and she still does her own reading. However, she gave up sewing several months ago.

Hoffman Holds to Theory On Lindbergh Kidnaping: Bruno Hauptmann Not Alone

Samuel G. Blackman, the writer of this dispatch, covered the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for The Associated Press. Blackman, now chief of the New York and New Jersey bureaus of the AP, asked former Attorney General David T. Wilentz and former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, if their views on the kidnaping had changed after 20 years. Wilentz maintains it was a one-man job. Hoffman, who once gave Hauptmann a reprieve, believes more than one person was involved.)

By SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 29 (AP)—Was the Lindbergh baby kidnaping solved by the conviction and execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann?

There is no evidence today—20 years after the kidnaping—on March 1, 1932—to alter the verdict that Hauptmann alone kidnaped the infant Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. and killed him.

Time has not changed the opinion of David T. Wilentz, New Jersey's chief prosecutor, who told the jury that "all the evidence leads only to Hauptmann."

Nor have the passing years changed the views of former Governor Harold G. Hoffman that Hauptmann's execution left many riddles unsolved.

Says Police Failed

Hoffman, who once gave Hauptmann a 30-day reprieve from death but refused a second one, said today:

"I believe that the crime was committed by more than one person. I believe it would have been difficult to execute that crime without the assistance of someone who was inside either the Lindbergh or the Morrow household. I believe that the police, once Hauptmann had been apprehended, and the 'Lone Wolf' pattern of prosecution was decided upon, not only failed to make, but made every effort to hinder further investigation that might have brought others to the bar of justice."

Hoffman, now director of the State Division of Employment Security made the statement when asked if his views today differed from those he once held. His intervention in the case as governor, including a secret visit to Hauptmann in the death house, stirred wide controversy.

He received hundreds of letters, both praise and criticism. To critics, he said, he sought only a complete solution of the case.

Says Testimony Changed

"There was some evidence presented, seeming to point to the guilt of Hauptmann that I am not in a position to dispute. However, I have indisputable documentary evidence that certain witnesses made substantial changes in the statements they made to the police and to the Bronx Grand Jury and the evidence that they gave upon the witness stand at Flemington; evidence designed, two years after they were first interviewed, to prove that Hauptmann was the 'Lone Wolf' murderer."

The tragic kidnap story was one of the nation's most celebrated criminal cases.

Suffering from a cold, the blond 19-months old baby, first child of the famous flier and Anne Morrow Lindbergh, was tucked in his crib in the couple's Sourland mountain home near Hopewell. A few hours later he was missing.

A crudely written note demanding $50,000 ransom was left on a windowsill. A rickety ladder lay outside. Both became telltale evidence two and one half years later.

A nationwide hunt got underway for the baby and the kidnapers—then believed more than one. Lindbergh made a contact through an intermediary, Dr. John F. Condon, better known from his initials "JFC" as "Jafsie."

Dr. Condon delivered the $50,000 ransom in a Bronx cemetery to a man he addressed as "John." Lindbergh, nearby, did not see the man but heard his voice.

Numerous ransom notes were passed before the payoff. The last one informed Lindbergh his baby was on a boat—"Boad Nellie," the kidnaper spelled it.

While Lindbergh searched for his son, the child lay dead in a shallow grave five miles from the Lindbergh home. The body was found May 12, 1932.

Trapped Through Money

In Hauptmann's garage, police found $14,600 of the ransom money.

Eight handwriting experts testified Hauptmann wrote all the ransom notes. ("So convincing is the proof that Hauptmann might just as well have signed each one.") said one expert.

One of the most convincing witnesses was Arthur J. Koehler, a wood expert, who told an absorbing tale of his search for the origin of the wood used in the kidnap ladder. He traced it from a Carolina mill to a Bronx lumberyard. One piece, he said, came from the flooring in the attic of Hauptmann's home.

Colonel Lindbergh testified the "hey dok-tor" he heard in the cemetery "was Hauptmann's voice." Dr. Condon said "John is Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

Hauptmann denied writing the ransom notes. He denied making the crude ladder ("Certainly not, I am a carpenter," he said with scorn.) He denied kidnaping the baby. He said the ransom money was left in a shoe box in his possession by the late Iridor Fisch, a business partner who died in Germany.

Hauptmann was executed in the state prison at Trenton April 3, 1936.

Says Evidence Unshaken

Wilentz, who as New Jersey attorney general prosecuted Hauptmann and is now an attorney in his home town of Perth Amboy, considers the case was closed that night.

His position today is that the evidence remains unshaken; no ransom money has since appeared; nothing has arisen to point to the guilt of any other person.

But Hoffman, in his statement, questioned alleged discrepancies in the testimony of some witnesses.

"These, and a hundred more questions, have never been answered," Hoffman said. "I may be wrong—anyone can be wrong—but I still have enough evidence in my possession to make me feel that I was entirely right in my desire to have the investigation continued before Hauptmann's life was taken.

Death Closed All

"If Hauptmann had been kept behind prison bars for a reasonable time, there would have been an opportunity to answer many of the unanswered questions, particularly those involving an accomplice or accomplices. The execution of Hauptmann forever closed these valuable approaches to what might have been a complete solution of the crime.

"In the hectic and confused days that followed the conviction there were many mistakes made. I may have made some of them, but I made them in the interest of justice, and I have never regretted the action that I took. I still maintain that the Lindbergh case has never been completely solved, and I am completely at rest with my conscience in the part that I played in this matter, even though the part has been greatly distorted and misrepresented."

Cape Cod Gets Another Snowfall

Boston, Feb. 29 (AP)—Cape Cod which has not yet dug out of the worst storm to hit the summer vacation belt in this generation got another snowfall today—but it wasn't expected to be as devastating as Wednesday's paralyzing blow.

The weather bureau said the new fall, starting about dawn would end late in the afternoon and add at least another three inches of snow to the 14 to 20 inches which crippled the area.

The district forecaster said the new snowfall may extend as far as Boston from the Cape.

Isolated 16 Hours

Wednesday's storm left drifts as high as 12 feet and isolated the Cape for 16 hours. Officials of Cape Cod towns say it may be several days before the majority of roads are even passable and before full utilities services are restored.

Some 10,000 homes were left without light and heat, all roads were blocked, scores of motorists were marooned, and only emergency telephone service was available.

Some 14 persons lost their lives in the storm throughout southern New England but none of the other areas was hit as hard as the Cape.

Food and milk trucks followed snow plows into the Cape's towns and there was expected to be no shortage.

Futterman Loses His Union Post

New York, Feb. 29 (AP)—Union official George Futterman has been fired from his post because he allegedly bribed a witness in the slaying of union organizer William Lurye.

The AFL International Jewelry Workers Union also suspended five local officers yesterday to "clean up the entire Local 222."

Futterman was arrested Wednesday and charged with bribing bookie Samuel Blumenthal to help acquit William Benedicto Macri of Lurye's slaying.

The 34-year-old Futterman, an ex-convict, pleaded innocent to the charge.

Lurye, organizer for the AFL International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, was stabbed to death in 1949 in a Manhattan garment district hallway.

Announced by Two

The wholesale jewelry union ousters were announced by union president Joseph Morris and secretary-treasurer Hyman J. Powell, with the approval of the General Excutive Board.

The local has about 4,000 membes employed in small jewelry shops throughout the city.

The suspended officers are local President Irving Horowitz, Secretary-treasurer Murray Postman; Postman's son, Sol, second vice president; Recording Secretary Harry Wasserman, and First Vice-President Ben Ladmer.

Powell said the five officers will face a union trial within two weeks.

B'way Crossing Elimination, 300th Anniversary Topics At Central Business Dinner

The Broadway crossing elimination and plans for the visit of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands on April 5 in conjunction with the 300th Anniversary of the Founding of Kingston were discussed during the brief speaking program at the annual dinner of the Central Businessmen's Association held Thursday evening at Tropical Inn, Port Ewen.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said that he was assured that the underpass would be completed by May 29.

The mayor reviewed the slow progress made in the crossing elimination project and he stated that J. S. Bixby, district engineer of the State Public Works Department at Poughkeepsie, agreed to resume work on the underpass on March 3 and rush it to completion by the end of May.

He thanked the businessmen for their cooperation and expressed the desire to be of further service to them in the matter of the elimination. However, he said, although we have engineers there to protect the city's interests we have no control of the contractors.

Al Kurdt, secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, discussed tentative plans for the tercentenary observance and especially the visit of the Queen, which will take place on Saturday afternoon, April 5 at 2 o'clock.

During the visit of Queen Juliana, the secretary explained there will be certain streets which will be cleared of all traffic. He said it would cause some inconvenience and he asked the cooperation of all.

Jones Presides

Louis Jones, president of the association, presided and welcomed the 125 members, their wives and guests.

Thomas Saccoman, the toastmaster, exhorted the members to attend the meetings of the association which are held the first Thursday of each month. He said that there are a number of important matters to be discussed and plans projected. He felt that the success of the plans in large measure depended upon the interest displayed by the members of the association.

George Dittmar, James Roe and Anthony Saccoman were presented as faithful members.

Others called upon for brief expressions were former Mayor Harry B. Walker, a charter member, and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

During the dinner, entertainment was furnished by the pupils of the Blossom School of Dancing. The dancing, acrobatic numbers and solos were very well received. Members of this group will compete in the semi-finals of the Ulster County Talent Quest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour.

The professional entertainers at Tropical Inn were enjoyed before and after the serving of dinner. John Pulverenti, the proprietor, was thanked by the association for the very delicious dinner and the entertainment program.

Several Boats Are Missing

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 29 (AP)—Several fishing boats were reported missing today and two were battered to bits in the worst blizzard to hit the northeast of Canada this winter. The two craft broke up on shoals off Nova Scotia, but their crews reached shore safely through fierce wind and snowstorms. At least four or five other small boats were unreported. The number of men aboard them was not known because the storms blocked communications. The blizzard crippled a wide area. Around Halifax schools were closed and outlying areas isolated by an 18-inch snowfall.

Cases Are Scheduled

Walter Letus, 39, of Rifton, and John Lang, 32, of 83 East Strand, who were arrested Thursday on petit larceny charges, appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and their case was set down for Monday. They were arrested following an investigation by Detective Clarence Brophy and charged with the theft of junk from a dredge near Island Dock. Bail of $100 each was continued.

Dog Teams Popular With Kiddies

This team of Alaskan and Siberian huskies attracted the attention of children and adults when it appeared on North Front street at the Everett & Treadwell Farm Supplies store Thursday afternoon. The lead dog and the two nearest the sled are Alaskan huskies. Those in the center are Siberian huskies—smaller than the others, but faster and better racing dogs, according to Frank Sears, the owner. The team is one of three in Kingston owned by Dexter Sears and his two sons, Frank and Dexter, Jr., of Lake Placid. They are touring northern states under the sponsorship of O. B. Vunck & Son, dog food manufacturers, of Voorheesville. They were scheduled to give rides to children in Forsyth Park this afternoon. They also appeared at Minasian's Market and the Empire Super Market.

Hoffman Holds to Theory On Lindbergh Kidnaping: Bruno Hauptmann Not Alone

Samuel G. Blackman, the writer of this dispatch, covered the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for The Associated Press. Blackman, now chief of the New York and New Jersey bureaus of the AP, asked former Attorney General David T. Wilentz and former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, if their views on the kidnaping had changed after 20 years. Wilentz maintains it was a one-man job. Hoffman, who once gave Hauptmann a reprieve, believes more than one person was involved.)

By SAMUEL G. BLACKMAN

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 29 (AP)—Was the Lindbergh baby kidnaping solved by the conviction and execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann?

There is no evidence today—20 years after the kidnaping—on March 1, 1932—to alter the verdict that Hauptmann alone kidnaped the infant Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. and killed him.

Time has not changed the opinion of David T. Wilentz, New Jersey's chief prosecutor, who told the jury that "all the evidence leads only to Hauptmann."

Nor have the passing years changed the views of former Governor Harold G. Hoffman that Hauptmann's execution left many riddles unsolved.

Says Police Failed

Hoffman, who once gave Hauptmann a 30-day reprieve from death but refused a second one, said today:

"I believe that the crime was committed by more than one person. I believe it would have been difficult to execute that crime without the assistance of someone who was inside either the Lindbergh or the Morrow household. I believe that the police, once Hauptmann had been apprehended, and the 'Lone Wolf' pattern of prosecution was decided upon, not only failed to make, but made every effort to hinder further investigation that might have brought others to the bar of justice."

Hoffman, now director of the State Division of Employment Security made the statement when asked if his views today differed from those he once held. His intervention in the case as governor, including a secret visit to Hauptmann in the death house, stirred wide controversy.

He received hundreds of letters, both praise and criticism. To critics, he said, he sought only a complete solution of the case.

Says Testimony Changed

"There was some evidence presented, seeming to point to the guilt of Hauptmann that I am not in a position to dispute. However, I have indisputable documentary evidence that certain witnesses made substantial changes in the statements they made to the police and to the Bronx Grand Jury and the evidence that they gave upon the witness stand at Flemington; evidence designed, two years after they were first interviewed, to prove that Hauptmann was the 'Lone Wolf' murderer."

The tragic kidnap story was one of the nation's most celebrated criminal cases.

Suffering from a cold, the blond 19-months old baby, first child of the famous flier and Anne Morrow Lindbergh, was tucked in his crib in the couple's Sourland mountain home near Hopewell. A few hours later he was missing.

A crudely written note demanding $50,000 ransom was left on a windowsill. A rickety ladder lay outside. Both became telltale evidence two and one half years later.

A nationwide hunt got underway for the baby and the kidnapers—then believed more than one. Lindbergh made a contact through an intermediary, Dr. John F. Condon, better known from his initials "JFC" as "Jafsie."

Dr. Condon delivered the $50,000 ransom in a Bronx cemetery to a man he addressed as "John." Lindbergh, nearby, did not see the man but heard his voice.

Numerous ransom notes were passed before the payoff. The last one informed Lindbergh his baby was on a boat—"Boad Nellie," the kidnaper spelled it.

While Lindbergh searched for his son, the child lay dead in a shallow grave five miles from the Lindbergh home. The body was found May 12, 1932.

Trapped Through Money

Not until Sept. 19, 1934 was Bruno Richard Hauptmann, 35-year-old Bronx carpenter, arrested. Hauptmann, a German machine gunner in the first world war, was caught passing ransom money, identified through serial numbers.

In Hauptmann's garage, police found $14,600 of the ransom money.

Eight handwriting experts testified Hauptmann wrote all the ransom notes. ("So convincing is the proof that Hauptmann might just as well have signed each one.") said one expert.

One of the most convincing witnesses was Arthur J. Koehler, a wood expert, who told an absorbing tale of his search for the origin of the wood used in the kidnap ladder. He traced it from a Carolina mill to a Bronx lumberyard. One piece, he said, came from the flooring in the attic of Hauptmann's home.

Colonel Lindbergh testified the "hey dok-tor" he heard in the cemetery "was Hauptmann's voice." Dr. Condon said "John is Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

Hauptmann denied writing the ransom notes. He denied making the crude ladder ("Certainly not, I am a carpenter," he said with scorn.) He denied kidnaping the baby. He said the ransom money was left in a shoe box in his possession by the late Iridor Fisch, a business partner who died in Germany.

Hauptmann was executed in the state prison at Trenton April 3, 1936.

Says Evidence Unshaken

Wilentz, who as New Jersey attorney general prosecuted Hauptmann and is now an attorney in his home town of Perth Amboy, considers the case was closed that night.

His position today is that the evidence remains unshaken; no ransom money has since appeared; nothing has arisen to point to the guilt of any other person.

But Hoffman, in his statement, questioned alleged discrepancies in the testimony of some witnesses.

"These, and a hundred more questions, have never been answered," Hoffman said. "I may be wrong—anyone can be wrong—but I still have enough evidence in my possession to make me feel that I was entirely right in my desire to have the investigation continued before Hauptmann's life was taken.

Death Closed All

"If Hauptmann had been kept behind prison bars for a reasonable time, there would have been an opportunity to answer many of the unanswered questions, particularly those involving an accomplice or accomplices. The execution of Hauptmann forever closed these valuable approaches to what might have been a complete solution of the crime.

"In the hectic and confused days that followed the conviction there were many mistakes made. I may have made some of them, but I made them in the interest of justice, and I have never regretted the action that I took. I still maintain that the Lindbergh case has never been completely solved, and I am completely at rest with my conscience in the part that I played in this matter, even though the part has been greatly distorted and misrepresented."

The professional entertainers at Tropical Inn were enjoyed before and after the serving of dinner. John Pulverenti, the proprietor, was thanked by the association for the very delicious dinner and the entertainment program.

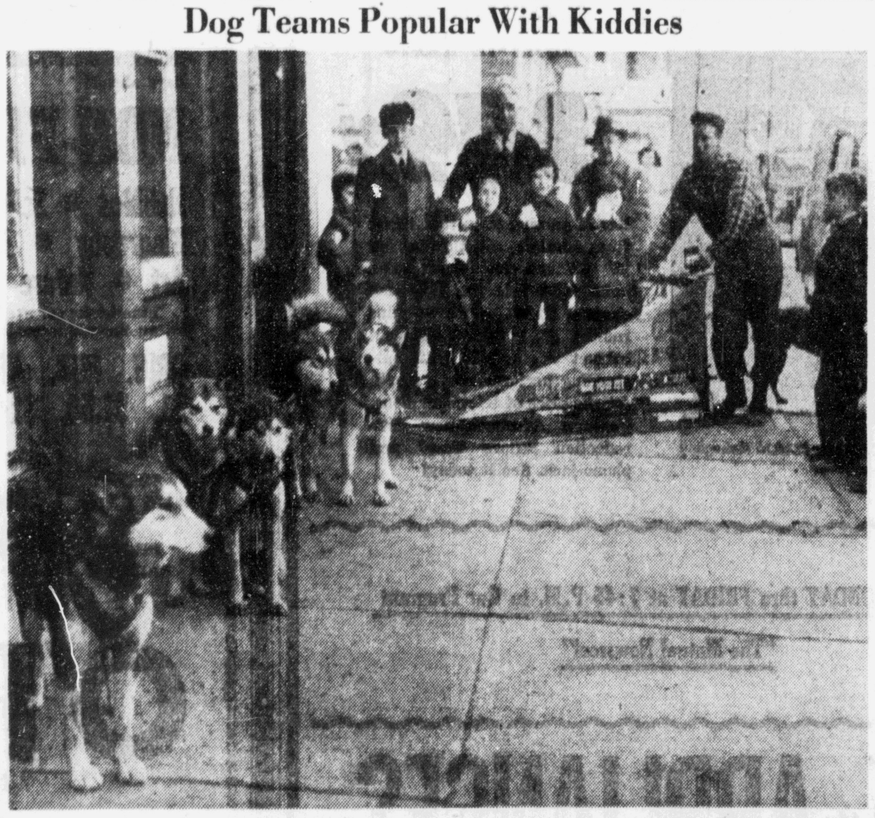
Several Boats Are Missing

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 29 (AP)—Several fishing boats were reported missing today and two were battered to bits in the worst blizzard to hit the northeast of Canada this winter. The two craft broke up on shoals off Nova Scotia, but their crews reached shore safely through fierce wind and snowstorms. At least four or five other small boats were unreported. The number of men aboard them was not known because the storms blocked communications. The blizzard crippled a wide area. Around Halifax schools were closed and outlying areas isolated by an 18-inch snowfall.

Cases Are Scheduled

Walter Letus, 39, of Rifton, and John Lang, 32, of 83 East Strand, who were arrested Thursday on petit larceny charges, appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and their case was set down for Monday. They were arrested following an investigation by Detective Clarence Brophy and charged with the theft of junk from a dredge near Island Dock. Bail of $100 each was continued.

Dog Teams Popular With Kiddies



This team of Alaskan and Siberian huskies attracted the attention of children and adults when it appeared on North Front street at the Everett & Treadwell Farm Supplies store Thursday afternoon. The lead dog and the two nearest the sled are Alaskan huskies. Those in the center are Siberian huskies—smaller than the others, but faster and better racing dogs, according to Frank Sears, the owner. The team is one of three in Kingston owned by Dexter Sears and his two sons, Frank and Dexter, Jr., of Lake Placid. They are touring northern states under the sponsorship of O. B. Vunck & Son, dog food manufacturers, of Voorheesville. They were scheduled to give rides to children in Forsyth Park this afternoon. They also appeared at Minasian's Market and the Empire Super Market.

The Weather

FRIDAY, FEB. 29, 1952

Sun rises at 6:21 a. m.; sun sets at 5:34 p. m., EST.
Weather, clear.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 30 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 40 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly cloudy today with a chance of snow flurries early this morning. High near 40. Mostly cloudy and a little colder tonight and Saturday. Low tonight in the upper 20's in city and along the coast and 20 to 25 in interior. High Saturday in the mid 30's.

Eastern New York: Partly cloudy tonight, lowest 5 to 10 in the north and 15 to 20 in south portions. Saturday mostly cloudy with chance of some light snow late Saturday. Little change in temperature.

Largest Meteorite

Although what is believed to be the largest meteorite on public display weighs 36½ tons, many have been found which weigh an ounce or less.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for probational appointment to the position of deputy collector of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at an annual salary of $4,205. The tests will be to fill positions in New York and New Jersey. Forms may be obtained from any first or second class postoffice. Applications must be on file with the executive secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Bureau of Internal Revenue, Room 1117, 90 Church street, New York, not later than March 6.

So They Mail Dime

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Mountain States and Telephone and Telegraph Company found it had overcharged the Idaho House of Representatives 10 cents for a telephone call so the company mailed a dime to C. A. Bottolfsen, chief clerk of the House. Bottolfsen forwarded it to State Auditor N. P. Nielson. Now Nielson must send Bottolfsen a receipt for the dime, make out a deposit slip (four copies) and credit it to the House account. "Personally," sighed Nielson, "I wish the phone company had kept the dime."

Takes 5,000th Dip

New London, Conn., Feb. 29 (AP)—The navy submarine Flying Fish takes her 5,000th dunking today and that, so far as the navy knows, is more times than any submarine anywhere ever has been under water. The navy only claims it as a record for United States submarines, but doesn't know of any craft that has bettered it. Dive No. 5,000 was scheduled to take place about 11 a. m. in a Long Island sound operations area near the mouth of the Thames river. The Flying Fish, built in 1941, is used as an experimental craft by the navy's underwater sound laboratory. She had a distinguished World War 2 record, sinking 15 Japanese vessels on 13 patrols.

There are 2300 lakes in the state of Nebraska.

Another Bug Altogether

Washington, Feb. 29 (AP)—Several senators were laid up with colds today. Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.), Democratic floor leader, commented: "There seems to be some kind of bug going around—other than the presidential bug."

You might follow his time-proven pattern that it is well to be prepared for rainy days — especially in the matter of a roof over your head!
You'll find it tiresome to chase around catching those leaking drops in a pail — usually they don't drop in the same place twice, which is a very aggravating situation.
Why not phone 5656 today — and have us check over your Roof, Gutters, Leaders, and other rain-keeper-outers. We'll be very happy to look over your situation and give you an estimate for repairs, new installations, or a clean bill of health! (No charge for the latter service either!)
